THE London Times and the Paris Temps agree that President Coolidge's Armistice Day speech, "makes active and permanent collaboration between Europe and the United States seem impossible."

That is most encouraging to Americans that mean to look after their own business, while Europe attends to hers.

All's well that ends well, the world court foolishness seems to be dead, and that back door of the League of Nations closed up.

CALIFORNIA'S association of editors is told "a newspaper can be run without crime news." Of course it can. Salad could be run without oil, vinegar, salt or pepper, but it would not be much of a salad.

You can't tell the news of the United States without telling about crime, from the stealing of a naval oil reserve to the use of a flying machine and bombs, by the Shelton gang of bootleggers fighting the Birger gang in Illinois.

TO TAKE the Aimee Semple McPherson story from the people of Los [illegible] would be like taking candy from a child at Christmas, and the whole country would miss the Halt-Mills case, with its jealousy, shooting, mystery, and [illegible]th. Crime is a [illegible] to thoroughly. [illegible]story, a measure [illegible] it has been of all [illegible] "Jones and [illegible] or side," is not [illegible]

"Jones leaned over, and hit off Smith's ear," is news.

THE use of moving pictures in schools might easily cut the school day to two hours.

George Eastman, of Rochester, is developing 50 educational pictures for experiment in public schools, a most useful work.

But too much stress is laid upon pictures teaching science and geography. The first thing to teach with motion pictures is HISTORY.

With a good moving picture you could teach a child in 20 minutes more about the life of Lincoln than the average high school graduate knows.

SCIENCE, geography, natural history, geology, everything will be taught with pictures. But first should come the history of men. The proper study of mankind, is man.

Show Alexander, attacking the line of Persian elephants, Socrates in battle walking barefoot through the snow, Archimedes working out his problem in the sunshine, when the soldier struck him dead, Napoleon crowning himself emperor, Peter the Great working as a ship yard mechanic, Beethoven conducting his symphony, when stone deaf by watching the bow of the first violin, Anne Boleyn losing her pretty head, Galileo on his knees forced to deny the magnificent truths that he had given to the world. History, science, and all knowledge, are in reality a series

Two Boarders Shot to Death at Breakfast.

SISTER MAY DIE

Gun Wielder Arrested Without Struggle Block Away.

BRIDGETON, N. J., Nov. 22.—Two persons were shot and killed and a third possibly fatally injured here today by Linwood Ware, 22, according to police.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. William Gandy, each 65, who boarded with Ware's parents, Mrs. Madoline Maxwell, 26, Ware's sister was the third victim. She is not expected to live. The youth used an automatic pistol.

The three were at breakfast when young Ware entered, carrying the pistol. Without a word of warning he started to shoot, and then ran from the house, police stated. He was arrested without a struggle.

DELMAR LEWIS JAIL SENTENCE

Wellsville Barber to Serve 60 Days for Non-support.

Delmar Lewis, Wellsville barber, was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today upon a charge of non-support, filed by his wife. Lewis, police said, is the father of six young children.

Frank Price, of East Liverpool, who was arrested by Special Patrolman Leslie Curran, in East End, Saturday night, charged with intoxication, was fined $50 and costs. Judge Hanley suspended the fine upon condition that Price remain sober for six months and pay the costs in the case, $5.80.

Clifford Milligan, colored laborer, was also fined $50 and costs upon a charge of intoxication brought under state statutes. He will be taken to Lisbon this afternoon.

The charge of issuing worthless checks, filed by H. F. Chambers, East End, against H. J. Freid, local automobile mechanic, was dismissed by Judge Hanley upon recommendation of Solicitor Hoover after Freid settled with Chambers ad paid the costs in the case. The check was drawn on the Midland Savings & Trust Company, on November 10.

Curious Crowd Present When Former Cabinet Officer and Multi-millionaire Oil Man Face Charges of Conspiracy to Defraud Government Out of Naval Oil Reserves.

CENTRAL FIGURES IN FAMOUS CASE FLANKED BY ARRAY OF LAWYERS

Two Years in Prison and Fines of $10,000 Face Two Nationally Known Characters if Government Can Prove Allegations Concerning $100,000 in Little Black Satchel.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—A four-year-old trial of legal fencing ended soon after 10 o'clock this morning in the small, drab courtroom of Justice Hoehling as Albert B. Fall and Edward L. Doheny, both grey-haired, both nationally known, went on trial on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government out of its naval oil reserves.

A small but curious crowd was present when the gavel rapped for order at 10:05 a. m.

Fall and Doheny, central figures in the famous case, sat close together, flanked on either side by one of the greatest array of legal talent ever gathered in a Washington court. Two tables, running half the length of the room, were necessary for the lawyers.

Two years in prison and fines of $10,000 face these two nationally known characters if the government counsel can prove that the $100,000 in cash sent to Fall in the now-famous little black satchel on November 30, 1921, influenced the District Attorney Peyton Gordon explained to the jury panel the nature of the case, and then began the laborious task of getting a jury.

At the outset, the defense showed that it intended to be very careful about possible prejudices on the part of jurors. Doheny is a Catholic and the defense does not want any Klansmen on the jury.

Air of Suspicion.

An air of intensity and suspicion prevailed in the crowded court room of Justice Hoehling at the opening of the famous trial.

District Attorney Peyton Gordon was in receipt of information concerning mysterious attempts to delve in the affairs of the men on the panel from which the jury is to be drawn. Gordon's office already has started an investigation in a number of phone calls received by wives and business associates of prospective jurors, purporting variously to be from credit houses, the court itself, and the compilers of a social registery, and inquiring into the business connections, fraternal affiliations, religions, and financial status of members of the panel. This investigation was determined upon following a conference between Gordon and Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomerene, chief government counsel.

AUTO DAMAGED IN COLLISION

Nash roadster, driven by Leroy Birbeck, bank teller, was badly damaged when struck by an automobile driven by Thomas Mills, at the corner of West Sixth street and Dresden avenue, at 7:30 o'clock last evening.

Birbeck was driving west on Sixth street when Mills, who was coming into the Diamond off Dresden avenue, crashed into the side of his machine. No one was injured.

Police were endeavoring to identify a motorist who crashed into a telephone pole in front of the Buckeye Motor company's sales room and garage, Walnut and East Sixth streets, early Sunday morning. The pole was splintered.

George Beckwith, Fined $150, Carries Case to Lisbon

Conviction of George Beckwith, West Ninth street man, charged with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquors, will be carried to the common pleas court on error, Attorney Ben L. Bennett, his counsel, announced today after Municipal Judge Hanley assessed a fine of $150.

Beckwith was arrested by Chief of Police McDermott and Captain Conley a week ago last Saturday night. A metal box, containing 15 half pint bottles of whisky was found concealed beneath a sidewalk, near Beckwith's home, police say. Beckwith, charged with ownership of the liquor, was standing near the box with a flashlight in his hand when they arrived, police claim.

Dr. D. W. MacLeod To be Speaker at Ministers' Retreat

Dr. Donald W. MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will deliver the communion sermon in connection with the retreat of ministers of the Steubenville Presbytery in the Westminster church, Steubenville, tomorrow afternoon.

The session will open at 10:30 a. m. luncheon being served at noon. Rev. Frank H. Magill, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Wellsville, will discuss "The Preacher and Stewardship," at the afternoon service.

"Early Christmas Buying" Campaign Is Planned Here

Advertising committee of the Retail Merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce will meet in the chamber's rooms in the Little building, at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning to outline plans for an "Early Christmas Buying" campaign.

The Fare Refunding association will pay fares to all out-of-town shoppers who visit here between December 1 and 24 inclusive. Placards are to be displayed in all stores, calling attention to the campaign. The street cars and press also has been enlisted in the campaign.

The advertising committee is made up of Morris Newman, William O. Bloor, H. B. Barth, Ralph Stein and W. H. Cordwin.

$670 IS REPORTED COLLECTED IN RED CROSS ROLL CALL BOOTHS

House-to-house Canvass for Mother of Mankind Will Close Here Wednesday.

Membership fees collected in booths maintained in the banks, postoffices and down town stores during the tenth annual Red Cross roll call netted $670.78, Mrs. John Bowers, chairman of the booth committee, announced today.

Booths, which were opened November 13, were closed Saturday night. One $100 membership was taken out Saturday. Several $5 and $10 memberships were issued.

The house-to-house canvass, which has been under way since the early part of last week, will close Wednesday.

Reorganization of Junior Red Cross among school children in the public and parochial schools will take place tomorrow and Wednesday. Mrs. Bowers will meet the school principals in the high school auditorium at 4 o'clock this afternoon to discuss campaign plans. All money collected from the children will be retained for local use.

ROUMANIAN KING'S CONDITION PRECARIOUS, BUCHAREST SAYS

Political Factions Maneuver to Check Efforts to Restore Prince Carol to Throne.

BUCHAREST, Nov. 22.—King Ferdinand's condition is precarious and Dr. Lescue, a French specialist, has been called in to determine whether an operation is necessary, according to the newspaper Coventful.

The Coventful states that it makes this announcement with official permission.

Meanwhile political factions are engaging in maneuvors, one of the most important of which is a movement to check the efforts to bring about the return of Prince Carol and his restoration.

TUXEDO, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Queen Marie of Roumania, through her official spokesman, today told International News Service that she had received no direct work from Bucharest regarding latest reports that King Ferdinand is in a serious condition and may have to undergo an operation.

District Attorney Peyton Gordon was in receipt of information concerning mysterious attempts to delve in the affairs of the men on the panel from which the jury is to be drawn. Gordon's office already has started an investigation in a number of phone calls received by wives and business associates of prospective jurors, purporting variously to be from credit houses, the court itself, and the compilers of a social registery, and inquiring into the business connections, fraternal affiliations, religions, and financial status of members of the panel. This investigation was determined upon following a conference between Gordon and Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomerene, chief government counsel.

THE London Times and the Paris Temps agree that President Coolidge's Armistice Day speech, "makes active and permanent collaboration between Europe and the United States seem impossible."

That is most encouraging to Americans that mean to look after their own business, while Europe attends to hers.

All's well that ends well, the world court foolishness seems to be dead, and that back door of the League of Nations closed up.

CALIFORNIA'S association of editors is told "a newspaper can be run without crime news." Of course it can. Salad could be run without oil, vinegar, salt or pepper, but it would not be much of a salad.

You can't tell the news of the United States without telling about crime, from the stealing of a naval oil reserve to the use of a flying machine and bombs, by the Shelton gang of bootleggers fighting the Birger gang in Illinois.

TO TAKE the Aimee Semple McPherson story from the people of Los Angeles would be like taking candy from a child at Christmas, and the whole country would miss the Hall-Mills case, with its jealousy, shooting, mystery, and death. Crime is a fine thing to thoroughly. story, a measure it has been of all is news. "Jones and S[illegible] or side," is not.

"Jones leaned over, and bit off Smith's ear," is news.

THE use of moving pictures in schools might easily cut the school day to two hours.

George Eastman, of Rochester, is developing 50 educational pictures for experiment in public schools, a most useful work.

But too much stress is laid upon pictures teaching science and geography. The first thing to teach with motion pictures is HISTORY.

With a good moving picture you could teach a child in 20 minutes more about the life of Lincoln than the average high school graduate knows.

SCIENCE, geography, natural history, geology, everything will be taught with pictures. But first should come the history of men. The proper study of mankind, is man.

Show Alexander, attacking the line of Persian elephants, Socrates in battle walking barefoot through the snow, Archimedes working out his problem in the sunshine, when the soldier struck him dead, Napoleon crowning himself emperor, Peter the Great working as a ship yard mechanic, Beethoven conducting his symphony, when stone deaf by watching the bow of the first violin, Anne Boleyn losing her pretty head, Galileo on his knees forced to deny the magnificent truths that he had given to the world. History, science, and all knowledge, are in reality a series

The three were at breakfast when young Ware entered, carrying the pistol. Without a word of warning he started to shoot, and then ran from the house, police stated. He was arrested without a struggle [illegible] away.

DELMAR LEWIS JAIL SENTENCE

Wellsville Barber to Serve 60 Days for Non-support.

Delmar Lewis, Wellsville barber, was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today upon a charge of non-support, filed by his wife. Lewis, police said, is the father of six young children.

Frank Price, of East Liverpool, who was arrested by Special Patrolman Leslie Curran, in East End, Saturday night, charged with intoxication, was fined $50 and costs. Judge Hanley suspended the fine upon condition that Price remain sober for six months and pay the costs in the case, $5.80.

Clifford Milligan, colored laborer, was also fined $50 and costs upon a charge of intoxication brought under state statutes. He will be taken to Lisbon this afternoon.

The charge of issuing worthless checks, filed by H. F. Chambers, East End, against H. J. Freid, local automobile mechanic, was dismissed by Judge Hanley upon recommendation of Solicitor Hoover after Freid settled with Chambers ad paid the costs in the case. The check was drawn on the Midland Savings & Trust Company, on November 10.

JOHN I. HODSON, 67, DRUGGIST FOR 45 YEARS, DIES IN HOME

Business Man Succumbs After Attack of Heart Disease.

ILL FIVE DAYS

Funeral Services Will be Held Wednesday Afternoon.

John I. Hodson, 67, for 45 years a druggist here, died in his home, 511 Walnut street, at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon after a five days' illness of heart disease.

He became ill at his place of business Tuesday and on Sunday morning appeared to be considerably improved. His condition took a turn for the worse about an hour before his death.

Mr. Hodson was born in Steubenville in 1859, a son of Joseph and Elizabeth Hodson, and came to East Liverpool with his family when he was a child. He first opened a drug store on Third street and Broadway.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian church and Riddle lodge, No. 315, Free and Accepted Masons, and East Liverpool chapter No. 100, Royal Arch Masons.

He is survived by a niece, Mrs. Clara M. Holloway, wife of Jesse D. Holloway, and their son Joseph, of this city, and a nephew, Joseph F. Chapman, of Los Angeles, Cal. His wife died about 10 years ago.

Funeral services will be conducted in the home at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in charge of Rev. Donald W. MacLeod, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Friends may view the body Tuesday evening.

George Beckwith, Fined $150, Carries Case to Lisbon

Conviction of George Beckwith, West Ninth street man, charged with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquors, will be carried to the common pleas court on error, Attorney Ben L. Bennett, his counsel, announced today after Municipal Judge Hanley assessed a fine of $150.

Beckwith was arrested by Chief of Police McDermott and Captain Conley a week ago last Saturday night. A metal box, containing 15 half pint bottles of whisky was found concealed beneath a sidewalk, near Beckwith's home, police say. Beckwith, charged with ownership of the liquor, was standing near the box with a flashlight in his hand when they arrived, police claim.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD TRAIL OF LEGAL FENCING ENDS IN SMALL COURTROOM

CENTRAL FIGURES IN FAMOUS CASE FLANKED BY ARRAY OF LAWYERS

Two Years in Prison and Fines of $10,000 Face Two Nationally Known Characters if Government Can Prove Allegations Concerning $100,000 in Little Black Satchel.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—A four-year-old trial of legal fencing ended soon after 10 o'clock this morning in the small, drab courtroom of Justice Hoehling as Albert B. Fall and Edward L. Doheny, both grey-haired, both nationally known, went on trial on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government out of its naval oil reserves.

A small but curious crowd was present when the gavel rapped for order at 10:05 a. m.

Fall and Doheny, central figures in the famous case, sat close together, flanked on either side by one of the greatest array of legal talent ever gathered in a Washington court. Two tables, running half the length of the room, were necessary for the lawyers.

Two years in prison and fines of $10,000 face these two nationally known characters if the government counsel can prove that the $100,000 in cash sent to Fall in the now-famous little black satchel on November 80, 1921, influenced the

No Dramatics at Opening.

There were no flourishes or dramatics attending the opening of the case. District Attorney Peyton Gordon explained to the jury panel the nature of the case, and then began the laborious task of getting a jury.

At the outset, the defense showed that it intended to be very careful about possible prejudices on the part of jurors. Doheny is a Catholic and the defense does not want any Klansmen on the jury.

Air of Suspicion.

An air of intensity and suspicion prevailed in the crowded court room of Justice Hoehling at the opening of the famous trial.

District Attorney Peyton Gordon was in receipt of information concerning mysterious attempts to delve in the affairs of the men on the panel from which the jury is to be drawn. Gordon's office already has started an investigation in a number of phone calls received by wives and business associates of prospective jurors, purporting variously to be from credit houses, the court itself, and the compilers of a social registery, and inquiring into the business connections, fraternal affiliations, religions, and financial status of members of the panel. This investigation was determined upon following a conference between Gordon and Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomerene, chief government counsel.

NEW ADDITION TO STEEL MILL

Weirton Company Begins Construction of Wing to Office.

Excavation has begun for a new 60x120 wing to the present Weirton Steel company offices. The new addition will contain 21 private offices and two large department rooms, not including two private dining rooms, one general dining room and a kitchen. The estimated cost of the wing, when completed, is approximately $150,000. It will be ready for occupancy by the first of April. R. R. Kitchen and company, of Wheeling, are general contractors.

When completed, the wing will, together with the old building, take care of 175 to 200 employes. It will be along the same construction as the present offices, with the exception of the basement, which will contain the kitchen; two private dining rooms, one general dining room, all of which will accommodate more than 250 guests.

The first floor of the new wing will include a suite of offices to be occupied by J. C. Williams, vice president of the company. Another suite will be occupied by C. H. Hunt, chief engineer, and his department. Offices will also be planned on the first floor for H. M. McIntosh, special agent. The balance of the first floor will be occupied by the accounting department.

The second floor of the new wing will include office suites of E. T. Weir, president; D. M. Weir, vice president, and F. A. Hanlin, assistant to the president.

The stenographic department will have its office on the same floor. Adjoining the department will be a rest room for the young women. The remainder of the floor will be taken up with order department offices, which George Mendel is manager.

The entire first floor of the old building will be turned over to the accounting and purchasing departments, of which R. J. Hanna is treasurer, and F. M. Hesse, assistant treasurer, and W. A. Murphy, purchasing agent.

The sales and order department offices will be on the second floor of the same building. On this floor will be the offices of H. D. Westfall, vice president, and J. J. Watson, general manager; H. C. Smith, assistant general sales manager, and offices of the traffic department, A. S. Earp, traffic manager.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking accord

REVIVAL MEETS COME TO CLOSE

Final Services Conducted Last Night in Two Local Churches.

Union evangelistic meetings which have been in progress for three weeks under the auspices of the First Presbyterian, United Presbyterian, First Methodist Episcopal and Christian churches closed last night.

Services were held in the Christian and United Presbyterian churches, the crowd at the former being so large it was necessary to hold a meeting in the latter church. Rev. W. T. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, delivered the sermon in the Christian church, while the sermon in the United Presbyterian church was given by Rev. R. C. Ehrheart, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Singing in the Christian church was directed by Prof. Ralph E. Mitchell.

The meetings were largely attended throughout and a number of accessions made to the co operating churches.

MURDER MYSTERY BAFFLES POLICE

Officers working on the mysterious murder of Dr. Diego Delpino, lured from his home and shot to death in his automobile in Brooke county early Thursday, admitted they were without any definite clue to the slayer today.

Sheriff Robert M. Lowe declared that he was convinced Dr. Delphino was murdered "either as the result of some trouble over his first wife," or because of his activity as an organizer for the Sons of Garabaldi, an Italian facist organization.

Two youths who saw the man who lured Dr. Delpino from his home under the pretext of seeking medical attention, leap from the car and flee after the doctor had been shot as the machine traveled along the highway, have been interviewed by the sheriff, but he declined to reveal their identity. These witnesses, the sheriff said, furnished a good description of the suspected slayer, but said he was a stranger in this community.

Large Attendance at Y.M.C.A. Class Sessions During Fall

Wrestling, Life-saving and Swimming Schools Are Open to All Senior Members.

Large attendance has marked meetings of the Y. M. C. A. physical classes since the season opened this fall.

Wrestling classes, under the direction of L. M. Thomas, and life-saving and swimming under the leadership of W. Edward Kaiser, Jr., Red Cross examiner, are open to all Senior members without extra charge. Tournaments for members of the boys' departments will open November 27. A basketball league for men members will be organized. Three teams have already signified their willingness to join the circuit.

A special golf practicing outfit has been installed for members of the business men's club.

The bathing pool, which is kept at an 80-degree heat during the winter season, is popular with both men and boys. An aquatic club to stimulate interest in swimming and life-saving is to be organized. Facilities for members who wish to play handball or exercise individually are provided. A special room equipped with punching bag, chest weights and a rowing machine is available at all times.

STRAND OFFERS MUSICAL SHOW

Surrounding Rufus in his battery of musical successes are David Downard, Clyde Hodges, Sam Lupo, Scotty McKay, Carl Savage, Jack Matthews Viola Bapport, Myrtle Lee, Edith Black, and a marvelous singing and dancing chorus composed of Gladys Franz, Jo King, Amy Lee, Grace Dolweed, Nita Lamote, Mildred Hodges, Virginia Armstrong and Margaret Clark.

Among the musical comedy and vaudeville specialists to be seen with this company are Carl Savage, offering a piano specialty billed as "Chasing the Ivories;" Sam Lupo, basso and cornet specialist; Myrtle Lee and David Howard, in modern dance rhythms; Pat Priort, the comedienne in "Fun "Famous California-ocian," and the quartette recently of two-a-day Vaudeville, said to be genuine show stoppers at every performance.

Individually these gentlemen are soloists of excellence, while collectively, they present a sense of rhythm and close harmony that can only be the accomplishment of finished entertainers.

ELECTORS DEFEAT TWO PROPOSALS

The proposed property classification amendment to the state constitution was defeated by a majority of 49,500 votes and the proposed budget amendment by 13,725 votes, it appeared today from a complete tabulation which included the official returns from all counties that had reported to the secretary of state to date and unofficial but complete figures from the other counties.

The classification amendment, designed to limit the levy on money, notes and like property, received 110,464 votes in its favor and 159,964 against it. The other proposal, which would have given the governor the sole budget making power for the biennial appropriation bill had 123,222 favorable votes and 136,947 against it.

A New Thanksgiving Frock For Miss 2-to-14.

Every small Miss would like to have a new frock for Thanksgiving. She will find shopping here delightful and why wouldn't she when such adorable fashions have been selected for her approval?

Here are all the smartly simple frocks that look so well on young girls and we are certain whatever she has on her mind it is to be found here.

Frocks for every occasion. Simple, it is true, but reflecting just enough of the grown-up mode to be appealing to youth.

Sizes 2 to 6.

They will look so sweet in these new Fall Frocks. There is such a variety of pretty styles that mothers will have no trouble choosing one to suit each little girl.

These are the types of frocks that well-dressed girls are wearing for school or parties. Simple, but very, very smart.

Fashioned of the new Cud-l-doon fabric, very similar to Balbriggan; Jersey and velveteen.

All have bloomers, some of sateen with bands of material to match frocks—others have bloomers of same material.

In rose, red, greens, blues, tan, copen, henna and other popular Fall shades.

Novelty pockets, collars and cuffs of contrasting color, silk or wool embroidery, velvet applique and other trimming features make them unusually chic.

Priced from $2.05 to $6.95.

For Miss-6-to-14

It's time to re-furbish your daughter's wardrobe. She has probably grown out of her last winter things, anyway. And with cooler weather here she will need new frocks for school and dress-up. Frocks that will look smart and still give service. We have an exceptionally complete stock of girls' Fall frocks. Your pocketbook, too, has been considered.

Youthful, stylish frocks for Miss-6-to-14. Developed of jersey, velveteens, ool crepe, serge, wool plaids, checks and novelty mixtures and cud-l-doon.

In bright red, henna, tan, navy and lighter blues, greens, darker red and other popular shades in combination. One and two piece models: Contrasting collars and cuffs, novel buttons, pockets, etc., and embroidered motifs form attractive trimmings. Priced from $5.75 to $9.75.

My three favorite cup cake recipes

I am sure you will find these cup cakes a dainty treat for Sunday supper desserts or when a few good friends drop in for luncheon or tea.

I make them with Crisco, the pure, snowy-white, vegetable shortening, and hardly anyone who eats them can tell they are made without expensive butter.

Winifred S. Carter

Cup Cakes

½ cup Crisco
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1¾ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream Crisco and sugar. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture. Add vanilla and beat thoroughly. Pour into greased muffin or cup cake pans and bake in quick oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes.

This recipe makes 15 to 20 cakes.

Filled Cup Cakes

Follow recipe for Cup Cakes. When cool split in halves crosswise and remove portion of the cake. Fill center with stiffly whipped cream, flavored and sweetened. Put halves together and ice all over with Creamy Chocolate Frosting.

Filled Chocolate Cakes

⅓ cup Crisco
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
⅔ cup milk
3 squares unsweetened chocolate
1½ cups flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Cream Crisco and sugar together. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Cook the milk and chocolate, cut in pieces, over a slow fire, stirring until thick. Cool. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with the chocolate to the first mixture. Add vanilla and beat thoroughly.

Bake in small, greased cup cake pans in a quick oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. While hot remove a square from the top of each cake and substitute a marshmallow in place of the cake removed. Ice with Boiled Frosting.

Creamy Chocolate Frosting

1½ cups milk
4 squares unsweetened chocolate
1½ cups powdered sugar
Few grains salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cook milk with chocolate, cut in pieces, over a slow fire, stirring until thick and smooth. Add sugar and cook again until very thick, stirring constantly. Cool and add vanilla and salt.

Boiled Frosting

1¾ cups sugar
½ cup water
2 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cook sugar and water together, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Boil without stirring until the syrup forms a soft ball when tested in cold water (238 degrees F.) Pour over the stiffly beaten egg whites and beat constantly until the mixture holds its shape. When cool add vanilla.

Final Services Conducted Last Night in Two Local Churches.

Union evangelistic meetings which have been in progress for three weeks under the auspices of the First Presbyterian, United Presbyterian, First Methodist Episcopal and Christian churches closed last night.

Services were held in the Christian and United Presbyterian churches, the crowd at the former being so large it was necessary to hold a meeting in the latter church. Rev. W. T. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, delivered the sermon in the Christian church, while the sermon in the United Presbyterian church was given by Rev. R. C. Ehrheart, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Singing in the Christian church was directed by Prof. Ralph E. Mitchell.

The meetings were largely attended throughout and a number of accessions made to the co operating churches.

MURDER MYSTERY BAFFLES POLICE

Officers working on the mysterious murder of Dr. Diego Delpino, lured from his home and shot to death in his automobile in Brooke county early Thursday, admitted they were without any definite clue to the slayer today.

Sheriff Robert M. Lowe declared that he was convinced Dr. Delpino was murdered "either as the result of some trouble over his first wife," or because of his activity as an organizer for the Sons of Garabaldi, an Italian facist organization.

Two youths who saw the man who lured Dr. Delpino from his home under the pretext of seeking medical attention, leap from the car and flee after the doctor had been shot as the machine traveled along the highway, have been interviewed by the sheriff, but he declined to reveal their identity. These witnesses, the sheriff said, furnished a good description of the suspected slayer, but said he was a stranger in this community.

Large Attendance at Y.M.C.A. Class Sessions During Fall

Wrestling, Life-saving and Swimming Schools Are Open to All Senior Members.

Large attendance has marked meetings of the Y. M. C. A. physical classes since the season opened this fall.

Wrestling classes, under the direction of L. M. Thomas, and life-saving and swimming under the leadership of W. Edward Kaiser, Jr., Red Cross examiner, are open to all Senior members without extra charge. Tournaments for members of the boys' departments will open November 27. A basketball league for men members will be organized. Three teams have already signified their willingness to join the circuit.

A special golf practicing outfit has been installed for members of the business men's club.

The bathing pool, which is kept at an 80-degree heat during the winter season, is popular with both men and boys. An aquatic club to stimulate interest in swimming and life-saving is to be organized. Facilities for members who wish to play handball or exercise individually are provided. A special room equipped with punching bag, chest weights and a rowing machine is available at all times.

STRAND OFFERS MUSICAL SHOW

Surrounding Rufus in his battery of musical successes are David Downard, Clyde Hodges, Sam Lupo, Scotty McKay, Carl Savage, Jack Matthews Viola Bapport, Myrtle Lee, Edith Black, and a marvelous singing and dancing chorus composed of Gladys Franz, Jo King, Amy Lee, Grace Dolweed, Nita Lamote, Mildred Hodges, Virginia Armstrong and Margaret Clark.

Among the musical comedy and vaudeville specialists to be seen with this company are Carl Savage, offering a piano specialty billed as "Chasing the Ivories;" Sam Lupo, basso and cornet specialist; Myrtle Lee and David Howard, in modern dance rhythms; Evi Tivort, the comedienne in "Fun "Famous California-ism," and the quartette recently of two-a-day Vaudeville, said to be genuine show stoppers at every performance.

Individually these gentlemen are soloists of excellence, while collectively, they present a sense of rhythm and close harmony that can only be the accomplishment of finished entertainers.

ELECTORS DEFEAT TWO PROPOSALS

The proposed property classification amendment to the state constitution was defeated by a majority of 49,500 votes and the proposed budget amendment by 13,725 votes, it appeared today from a complete tabulation which included the official returns from all counties that had reported to the secretary of state to date and unofficial but complete figures from the other counties.

The classification amendment, designed to limit the levy on money, notes and like property, received 110,464 votes in its favor and 159,964 against it. The other proposal, which would have given the governor the sole budget making power for the biennial appropriation bill had 123,222 favorable votes and 136,947 against it.

A special golf practicing outfit has been installed for members of the business men's club.

The bathing pool, which is kept at an 80-degree heat during the winter season, is popular with both men and boys. An aquatic club to stimulate interest in swimming and life-saving is to be organized. Facilities for members who wish to play handball or exercise individually are provided. A special room equipped with punching bag, chest weights and a rowing machine is available at all times.

STRAND OFFERS MUSICAL SHOW

Surrounding Rufus in his battery of musical successes are David Downard, Clyde Hodges, Sam Luno, Scotty McKay, Carl Savage, Jack Matthews Viola Bapport, Myrtle Lee, Edith Black, and a marvelous singing and dancing chorus composed of Gladys Franz, Jo King, Amy Lee, Grace Dolweed, Nita Lamote, Mildred Hodges, Virginia Armstrong and Margaret Clark.

Among the musical comedy and vaudeville specialists to be seen with this company are Carl Savage, offering a piano specialty billed as "Chasing the Ivories;" Sam Luno, basso and cornet specialist; Myrtle Lee and David Howard, in modern dance rhythms; Ann Hoort, the comedienne in "Fun "Famous California-ism," and the quartette recently of two-a-day Vaudeville, said to be genuine show stoppers at every performance.

Individually these gentlemen are soloists of excellence, while collectively, they present a sense of rhythm and close harmony that can only be the accomplishment of finished entertainers.

ELECTORS DEFEAT TWO PROPOSALS

The proposed property classification amendment to the state constitution was defeated by a majority of 49,500 votes and the proposed budget amendment by 13,725 votes, it appeared today from a complete tabulation which included the official returns from all counties that had reported to the secretary of state to date and unofficial but complete figures from the other counties.

The classification amendment, designed to limit the levy on money, notes and like property, received 110,464 votes in its favor and 159,964 against it. The other proposal, which would have given the governor the sole budget making power for the biennial appropriation bill had 123,222 favorable votes and 136,947 against it.

Jordan-Mountjoy Wedding.

Miss Carrie Jordan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jordan, residing back of Chester, and Clarence Mountjoy, Virginia avenue, were married Saturday afternoon in the parsonage of the First Christian church, Rev. A. E. Sims, officiating.

They will reside in Chester.

American Legion Meeting.

Meeting of the Chester American Legion post will be held at 7:30 this evening in the First National bank building, Third street and Carolina avenue. All former service men are requested to attend.

BAYER ASPIRIN PROVED SAFE

Take without Fear as Told in "Bayer" Package

BAYER

Does not affect the Heart

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians over twenty-five years for

Colds	Headache
Neuritis	Lumbago
Toothache	Rheumatism
Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

Each unbroken "Bayer" package contains proven directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100.

Women Use

Then dispose of this new hygienic help easily as tissue—no laundry

WOMEN by the millions are discarding the old-time "sanitary way."

A way that offers protection unknown before. A way, too, that solves the old embarrassment of disposal.

It is called "KOTEX." Eight in 10 better-class women now employ it.

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

It's five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads!

You dine, dance, motor for hours in sheerest frocks without a second's doubt or fear.

It deodorizes, too. And thus ends ALL danger of offending.

You ask for it at any drug or department store, without hesitancy, simply by saying "KOTEX."

Do as millions are doing. End old, insecure ways. Enjoy life every day. Package of twelve costs only a few cents.

KOTEX

No laundry—discard like tissue

A New Thanksgiving Frock For Miss 2-to-14.

Every small Miss would like to have a new frock for Thanksgiving. She will find shopping here delightful and why wouldn't she when such adorable fashions have been selected for her approval?

Here are all the smartly simple frocks that look so well on young girls and we are certain whatever she has on her mind it is to be found here.

Frocks for every occasion. Simple, it is true, but reflecting just enough of the grown-up mode to be appealing to youth.

Sizes 2 to 6.

They will look so sweet in these new Fall Frocks. There is such a variety of pretty styles that mothers will have no trouble choosing one to suit each little girl.

These are the types of frocks that well-dressed girls are wearing for school or parties. Simple, but very, very smart.

Fashioned of the new Cud-l-doon fabric, very similar to Balbriggan; Jersey and velveteen.

All have bloomers, some of sateen with bands of material to match frocks—others have bloomers of same material.

In rose, red, greens, blues, tan, copen, henna and other popular Fall shades.

Novelty pockets, collars and cuffs of contrasting color, silk or wool embroidery, velvet applique and other trimming features make them unusually chic.

Priced from $2.95 to $6.95.

For Miss-6-to-14

It's time to re-furbish your daughter's wardrobe. She has probably grown out of her last winter things, anyway. And with cooler weather here she will need new frocks for school and dress-up. Frocks that will look smart and still give service. We have an exceptionally complete stock of girls' Fall frocks. Your pocketbook, too, has been considered.

Youthful, stylish frocks for Miss-6-to-14. Developed of jersey, velveteens, ool crepe, serge, wool plaids, checks and novelty mixtures and cud-l-doon.

In bright red, henna, tan, navy and lighter blues, greens, darker red and other popular shades in combination. One and two piece models: Contrasting collars and cuffs, novel buttons, pockets, etc., and embroidered motifs form attractive trimmings. Priced from $5.75 to $9.75.

The new combination frocks—velvet jackets and plaid skirts. Attractive color combinations. Priced at $13.50 and $14.50.

My three favorite cup cake recipes

I am sure you will find these cup cakes a dainty treat for Sunday supper desserts or when a few good friends drop in for luncheon or tea.

I make them with Crisco, the pure, snowy-white, vegetable shortening, and hardly anyone who eats them can tell they are made without expensive butter.

Winifred S. Carter

Cup Cakes

½ cup Crisco
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1¾ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream Crisco and sugar. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture. Add vanilla and beat thoroughly. Pour into greased muffin or cup cake pans and bake in quick oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes.

This recipe makes 15 to 20 cakes.

Filled Cup Cakes

Follow recipe for Cup Cakes. When cool split in halves crosswise and remove portion of the cake. Fill center with stiffly whipped cream, flavored and sweetened. Put halves together and ice all over with Creamy Chocolate Frosting.

Creamy Chocolate Frosting

1½ cups milk
4 squares unsweetened chocolate
1½ cups powdered sugar
Few grains salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cook milk with chocolate, cut in pieces, over a slow fire, stirring until thick and smooth. Add sugar and cook again until very thick, stirring constantly. Cool and add vanilla and salt.

Filled Chocolate Cakes

⅓ cup Crisco
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
⅔ cup milk
3 squares unsweetened chocolate
1½ cups flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Cream Crisco and sugar together. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Cook the milk and chocolate, cut in pieces, over a slow fire, stirring until thick. Cool. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with the chocolate to the first mixture. Add vanilla and beat thoroughly.

Bake in small, greased cup cake pans in a quick oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. While hot remove a square from the top of each cake and substitute a marshmallow in place of the cake removed. Ice with Boiled Frosting.

Boiled Frosting

1¾ cups sugar
½ cup water
2 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cook sugar and water together, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Boil without stirring until the syrup forms a soft ball when tested in cold water (238 degrees F.) Pour over the stiffly beaten egg whites and beat constantly until the mixture holds its shape. When cool add vanilla.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

"Purges" and "Physics" Bad for Old Folks

While Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, knew that constipation was the curse of advancing age, he did not believe that a "purge" or "physic" every little while was necessary.

To him, it seemed cruel that so many constipated old people had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to "regulate' the bowels of old folks. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but each dose helps to strengthen the bowel muscles, shortly establishing natural "regularity." It never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

If past fifty, buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

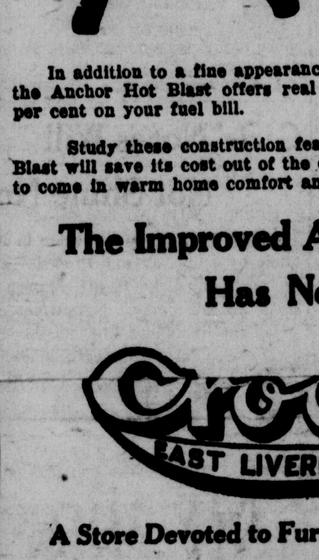
Warm Comfort In Every Room With the Improved Anchor Hot Blast Heater



Wherever heating stoves are used the Anchor Hot Blast proves its superiority—proves that in downright efficiency, in convenience, in actual economy, it is without an equal.

This superiority is not an accident, but is the result of many years of practical and scientific heating stove manufacture and practical tests.

The features of construction the Anchor Hot Blast Heater meet every requirement of heating-stove efficiency and long-time service. Highest quality materials, expert workmanship and scientific design combine to give a heating result unequalled in this type of heater.

The Anchor Hot Blast will burn any fuel—hard coal, soft coal, lignite wood or coke, giving a uniform heat under perfect control, and slow economical combustion. Because ofthe hot-blast feature, the gases from soft coal are completely burned, making a ton of soft coal equal to a tonor more of expensive hard coal.

Careful attention has been applied to every detail of construction. And it is mounted absolutely airtight and remains airtight, because these details have been perfected and made practical.

In addition to a fine appearance that will ast the life of the stove, the Anchor Hot Blast offers real home comfort and a saving of 25 per cent on your fuel bill.

Study these construction features. Know that your Anchor Hot Blast will save its cost out of the coal bin and pay dividends for years to come in warm home comfort and satisfaction.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1926.

Inter-City Football Classic

Aside from the turkey dinner, the most important event on Thanksgiving Day program in the East Liverpool district is the inter-city football classic between the East Liverpool and Wellsville High school teams.

Marking the first battle since 1922, the two elevens will line-up at Patterson Field at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, with hundreds of supporters on the side lines to encourage them with their cheers.

Not excepting the Chester-East Liverpool game, in which interest was at a high pitch, no athletic competition compares with the inter-city gridiron contest from an attendance standpoint. And judging from the partisanship already apparent, a record crowd will be on hand when the refree blows his whistle.

Each city is proud of its high school football team. East Liverpool has made a splendid record, losing only one game to a county eleven, this defeat occurring at the hands of Salem, recognized as the 1926 scholastic champion. Wellsville, which has shown it stamina against neighboring schools also lost to Salem, but today is nearer top form than at any other time since the fall sport season opened.

The holiday game should be a battle well worth the admission price.

Failure of British Coal Strike

The great British coal strike is over. The miners are going back to work at less pay and longer hours. They have lost the strike after seven months' fighting.

Why did those miners lose? It is not a complete answer to say, as many are saying, "because their employers had greater resources and influence." The government, too, failed to stand by. Why were the mine owners able to win, but that does not tell all the story. Why did the government virtually side with them instead of with the miners?

Evidenetly because the union workmen in the mines were not supported by the union workmen in other industries.

The labor bond broke. Class consciousness and class interest failed to stand the strain, because the workers in transportation, steel and other industries found that the coal strike crippled their own industries and threw them out of work, so that they could not help the miners if they wanted to.

So the miners' strike failed for much the same reason that the general strike called in their behalf failed. It meant general suicide for British industry. It meant general starvation for British workmen, who are the largest social class and nearest to the edge of want.

Both capital and labor should be zealous in seeking ways to avoid such disastrous struggles.

College Smoking

The general belief that all young people in college smoke has been rudely jolted by the report from one of the big state universities that scarcely 20 per cent of freshmen use tobacco.

Many of those learn later on, to be sure. By the time the senior class is reached, perhaps three-fourths of the members smoke. Another university says that about 90 per cent of the seniors use tobacco in some form, and 40 per cent of the first year men. Even so, there is a surprising proportion of students who, from principle or preference, are not addicted.

One college, which permits smoking by either sex, announces as a result of a two years' survey that "smoking is harmful to a student."

Another college rather sensibly concludes that there is about the same proportion of smoking in colleges as there is elsewhere.

In college or out of college, perhaps there would be rather general agreement that tobacco harms the body.

Says a philosophic smoker: "Heaven knows what would break loose in this present-day work if people didn't soothe their nerves with tobacco. It's hard enough to be calm and friendly and tolerant even under the influence of nicotine."

Smaller French Army

The French army, through bills introduced in parliament by the Poincare ministry, is to be reduced from 650,000 men to 400,000.

This does not necessarily mean a reduction of French military power. The smaller number of men in the service at one time is to be compensated by their being fed through the mill faster, so that there will be just about as many trained men as usual always available in the country. This is to be accomplished by shortening the period of military service from 18 months to 12 months. Nevertheless the change of policy is reassuring to other nations and should be beneficial to France.

With a standing army so greatly lessened, no matter how many men are on the army reserve list, France can no longer be so convincingly accused of militarism. Other nations will have less fear of her. Rival powers will feel justified in further arm cuts. It will save money for Europe as a whole, and foster better feeling.

France herself, although the year of intensive training is expected to cost no less than the former year and a half, is sure to benefit by setting her whole able-bodied man-power free for an extra half-year of profitable occupation.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Lay abed heavy with remorse, having remained abroad until 4 a. m. which I can no longer do without a wretchedness albeit my wife was up early and quite fit. I read some poetry but to no profit.

And so sluggishly with Archie Andrews, the banker, and Dean Cornwell, the painter, to breakfast and to walk by myself in the park and around the lake which seemed a dreaming pool and my head filled with fine thoughts and noble resolves of a day after. man's wife, a foreign lady of exquisite beauty and afterward to a party where two of my best friends engaged in high words and I stood between them until it blew over. So home to bed early.

Wall Street has many victims who are stripped of wealth over night. There is one who a year ago luxuriated in the splendor of a $30,000 a year apartment with four cars and a yacht. He might easily have retired but he made one final plunge to awaken to the agony of utter poverty. Today he is a clerk in a brokerage house. His wife trims hats in a department store. He was asked how many friends offered aid when the storm broke. "Only one," he said, "and that was my valet who offered me his $3,000 savings"—and yet a few days before he had unlimited credit at many banks.

One thing men salvage from these turbulent reversals and that is a warming sympathy toward misfortune. Human nature, being what it is, seldom shows sincere sympathy until the depths of despair have been touched. Charity workers say the most generous supporters are those who have tasted misfortune.

There used to be a man in New York who spent idle time and no little money securing positions for jobless men past middle age. He was himself unable to find a job for five years shortly after he was 50, but when he did he made a quick fortune. He believed men were more competent after 50 than before and often proved it.

The colored folks' Fifth Avenue is on Seventh Avenue above 125th street. And daily a promenade begins around five o'clock when the doggily dressed high yellows, picaroons, blacks and golden browns sweep along. They have a strut and a good natured self consciousness that makes the parade interesting. The pearl derby hat at a cocky angle is extremely popular in this section. Flappers coated with lavender face powder lead their pet bowwows and one at times may see mulatto dowagers carrying lorgnettes.

The other evening I watched a fleet of 24 bellboys stand inspection in a big hotel lobby preparatory to duty. They were immaculate in their tambourine caps, pouter pigeon West Point coats and dove graw trousers. I was informed bellboys averaged between $50 and $75 a week and were paid no salaries.

It seems a pity the Hudson, among New Yorkers, is generally called the North River. The Hudson is the most romantic of streams in song and story. It was given the North name to distinguish it from the Delaware, which was called the South River.

The post theatre suburban trains leave around 11 o'clock. For this reason final acts of plays are disturbed and often spoiled. The most interesting of all these is the train to Great Neck—a community of stage folk—and often the passengers rush to the train without having removed their makeup.

Some people won't enjoy Heaven. There won't be anybody there poor enough or wicked enough to snub.—Mansfield Journal.

A LONG JOURNEY FOR THE COMMUTER.

Tom Sharkey was famous nationally as a prizefighter. Among friends he was distinguished for another attribute—to wit, his frugality. When Tom got his hands on a dollar, that dollar immediately and forever was out of active circulation.

After he had retired from ring-practice he opened a cafe on Fourteenth street. For an assistant manager he hired an ex-promoter of pugilism named McGrath who had, touching on the commendable virtoe of economy, much the same safe and sane principles which actuated his employer.

When Sharkey was not on hand it was McGrath's special job to keep an eye on the cash receipts. One evening a member of the day shift back of the bar was about to go off watch. He waited until McGrath's back was turned, then opened a cash register and grabbed at its contents. But the warning ring of the bell on the mechanism had reached the vigilant ear of Sharkey's aide. On top of this the barman was so unlucky as to let a quarter slip through his fingers and it fell clinking.

McGrath spun about, the kindled light of suspicion in his eye.

"Hey!" he yelled out, "what's the big idea, young fella?"

"Why, don't you remember what Mr. Sharkey said the other day? He said we could each get carfare home out of the till every day when we left. I was just taking me carfare, that's all."

McGrath drew nearer step by step. His glance roved from the depleted damper to the bulging fist of the guilty party. Then, very softly, he spoke:

"And where is it you live, young fella—Sidney, Australia?"

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

New Police Weapons.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 22.—In making war on crime and criminals, officers of the law have an amazing array of new weapons, as well as many safety devices for their own protection. Nowadays at the annual convention of the police chiefs of the United States one of the big features is the exhibitions of this offensive and defensive equipment, and the old patrolman who fought all his battles with his trusty locust night stick finds himself and his methods hopelessly antiquated.

Not even the night stick is what it used to be. It looks the same, and it can be used as a billy to beat a criminal into submission, but it has a distinctively new feature in the form of a little button at one end. When that button is pressed the night stick shoots a spray of tear gas that is sufficient to put half a dozen men out of action at a distance of fifteen to twenty feet.

In fact, a great many of the new devices for police officers use gas of one kind or another in various ways. They range all the way from bombs to fake over-size fountain pens. There are tear-gas cartridges for revolvers, a single one of which is said to have stopped an angry mob of 150 gamblers in a night raid in a Middle West city. There are hand grenades in different colors, each color indicating the content, which varies from a comparatively mild sneezing gas to be used in dispersing mobs including women and children, to the strongest of tear gas, to be brought into action against barricaded desperadoes.

A new kind of riot gun that resembles a small suitcase wil be found among the equipment of officers responding to a riot call in the future. It looks wholly innocent, but it is charged with tear gas under 1800 pounds pressure, and carries enough of the stuff to put a mob of 2,000 people out of commission. With this weapon in action it is guaranteed that rioters, however vicious or incensed they may be, will speedily forget what they are rioting about.

Device For Bank Messengers.

Somewhat similar in character is a suitcase handle for bank messengers' bags which is harmless so long as the messenger holds it in a certain way, but will throw out clouds of tear gas if a hold-up man grabs the bag or forces the messenger to drop it. This handle is also used on the brief cases in which bonds are carried.

A desk ornament that looks like an odd sort of paper weight can be used to protect a house against burglars by connecting it up with a radio C-battery, with wires and switches at each door and window, or a bank teller or cashier can bring it into action against bandits by stepping on a button on the floor when he is obeying the order to hold up his hands. There are also numerous devices to be placed in various strategic points about a factory paymaster's office that in emergency will fill the room with a cloud of smoke and gas, the fake fountain pen mentioned before that shoots a 38-calibre tear gas cartridge, and gas bombs to be concealed in safes that ambitious yeggmen may tamper with.

Nickle-plated gimcracks wholly innocent in appearance have been devised as an automobile attachment that is the latest thing for repelling holdup artists or hi-jackers. They are connected with a tank of tear gas and operated by a button on the floor of the car. They will shoot off enough gas to blind anybody and everybody within a twenty-foot range on either side of the machine.

Machine guns, rifles, and automatics and revolvers of all kinds, even to the old-fashioned single-action Colt 45 that was a favorite in frontier days, comprise the armament of a modern police force. One of the latest inventions is a light machine gun with a demountable stock, so that it may be converted into a revolver, that is capable of firing several hundred shots a minute. Its ammunition includes incendiary bullets to be fired into the gas tanks of automobiles used by criminals.

A new revolver, designed at the request of the police authorities for the special use of plain clothes men, is a 38-calibre gun with a barrel so short that it can be carried in a side coat pocket and fired through the coat, thus wasting no time on the draw. It shoots 200 grains of lead.

Officers Rarely Use Automatics.

Comparatively few police officers use automatics, the great majority of them preferring the 38-calibre double action revolvers. They do not want anything lighter than that, for it is important that their shots have a maximum of stopping power. For this purpose one of the arms companies is turning out a new type of ammunition for the police, a 200-grain lead bullet that has no jacket. Its effect is almost that of the dum-dum bullets.

The steel and copper-jacketed bullets are recognized as more humane, but they do not always put their object down and out instantly and there have been many instances of the loss of officers' lives because a bad man had enough life left in him to do a bit of shooting after he himself had received a fatal wound. This new bullet makes a neat little hole as it enters, but where it comes out it makes one of two or three inches in diameter, and it does a lot of disastrous things while penetrating a man's innards.

Another innovation for the police is not a weapon, but a method of wearing and handling an extra revolver. An expert recommends that every officer wear an extra gun in a scabbard on his left hip, with the butt forward, so that he can draw it with his left hand— when his right is otherwise engaged or has been disabled—flip it up and fire it upside down. A little practice, it is said, makes for a deal of accuracy in this way of handling a revolver, and may prove to be a life-saver.

Police are interested, it goes without saying, in new weapons and new ideas for fighting the modern criminal, for the latter is in nine out of ten a killer. Criminals of a generation ago were not given to using guns except when they were in the most desperate of situations, for they preferred a prison term to the gallows or the electric chair. Today their ranks have been

When that button is pressed the night stick shoots a spray of tear gas that is sufficient to put half a dozen men out of action at a distance of fifteen to twenty feet.

In fact, a great many of the new devices for police officers use gas of one kind or another in various ways. They range all the way from bombs to fake over-size fountain pens. There are tear-gas cartridges for revolvers, a single one of which is said to have stopped an angry mob of 150 gamblers in a night raid in a Middle West city. There are hand grenades in different colors, each color indicating the content, which varies from a comparatively mild sneezing gas to be used in dispersing mobs including women and children, to the strongest of tear gas, to be brought into action against barricaded desperadoes.

A new kind of riot gun that resembles a small suitcase wil be found among the equipment of officers responding to a riot call in the future. It looks wholly innocent, but it is charged with tear gas under 1800 pounds pressure, and carries enough of the stuff to put a mob of 2,000 people out of commission. With this weapon in action it is guaranteed that rioters, however vicious or incensed they may be, will speedily forget what they are rioting about.

Device For Bank Messengers.

Somewhat similar in character is a suitcase handle for bank messengers' bags which is harmless so long as the messenger holds it in a certain way, but will throw out clouds of tear gas if a hold-up man grabs the bag or forces the messenger to drop it. This handle is also used on the brief cases in which bonds are carried.

A desk ornament that looks like an odd sort of paper weight can be used to protect a house against burglars by connecting it up with a radio C-battery, with wires and switches at each door and window, or a bank teller or cashier can bring it into action against bandits by stepping on a button on the floor when he is obeying the order to hold up his hands. There are also numerous devices to be placed in various strategic points about a factory paymaster's office that in emergency will fill the room with a cloud of smoke and gas, the fake fountain pen mentioned before that shoots a 38-calibre tear gas cartridge, and gas bombs to be concealed in safes that ambitious yeggmen may tamper with.

Nickle-plated gimcracks wholly innocent in appearance have been devised as an automobile attachment that is the latest thing for repelling holdup artists or hi-jackers. They are connected with a tank of tear gas and operated by a button on the floor of the car. They will shoot off enough gas to blind anybody and everybody within a twenty-foot range on either side of the machine.

Machine guns, rifles, and automatics and revolvers of all kinds, even to the old-fashioned single-action Colt 45 that was a favorite in frontier days, comprise the armament of a modern police force. One of the latest inventions is a light machine gun with a demountable stock, so that it may be converted into a revolver, that is capable of firing several hundred shots a minute. Its ammunition includes incendiary bullets to be fired into the gas tanks of automobiles used by criminals.

A new revolver, designed at the request of the police authorities for the special use of plain clothes men, is a 38-calibre gun with a barrel so short that it can be carried in a side coat pocket and fired through the coat, thus wasting no time on the draw. It shoots 200 grains of lead.

Officers Rarely Use Automatics.

Comparatively few police officers use automatics, the great majority of them preferring the 38-calibre double action revolvers. They do not want anything lighter than that, for it is important that their shots have a maximum of stopping power. For this purpose one of the arms companies is turning out a new type of ammunition for the police, a 200-grain lead bullet that has no jacket. Its effect is almost that of the dum-dum bullets.

The steel and copper-jacketed bullets are recognized as more humane, but they do not always put their object down and out instantly and there have been many instances of the loss of officers' lives because a bad man had enough life left in him to do a bit of shooting after he himself had received a fatal wound. This new bullet makes a neat little hole as it enters, but where it comes out it makes one of two or three inches in diameter, and it does a lot of disastrous things while penetrating a man's innards.

Another innovation for the police is not a weapon, but a method of wearing and handling an extra revolver. An expert recommends that every officer wear an extra gun in a scabbard on his left hip, with the butt forward, so that he can draw it with his left hand— when his right is otherwise engaged or has been disabled—flip it up and fire it upside down. A little practice, it is said, makes for a deal of accuracy in this way of handling a revolver, and may prove to be a lifesaver.

Police are interested, it goes without saying, in new weapons and new ideas for fighting the modern criminal, for the latter is in nine out of ten a killer. Criminals of a generation ago were not given to using guns except when they were in the most desperate of situations, for they preferred a prison term to the gallows or the electric chair. Today their ranks have been

Inter-City Football Classic

Aside from the turkey dinner, the most important event on Thanksgiving Day program in the East Liverpool district is the inter-city football classic between the East Liverpool and Wellsville High school teams.

Marking the first battle since 1922, the two elevens will line up at Patterson Field at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, with hundreds of supporters on the side lines to encourage them with their cheers.

Not excepting the Chester-East Liverpool game, in which interest was at a high pitch, no athletic competition compares with the inter-city gridiron contest from an attendance standpoint. And judging from the partisanship already apparent, a record crowd will be on hand when the refree blows his whistle.

Each city is proud of its high school football team. East Liverpool has made a splendid record, losing only one game to a county eleven, this defeat occurring at the hands of Salem, recognized as the 1926 scholastic champion. Wellsville, which has shown it stamina against neighboring schools also lost to Salem, but today is nearer top form than at any other time since the fall sport season opened.

The holiday game should be a battle well worth the admission price.

Failure of British Coal Strike

The great British coal strike is over. The miners are going back to work at less pay and longer hours. They have lost the strike after seven months' fighting.

Why did those miners lose? It is not a complete answer to say, as many are saying, "because their employers had greater resources and influence." The government, too, failed to stand by. Why were the home owners due to ... why did the government virtually side with them instead of with the miners?

Evidenetly because the union workmen in the mines were not supported by the union workmen in other industries.

The labor bond broke. Class consciousness and class interest failed to stand the strain, because the workers in transportation, steel and other industries found that the coal strike crippled their own industries and threw them out of work, so that they could not help the miners if they wanted to.

So the miners' strike failed for much the same reason that the general strike called in their behalf failed. It meant general suicide for British industry. It meant general starvation for British workmen, who are the largest social class and nearest to the edge of want.

Both capital and labor should be zealous in seeking ways to avoid such disastrous struggles.

College Smoking

The general belief that all young people in college smoke has been rudely jolted by the report from one of the big state universities that scarcely 20 per cent of freshmen use tobacco.

Many of those learn later on, to be sure. By the time the senior class is reached, perhaps three-fourths of the members smoke. Another university says that about 90 per cent of the seniors use tobacco in some form, and 40 per cent of the first year men. Even so, there is a surprising proportion of students who, from principle or preference, are not addicted.

One college, which permits smoking by either sex, announces as a result of a two years' survey that "smoking is harmful to a student."

Another college rather sensibly concludes that there is about the same proportion of smoking in colleges as there is elsewhere.

In college or out of college, perhaps there would be rather general agreement that tobacco harms the body.

Says a philosophic smoker: "Heaven knows what would break loose in this present-day work if people didn't soothe their nerves with tobacco. It's hard enough to be calm and friendly and tolerant even under the influence of nicotine."

Smaller French Army

The French army, through bills introduced in parliament by the Poincare ministry, is to be reduced from 650,000 men to 400,000.

This does not necessarily mean a reduction of French military power. The smaller number of men in the service at one time is to be compensated by their being fed through the mill faster, so that there will be just about as many trained men as usual always available in the country. This is to be accomplished by shortening the period of military service from 18 months to 12 months. Nevertheless the change of policy is reassuring to other nations and should be beneficial to France.

With a standing army so greatly lessened, no matter how many men are on the army reserve list, France can no longer be so convincingly accused of militarism. Other nations will have less fear of her. Rival powers will feel justified in further arm cuts. It will save money for Europe as a whole, and foster better feeling.

France herself, although the year of intensive training is expected to cost no less than the former year and a half, is sure to benefit by setting her whole able-bodied man-power free for an extra half-year of profitable occupation.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Lay abed heavy with remorse, having remained abroad until 4 a. m. which I can no longer do without a wretchedness albeit my wife was up early and quite fit. I read some poetry but to no profit.

And so sluggishly with Archie Andrews, the banker, and Dean Cornwell, the painter, to breakfast and to walk by myself in the park and around the lake which seemed a dreaming pool and my head filled with fine thoughts and noble resolves of a day after.

man's wife, a foreign lady of exquisite beauty and afterward to a party where two of my best friends engaged in high words and I stood between them until it blew over. So home to bed early.

Wall Street has many victims who are stripped of wealth over night. There is one who a year ago luxuriated in the splendor of a $30,000 a year apartment with four cars and a yacht. He might easily have retired but he made one final plunge to awaken to the agony of utter poverty. Today he is a clerk in a brokerage house. His wife trims hats in a department store. He was asked how many friends offered aid when the storm broke. "Only one," he said, "and that was my valet who offered me his $3,000 savings"—and yet a few days before he had unlimited credit at many banks.

One thing men salvage from these turbulent reversals and that is a warming sympathy toward misfortune. Human nature, being what it is, seldom shows sincere sympathy until the depths of despair have been touched. Charity workers say the most generous supporters are those who have tasted misfortune.

There used to be a man in New York who spent idle time and no little money securing positions for jobless men past middle age. He was himself unable to find a job for five years shortly after he was 50, but when he did he made a quick fortune. He believed men were more competent after 50 than before and often proved it.

The colored folks' Fifth Avenue is on Seventh Avenue above 125th street. And daily a promenade begins around five o'clock when the doggily dressed high yellows, picaroons, blacks and golden browns sweep along. They have a strut and a good natured self consciousness that makes the parade interesting. The pearl derby hat at a cocky angle is extremely popular in this section. Flappers coated with lavender face powder lead their pet bowwows and one at times may see mulatto dowagers carrying lorgnettes.

The other evening I watched a fleet of 24 bellboys stand inspection in a big hotel lobby preparatory to duty. They were immaculate in their tambourine caps, pouter pigeon West Point coats and dove graw trousers. I was informed bellboys averaged between $50 and $75 a week and were paid no salaries.

It seems a pity the Hudson, among New Yorkers, is generally called the North River. The Hudson is the most romantic of streams in song and story. It was given the North name to distinguish it from the Delaware, which was called the South River.

The post theatre suburban trains leave around 11 o'clock. For this reason final acts of plays are disturbed and often spoiled. The most interesting of all these is the train to Great Neck—a community of stage folk—and often the passengers rush to the train without having removed their makeup.

Some people won't enjoy Heaven. There won't be anybody there poor enough or wicked enough to snub.—Mansfield Journal.

A LONG JOURNEY FOR THE COMMUTER.

Tom Sharkey was famous nationally as a prizefighter. Among friends he was distinguished for another attribute—to wit, his frugality. When Tom got his hands on a dollar, that dollar immediately and forever was out of active circulation.

After he had retired from ring-practice he opened a cafe on Fourteenth street. For an assistant manager he hired an ex-promoter of pugilism named McGrath who had, touching on the commendable virtue of economy, much the same safe and sane principles which actuated his employer.

When Sharkey was not on hand it was McGrath's special job to keep an eye on the cash receipts. One evening a member of the day shift back of the bar was about to go off watch. He waited until McGrath's back was turned, then opened a cash register and grabbed at its contents. But the warning ring of the bell on the mechanism had reached the vigilant ear of Sharkey's aide. On top of this the barit fell was so unlucky as to let a quarter slip through his fingers and

McGrath spun about, the kindled light of suspicion in his eye.

"Hey!" he yelled out, "what's the big idea, young fella?"

"Why, don't you remember what Mr. Sharkey said the other day? He said we could each get carfare home out of the till every day when we left. I was just taking me carfare, that's all."

McGrath drew nearer step by step. His glance roved from the depleted damper to the bulging fist of the guilty party. Then, very softly, he spoke:

"And where is it you live, young fella—Sidney, Australia?"

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

New Police Weapons.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 22.—In making war on crime and criminals, officers of the law have an amazing array of new weapons, as well as many safety devices for their own protection. Nowadays at the annual convention of the police chiefs of the United States one of the big features is the exhibitions of this offensive and defensive equipment, and the old patrolman who fought all his battles with his trusty locust night stick finds himself and his methods hopelessly antiquated.

Not even the night stick is what it used to be. It looks the same, and it can be used as a billy to beat a criminal into submission, but it has a distinctively new feature in the form of a little button at one end. When that button is pressed the night stick shoots a spray of tear gas that is sufficient to put half a dozen men out of action at a distance of fifteen to twenty feet.

In fact, a great many of the new devices for police officers use gas of one kind or another in various ways. They range all the way from bombs to fake over-size fountain pens. There are tear-gas cartridges for revolvers, a single one of which is said to have stopped an angry mob of 150 gamblers in a night raid in a Middle West city. There are hand grenades in different colors, each color indicating the content, which varies from a comparatively mild sneezing gas to be used in dispersing mobs including women and children, to the strongest of tear gas, to be brought into action against barricaded desperadoes.

Edna Wallace Hopper Opens Three-Day Engagement Here

Edna Wallace Hopper, the "eternal flapper" and one of the best known figures on the stage, will open a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre today. She will appear here in connection with picture, "Sally, Irene and Mary."

Miss Hopper is 62 years old, but seems to have discovered the fabled fountain of youth, for she appears no more than 19. Just how she has retained this youth will be the subject she will discuss during her stay here.

From the old days when she appeared with De Wolf Hopper in "Wang," until the present time, there is no actress who has been more prominent in the public eye. She has appeared on the stage from coast to coast and has drawn capacity crowds.

Here is a woman that, contrary to all the assumed idiosyncrasies of the wily Mother Eve, smashes all the prerogatives which women throughout the ages have held hidden in their bosoms. Women of late years, particularly either professional of commercial, strive to keep their age to themselves and their wrinkles at home.

Actresses are not prone to divulge to the public their waxing age. Not to with Miss Hopper. She admits to sixty two—or sixty-few.

Miss Hopper declares that she is ten years younger than she was last year. She was examined during her recent European visit by Dr. Jaworski, discoverer of the "blood marriage" process of rejuvenation for old age and pronounced scientifically sixteen years old. In 1925 the French savant declared Miss Hopper then had the appearance of twenty-six.

"I am sixteen at sixty," said Miss Hopper. "I have lost ten years. Dr. Jaworski was amazed at my synthetic youth. I proved to him, she declared, that youth is no longer a matter of years but of conservation of vital powers. By correct living I am today as youthful in spirit as in body. I am as gay and lighthearted as in the days when I was only sixteen by the count of years."

Edmund Goulding, in bringing "Sally, Irene and Mary" to the screen for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, gives a glimpse of what is back of the mask of the show girl.

The three girls in the story are each of a distinct personality, each leading widely different sort of lives when away from the theater.

Sally is played by Constance Bennett.

Irene is enacted by Joan Crawford.

Mary is portrayed by Sally O'Neil.

Edna Wallace Hopper, the "eternal flapper" and one of the best known figures on the stage, will open a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre today. She will appear here in connection with picture, "Sally, Irene and Mary."

Miss Hopper is 62 years old, but seems to have discovered the fabled fountain of youth, for she appears no more than 19. Just how she has retained this youth will be the subject she will discuss during her stay here.

From the old days when she appeared with De Wolf Hopper in "Wang," until the present time, there is no actress who has been more prominent in the public eye. She has appeared on the stage from coast to coast and has drawn capacity crowds.

Here is a woman that, contrary to all the assumed idiosyncrasies of the wily Mother Eve, smashes all the prerogatives which women throughout the ages have held hidden in their bosoms. Women of late years, particularly either professional of commercial, strive to keep their age to themselves and their wrinkles at home.

Actresses are not prone to divulge to the public their waxing age. Not to with Miss Hopper. She admits to sixty two—or sixty-few.

Miss Hopper declares that she is ten years younger than she was last year. She was examined during her recent European visit by Dr. Jaworski, discoverer of the "blood marriage" process of rejuvenation for old age and pronounced scientifically sixteen years old. In 1925 the French savant declared Miss Hopper then had the appearance of twenty-six.

"I am sixteen at sixty," said Miss Hopper. "I have lost ten years. Dr. Jaworski was amazed at my synthetic youth. I proved to him, she declared, that youth is no longer a matter of years but of conservation of vital powers. By correct living I am today as youthful in spirit as in body. I am as gay and lighthearted as in the days when I was only sixteen by the count of years."

Edmund Goulding, in bringing "Sally, Irene and Mary" to the screen for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, gives a glimpse of what is back of the mask of the show girl.

The three girls in the story are each of a distinct personality, each leading widely different sort of lives when away from the theater.

Sally is played by Constance Bennett.

Irene is enacted by Joan Crawford.

Mary is portrayed by Sally O'Neil.

Bible Literary Club Session.

Mrs. Harry T. Logan received the members of the Bible Literary club Saturday afternoon at her home in West Fourth street. Twenty four members responded to roll call by quoting from favorite hymns.

"The Reformation Under Luther" was the topoi of a paper read by Mrs. J. T. Williamson. The superstition and indulgences of the people were the principal thoughts.

Knox's Contribution to the Reformation" was described by Mrs. F. G. Fowler. His first call; nineteen months as a gallery slave; the covenant; the abdication of the queen, and the death of Knox formed the main topics.

A biographical sketch of "The Seraphic Watts," by Mrs. W. L. Taylor, was read by Mrs. H. F. Laughlin. It told of his education and the inspiration of his glorious hymns.

Luther's hymn, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," was read by Mrs. B. D. Kenney. A chorus by the club concluded the program.

Mrs. John Rinehart was a special guest.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Maud Baum in West Seventh street, December 4.

Birthday Anniversary Party.

Honoring her eleventh birthday anniversary, Miss Frances McGraw entertained a group of school friends at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. U. Richardson, of Oak [illegible] and Thanksgiving novelties. Juvenile games were diversions.

Refreshments were served by the hostess' mother, Mrs. Erla McGraw, her grandmother, Mrs. A. U. Richardson, aunt, Mrs. Richard Fleming, and Mrs. Lucile Trunck, of Rochester, Pa. Thanksgiving favors were given each guest.

The honor guest received many gifts.

The out-of-town guests were Mrs. Erla McGraw of Cleveland; Mrs. Lucile Trunch and daughter, Winifred, and James Stilley of Rochester, Pa.,

Look Your Best
Beauty can be multiplied
By Edna Wallace Hopper

I have proved that beauty can be multiplied, youth can be extended. For 40 years I have searched the ways, largely through the scientists of France. They made me a famous beauty, gained me a glorious career. And they have kept my youth. At a grandmother's age, thousands see me daily on the stage looking like a girl.

I am placing the best helps I have found at every woman's call. All toilet counters supply them. Each one combines a number of the best helps known.

One is my White Youth Clay. I have seen it bring to countless girls multiplied beauty in one-half hour. And many women, in 30 minutes, seem to drop ten years. I want all to learn what White Youth Clay can do for them, and quickly.

Another is my Youth Cream. It combines in one cream a dozen of the best helps I have found. It fosters, feeds and protects the skin like nothing else I know. Night or day, I never go an hour without it. Nor should you.

Another is my Face Powder—the finest powder we have found in Moviedom and Stagedom. I used to pay $5 per box to obtain it. Now the makers supply it to you, in my name, at very little prices.

If you want the utmost in beauty, at any age, I urge you to try them

Special: See Miss Hopper in person Nov. 22, 23, 24 at Ceramic Theatre, East Liverpool, Matinee For Women Only Wednesday, 1:30 P. M.

Hardships of Miners In Great Coal Strike Are Now Felt Keenly

CARDIFF—The terrible hardships endured by miners' families in the long-drawn-out coal strike are now coming to light.

In the little sunless, blackened town of South Wales straggling on mountain sides and sunk in gloomy valleys with tortuous streets, and unbelievable houses the sufferings of men, women and children are now plainly to be seen.

It needs a race touched with fanaticism to undergo the privations that these Welsh miners and their families have endured. This has not been a case of a few individuals being struck with poverty. It is that of whole districts who have lost, absolutely everything that belonged to them. The strike has left everyone penniless—lawyers, doctors, mine operators down to the humblest mine worker.

There are tradesmen who, six months ago, were comparatively prosperous, having a turnover of $500 per week. Many of these are now dependent on parish relief. Nobody has any money wherewith to buy. The big suppliers have cut off the usual quota of goods.

Despite poor business conditions in Spain, railways are more profitable than last year.

Panama soon is to have its first shoe factory.

Don't Risk Pneumonia By Neglecting a Cold

If you have a cough or cold, don't neglect it during this pneumonia weather. A cough or cold paves the way for pneumonia because it irritates the linings of throat, chest and bronchial tubes, often the lungs themselves, if neglected too long. And it is in these inflamed linings—when a neglected cold has broken down your resistance—that dreaded pneumonia is quickest to start—often proving fatal in a few days.

Don't just dread pneumonia! Take measures to prevent it, by getting rid of a threatening cough or cold immediately—before pneumonia starts to develop.

By its powerful double action, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral quickly breaks up coughs and colds. With the very first swallow you feel its comforting, healing warmth. Quickly and unfailingly it goes straight to the seat of danger, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes. The soothing, healing powers of this hospital-tested medicine are absorbed by the linings of throat, chest and bronchial tubes just as ink is absorbed by a blotter. Look Your Best
Beauty can be multiplied
By Edna Wallace Hopper

I have proved that beauty can be multiplied, youth can be extended. For 40 years I have searched the ways, largely through the scientists of France. They made me a famous beauty, gained me a glorious career. And they have kept my youth. At a grandmother's age, thousands see me daily on the stage looking like a girl.

I am placing the best helps I have found at every woman's call. All toilet counters supply them. Each one combines a number of the best helps known.

One is my White Youth Clay. I have seen it bring to countless girls multiplied beauty in one-half hour. And many women, in 30 minutes, seem to drop ten years. I want all to learn what White Youth Clay can do for them, and quickly.

Another is my Youth Cream. It combines in one cream a dozen of the best helps I have found. It fosters, feeds and protects the skin like nothing else I know. Night or day, I never go an hour without it. Nor should you.

Another is my Face Powder—the finest powder we have found in Moviedom and Stagedom. I used to pay $5 per box to obtain it. Now the makers supply it to you, in my name, at very little prices.

If you want the utmost in beauty, at any age, I urge you to try them

Hardships of Miners In Great Coal Strike Are Now Felt Keenly

CARDIFF—The terrible hardships endured by miners' families in the long-drawn-out coal strike are now coming to light.

In the little sunless, blackened town of South Wales straggling on mountain sides and sunk in gloomy valleys with tortuous streets, and unbelievable houses the sufferings of men, women and children are now plainly to be seen.

It needs a race touched with fanaticism to undergo the privations that these Welsh miners and their familes have endured. This has not been a case of a few individuals being struck with poverty. It is that of whole districts who have lost, absolutely everything that belonged to them. The strike has left everyone penniless—lawyers, doctors, mine operators down to the humblest mine worker.

There are tradesmen who, six months ago, were comparatively prosperous, having a turnover of $500 per week. Many of these are now dependent on parish relief. Nobody has any money wherewith to buy. The big suppliers have cut off the usual quota of goods.

Despite poor business conditions in Spain, railways are more profitable than last year.

Panama soon is to have its first shoe factory.

Don't Risk Pneumonia By Neglecting a Cold

If you have a cough or cold, don't neglect it during this pneumonia weather. A cough or cold paves the way for pneumonia because it irritates the linings of throat, chest and bronchial tubes, often the lungs themselves, if neglected too long. And it is in these inflamed linings—when a neglected cold has broken down your resistance—that dreaded pneumonia is quickest to start—often proving fatal in a few days.

Don't just dread pneumonia! Take measures to prevent it, by getting rid of a threatening cough or cold immediately—before pneumonia starts to develop.

By its powerful double action, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral quickly breaks up coughs and colds. With the very first swallow you feel its comforting, healing warmth. Quickly and unfailingly it goes straight to the seat of danger, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes. The soothing, healing powers of this hospital-tested medicine are absorbed by the linings of throat, chest and bronchial tubes just as ink is absorbed by a blotter. This is why Ayer's Cherry Pectoral so quickly stops the cough, drives out the cold and brings sure, lasting relief.

Quickly and unfailingly it goes straight to the seat of danger, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes. The soothing, healing powers of this hospital-tested medicine are absorbed by the linings of throat, chest and bronchial tubes just as ink is absorbed by a blotter. This is why Ayer's Cherry Pectoral so quickly stops the cough, drives out the cold and brings sure, lasting relief.

If "pneumonia" has developed call your doctor at once. If it has not developed, but you have a threatening cough or cold, take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! Keep your throat, bronchial tubes and lungs healthy and strong. At all druggists, 60c, twice as much $1.00. sp24c

WELLSVILLE POLICE SEIZE 75-GALLON STILL IN RAID

JAMES DRAGO IS FINED $408 BY MAYOR FOGO

Chief Fultz Leads Squad to Rear of Fruit Store.

LIQUID FOUND

Merchant Spends Several Hours Behind Jail Bars.

Confiscating one of the largest stills seized here in recent years, police Saturday arrested James Drago, Third street fruit dealer, on a charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor, and at a subsequent hearing before Mayor Fego, Drago paid a fine of $408.

The raiding squad, comprising Chief of Police John Fultz, Patrolman Pugh, Officer Duncan and Patrol Drivers Hickman and Alcock, entered Drago's place Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

When a warrant was served on Drago, the latter, it is said, accerted that he had nothing in his place. A search revealed the still, which police say, had been in operation only a short time before, in a room in the rear of the fruit stand.

The still was estimated to be of 75 gallon capacity. The still, together with accessory equipment, such as burners, hose, etc., was taken to the city hall. In addition police confiscated 16 barrels of liquid, strained from the mash, which was ready for conversion into the finished product, and 120 one-gallon jugs, all empty.

Drago was taken to the city hall and remained in jail several hours before friends raised sufficient money to meet his fine.

R. J. MATTHEWSON, AGED 69, IS DEAD

Robert J. Matthewson, 60 years old, of Second street, died Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock in the East Liverpool hospital after a lingering illness of complications.

He was a native of England.

In addition to his wife he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Frank Kindle, of Wellsville; and Mrs. William Wolfe, of Cumberland, Md. Eleven grand children are living.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Frank Kindle, Second street, in charge of Rev. E. L. Zachman, pastor of the Evangelical church. Burial will be made in Spring Hill cemetery.

Evangelist H. A. Frye Launches Revivals at Evangelical Church

Says He's "Old Fashioned Enough to Believe That God Made Man, and That We Did Not Spring From Apes or Monkeys."

Evangelist H. A. Frye Sunday launched annual revival services in the First Evangelical church here, discussing, at the morning services, the need of such revival. He chose, as his text, Psalm 85, verse six, "Wilt Thou Not Revive Us Again, That Thy People May Rejoice in Thee?"

He described how a revival affects the church and how it affects the world.

He referred to Babson as saying that the only thing that will save America, is an old fashioned revival.

Evangelist Frye said that people who turn the church down or neglect the church and its duties, in reality turn God down. "There are only two kinds of people in Wellsville who have a right to God's throne," he said, "and they are those who are right with God and those of penitent souls."

Evening services were well attended. The evangelist took as his text, "God's Program,' from Chronicles 7-14: "If my people which are called by my name shall humble themselves and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from Heaven and will forgive their sin and will heal their land."

He emphasized that the Hebrew children's prosperity depended on meeting certain conditions and that God works by a plan as is proven in creation. The evangelist also pointed out that he was "old fashioned enough to believe that God made man, and that we did not spring from apes or monkeys.'

"Furthermore," he assorted, "God's plans for salvation have never changed nor never will be changed.

"The church," the evangelist said, "has, to a large extent, lost its prestige among the men and women on the outside world."

The text, he pointed out, lays down four conditions, all of which must be met: "Humble yourselves; that my people pray; seek my face; and turn from your wicked ways."

The revivals will continue throughout the week, open to the public, according to announcement by Rev. E. L. Zachman, pastor.

Local D. of A. Plans Thanksgiving Fete In Parish House

Queen of Ohio council, No. 141, Daughters of America, will hold a Thanksgiving party on Friday evening in the Church of Ascension parish house in Eleventh and Center streets. The party will start at 8 o'clock.

HIGH TO HOLD 'PEP' MEETING

Tuesday Session Sponsored by Kiwanis Club.

Wellsville High school students and alumni will hold a "pep" meeting tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the high school auditorium with members of the high school football team as chief guests, as a preparatory event to the Thanksgiving football clash with East Liverpool.

The affair will be sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

The program will include speeches by players, alumni, school and Kiwanis club officials, Coach Earl Klinck and others; yells, singing and orchestra music.

Following the "pep" meeting, alumni will convene for the purpose of discussing plans for the annual mid-winter banquet and meeting.

Farmhand Held for Double Slaying in Jefferson County

William Bowser, farmhand, charged with the murder of Nellie Hernon and her brother on a farm near Steubenville last March 2, arrested in the Union Mission at Canton Sunday morning by Canton police, has been turned over to authorities of Jefferson county and was taken back to that jurisdiction last night.

Bowser, charged by detectives with committing the crimes, denied his guilt.

"I didn't do it," he repeated monotonously to every question put to him concerning the slayings.

Bowser is charged with having killed Miss Hernon and then criminally assaulted the body after death and with having hung the body to a rafter. He is charged, also, with having killed her brother with a mattox, striking him down from behind. The bodies were found two days after the killings.

Bowser told Canton detectives he had cashed his pay check at a butcher shop in Randal, near the scene of the murders and then, having bought a suit of underwear at a store, of changing his underclothing on the outskirts of the village. The discarded underwear was found, covered with blood, by Jefferson county authorities.

The prisoner said he had worked on various farms in Ohio and Indiana since March. He recently worked on a farm near Dalton, about 12 miles west of this city and came into Canton Saturday night. He had little money and sought cheap lodgings at the Union Mission.

Canton police had a tip he was in the city and three policemen were sent to arrest him Sunday morning.

GLEANERS' END MEMBER CONTEST

Gleaners' Sunday school class of the Second Presbyterian church met recently in the church basement, the membership contest.

The winners, captained by Isabel Runyon, were guests of the losers, headed by Dora Lewis, at a supper prepared by the latter.

Honor guests were Mrs. Helen Metz and Mrs. Anna Williamson, recent newlyweds.

The class presented them with a number of gifts.

Games were the chief diversion.

Pilmer Funeral Held Sunday.

Funeral services for George Pilmer, former C. & P. railroad conductor, were held yesterday afternoon in the family residence in Maple avenue, in charge of Rev. Thomas Berger, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church. Burial was made in Spring Hill cemetery.

ROLL CALL HERE SUCCESSFUL, LEADERS SAY

Four Boy Scout Troops Canvas Entire City.

CONTINUE WORK

Final Reports to be Made on Tuesday Night.

That the annual Red Cross roll call campaign, launched yesterday by four Wellsville Boy Scout troops, will be successful was the expectation of leaders of the movement here today following reports from the 120 or more youths who canvassed the city.

Definite figures on the results of the first day's solicitation were not available, campaign leaders announced, and there will probably be no check-up made until tomorrow night when the major part of the drive will have been completed.

The Scouts will turn their reports in to their troop leaders who, in turn, will submit them to Rev. R. W. Ustick, chairman of the Red Cross.

COTERIE MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

Members of the Calendar Coterie club of the Second Presbyterian church will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the church basement.

The hostesses will be Mrs. Mae Aughinbaugh, Mrs. Thomas Berger, Mrs. H. Bowers and Mrs. John Casselman.

Mrs. Robert Gibson will lead the devotionals.

Irondale Schools Will Show Coogan Film Tuesday Night

Pupils of the first grade of the Irondale schools staged a "Tom Tuumb Wedding" in the school gym Friday evening. The school's share of the proceeds, amounting to approximately $35 will be used to purchase kindergarten chairs and other needed equipment.

"Peck's Bad Boy," featuring Jackie Coogan, will be the fourth of the school's series of pictures to be shown at the school gym on Tuesday evening. A government film, "Play Safe," will also be shown and music will be furnished by Black's orchestra.

The local schools will dismiss on Wednesday afternoon for the Thanksgiving vacation. Sessions will resume the following Monday.

EAGLES OPEN MEMBER DRIVE

Hear Address by Lodge Official at Sunday Meet.

Officers of Columbiana Aerie, No. 772, Fraternal Order of Eagles, today announced the completion of plans for a membership drive which will be launched in the near future.

Arrangements were discussed at a special meeting of the lodgemen yesterday afternoon in the rooms in upper Main street.

M. A. Farley, of Kansas City, an official of the order, addressed the lodge.

Special dispensation, it was announced, has been granted the Wellsville aerie to open the charter for a period of two weeks.

The regular meeting of the lodge, scheduled for Thursday night, has been advanced to Wednesday.

EAST END P. T. A. TO BE FORMED

Organization of a Parent-Teachers' association, similar to those in existence at the Central and West End school buildings, will be effected at a meeting of parents and instructors in the East End building tonight.

Miss Freda Furrer, principal will preside. The chief address will be delivered by F. L. Wells, who will discuss "Thrift."

Mrs. R. F. Burlingame's first grade pupils will entertain with a game. Third grade pupils will sing "November."

Three recitations are also on the program, including "The Mice of Thanksgiving," by Earl Shope; "Little Paul's Thanksgiving," by David Hoover; and "A Boy's Thanksgiving," by John Joseph.

Fourth grade pupils will render a dialogue, "The Pilgrims."

Woman Sees Purse Picked Up; Too Late To Get it Back

Too late to stop the getaway of a man in an automobile who picked up a purse dropped by a woman boarding a street car, Chief of Police John Fultz today announced that the identity of the man is known to police, as well as the automobile number, and that if the purse is not returned to its owner by 6 o'clock tomorrow night, warrent for an arrest will be issued.

The purse, containing $32 in money, a bank book, and her name and address, was dropped by Mrs. Cuti, of Sixteenth and Main street, as she got on an eastbound street car at Fifteenth and Main streets this morning at 9:30 o'clock.

In the car Mrs. Cuti discovered her loss. She notified the motorman and he stopped at the next square. On her way back to the point where she had boarded the car, Mrs. Cuti met Chief Fultz, walking, and notified him of her loss. Both, it is said, saw a small closed car stop at the street intersection. A man got out, picked up the purse and then drove away.

WELLSVILLE POLICE SEIZE 75-GALLON STILL IN RAID

JAMES DRAGO IS FINED $408 BY MAYOR FOGO

Chief Fultz Leads Squad to Rear of Fruit Store.

LIQUID FOUND

Merchant Spends Several Hours Behind Jail Bars.

Confiscating one of the largest stills seized here in recent years, police Saturday arrested James Drago, Third street fruit dealer, on a charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor, and at a subsequent hearing before Mayor Fego, Drago paid a fine of $408.

The raiding squad, comprising Chief of Police John Fultz, Patrolman Pugh, Officer Duncan and Patrol Drivers Hickman and Alcock, entered Drago's place Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

When a warrant was served on Drago, the latter, it is said, accerted that he had nothing in his place. A search revealed the still, which police say, had been in operation only a short time before, in a room in the rear of the fruit stand.

The still was estimated to be of 75-gallon capacity. The still, together with accessory equipment, such as burners, hose, etc., was taken to the city hall. In addition police confiscated 16 barrels of liquid, strained from the mash, which was ready for conversion into the finished product, and 120 one-gallon jugs, all empty.

Drago was taken to the city hall and remained in jail several hours before friends raised sufficient money to meet his fine.

R. J. MATTHEWSON, AGED 69, IS DEAD

Robert J. Matthewson, 60 years old, of Second street, died Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock in the East Liverpool hospital after a lingering illness of complications.

He was a native of England.

In addition to his wife he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Frank Kindle, of Wellsville; and Mrs. William Wolfe, of Cumberland, Md. Eleven grand children are living.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Frank Kindle, Second street, in charge of Rev. E. L. Zachman, pastor of the Evangelical church. Burial will be made in Spring Hill cemetery.

Evangelist H. A. Frye Launches Revivals at Evangelical Church

Says He's "Old Fashioned Enough to Believe That God Made Man, and That We Did Not Spring From Apes or Monkeys."

Evangelist H. A. Frye Sunday launched annual revival services in the First Evangelical church here, discussing, at the morning services, the need of such revival. He chose, as his text, Psalm 85, verse six, "Wilt Thou Not Revive Us Again, That Thy People May Rejoice in Thee?"

He described how a revival affects the church and how it affects the world.

He referred to Babson as saying that the only thing that will save America, is an old fashioned revival.

Evangelist Frye said that people who turn the church down or neglect the church and its duties, in reality turn God down. "There are only two kinds of people in Wellsville who have a right to God's throne," he said, "and they are those who are right with God and those of penitent souls."

Evening services were well attended. The evangelist took as his text, "God's Program," from Chronicles 7-14: "If my people which are called by my name shall humble themselves and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from Heaven and will forgive their sin and will heal their land."

He emphasized that the Hebrew children's prosperity depended on meeting certain conditions and that God works by a plan as is proven in creation. The evangelist also pointed out that he was "old fashioned enough to believe that God made man, and that we did not spring from apes or monkeys.'

"Furthermore," he assorted, "God's plans for salvation have never changed nor never will be changed.

"The church," the evangelist said, "has, to a large extent, lost its prestige among the men and women on the outside world."

The text, he pointed out, lays down four conditions, all of which must be met: "Humble yourselves; that my people pray; seek my face; and turn from your wicked ways."

The revivals will continue throughout the week, open to the public, according to announcement by Rev. E. L. Zachman, pastor.

Local D. of A. Plans Thanksgiving Fete In Parish House

HIGH TO HOLD 'PEP' MEETING

Tuesday Session Sponsored by Kiwanis Club.

Wellsville High school students and alumni will hold a "pep" meeting tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the high school auditorium with members of the high school football team as chief guests, as a preparatory event to the Thanksgiving football clash with East Liverpool.

The affair will be sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

The program will include speeches by players, alumni, school and Kiwanis club officials, Coach Earl Klinck and others; yells, singing and orchestra music.

Following the "pep" meeting, alumni will convene for the purpose of discussing plans for the annual mid-winter banquet and meeting.

Farmhand Held for Double Slaying in Jefferson County

William Bowser, farmhand, charged with the murder of Nellie Hernon and her brother on a farm near Steubenville last March 2, arrested in the Union Mission at Canton Sunday morning by Canton police, has been turned over to authorities of Jefferson county and was taken back to that jurisdiction last night.

Bowser, charged by detectives with committing the crimes, denied his guilt.

"I didn't do it," he repeated monotonously to every question put to him concerning the slayings.

Bowser is charged with having killed Miss Hernon and then criminally assaulted the body after death and with having hung the body to a rafter. He is charged, also, with having killed her brother with a mattox, striking him down from behind. The bodies were found two days after the killings.

Bowser told Canton detectives he had cashed his pay check at a butcher shop in Randal, near the scene of the murders and then, having bought a suit of underwear at a store, of changing his underclothing on the outskirts of the village. The discarded underwear was found, covered with blood, by Jefferson county authorities.

The prisoner said he had worked on various farms in Ohio and Indiana since March. He recently worked on a farm near Dalton, about 12 miles west of this city and came into Canton Saturday night. He had little money and sought cheap lodgings at the Union Mission.

Canton police had a tip he was in the city and three policemen were sent to arrest him Sunday morning.

GLEANERS' END MEMBER CONTEST

Gleaners' Sunday school class of the Second Presbyterian church met recently in the church basement, the [illegible] membership contest.

The winners, captained by Isabel Runyon, were guests of the losers, headed by Dora Lewis, at a supper prepared by the latter.

Honor guests were Mrs. Helen Metz and Mrs. Anna Williamson, recent newlyweds.

The class presented them with a number of gifts.

Games were the chief diversion.

ROLL CALL HERE SUCCESSFUL, LEADERS SAY

Four Boy Scout Troops Canvas Entire City.

CONTINUE WORK

Final Reports to be Made on Tuesday Night.

That the annual Red Cross roll call campaign, launched yesterday by four Wellsville Boy Scout troops, will be successful was the expectation of leaders of the movement here today following reports from the 120 or more youths who canvassed the city.

Definite figures on the results of the first day's solicitation were not available, campaign leaders announced, and there will probably be no check-up made until tomorrow night when the major part of the drive will have been completed.

The Scouts will turn their reports in to their troop leaders who, in turn, will submit them to Rev. R. W. Ustick, chairman of the Red Cross.

COTERIE MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

Members of the Calendar Coterie club of the Second Presbyterian church will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the church basement.

The hostesses will be Mrs. Mae Aughinbaugh, Mrs. Thomas Berger, Mrs. H. Bowers and Mrs. John Casselman.

Mrs. Robert Gibson will lead the devotionals.

Irondale Schools Will Show Coogan Film Tuesday Night

Pupils of the first grade of the Irondale schools staged a "Tom Tumb Wedding" in the school gym Friday evening. The school's share of the proceeds, amounting to approximately $35 will be used to purchase kindergarten chairs and other needed equipment.

"Peck's Bad Boy," featuring Jackie Coogan, will be the fourth of the school's series of pictures to be shown at the school gym on Tuesday evening. A government film, "Play Safe," will also be shown and music will be furnished by Black's orchestra.

The local schools will dismiss on Wednesday afternoon for the Thanksgiving vacation. Sessions will resume the following Monday.

EAGLES OPEN MEMBER DRIVE

Hear Address by Lodge Official at Sunday Meet.

Officers of Columbiana Aerie, No. 772, Fraternal Order of Eagles, today announced the completion of plans for a membership drive which will be launched in the near future.

Arrangements were discussed at a special meeting of the lodgemen yesterday afternoon in the rooms in upper Main street.

M. A. Farley, of Kansas City, an official of the order, addressed the lodge.

Special dispensation, it was announced, has been granted the Wellsville aerie to open the charter for a period of two weeks.

The regular meeting of the lodge, scheduled for Thursday night, has been advanced to Wednesday.

EAST END P. T. A. TO BE FORMED

Organization of a Parent-Teachers' association, similar to those in existence at the Central and West End school buildings, will be effected at a meeting of parents and instructors in the East End building tonight.

Miss Freda Furrer, principal will preside. The chief address will be delivered by F. L. Wells, who will discuss "Thrift."

Mrs. R. F. Burlingame's first grade pupils will entertain with a game. Third grade pupils will sing "November."

Three recitations are also on the program, including "The Mice of Thanksgiving," by Earl Shope; "Little Paul's Thanksgiving," by David Hoover; and "A Boy's Thanksgiving," by John Joseph.

Fourth grade pupils will render a dialogue, "The Pilgrims."

Woman Sees Purse Picked Up; Too Late To Get it Back

Too late to stop the getaway of a man in an automobile who picked up a purse dropped by a woman boarding a street car, Chief of Police John Fultz today announced that the identity of the man is known to police, as well as the automobile number, and that if the purse is not returned to its owner by 6 o'clock tomorrow night, warrent for an arrest will be issued.

The purse, containing $32 in money, a bank book, and her name and address, was dropped by Mrs. Cuti, of Sixteenth and Main street, as she got on an eastbound street car at Fifteenth and Main streets this morning at 9:30 o'clock.

In the car Mrs. Cuti discovered her loss. She notified the motorman and he stopped at the next square. On her way back to the point where she had boarded the car, Mrs. Cuti met Chief Fultz, walking, and notified him of her loss. Both, it is said, saw a small closed car stop at the street intersection. A man got out, picked up the purse and then drove away.

LINE WORKER ELECTROCUTED AT STRATTON

Body Comes in Contact With High Tension Current.

30,000 VOLT WIRE

Knocked to Ground, Feet Below by Shock.

Walter Cook, 23, of Fourth and Logan streets, Steubenville, was killed at 7 o'clock Sunday evening when he accidentally came in contact with a high tension wire at the Stratton plant of the Ohio Valley Electric and Power company.

Cook was at work on a tower and was about to throw a switch when his body brushed a line carrying 30,000 volts. He was knocked to the ground 15 feet below and was dead when picked up a moment later.

He came to Steubenville several months ago from New Cumberland. He is survived by a wife and a three weeks old baby. According to witnesses Cook was engaged in regular work when the tragedy occurred. A coroner's verdict of death by accident is expected today.

MRS. HALL'S BROTHER SUPPORTS ALIBI DEFENSE

HENRY STEVENS' COOK CALLED AT SOMERVILLE

Says She Prepared Supper on Night of Killings.

FISHING STORY

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

COURTHOUSE SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 22.—Alibi witnesses for Henry Stevens, who with his brother and sister, is accused of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills came to the witness stand one after another at Hall-Mills trial today and testified they saw Stevens fishing on the beach at Lavallette, N. J., on the night of the crime.

All of the alibi witnesses were subjected to a severe cross-examination by Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson, but they stuck to their stories.

Stevens himself had taken the stand on Saturday and testified he was in Lavallette fishing on the night of September 14, 1922, the night the murders were committed in De Russey's lane near New Brunswick, 50 miles away.

COURTHOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Anna Evanson, who was cook in the home of Henry Stevens at Lavalette, N. J., was called to the stand as the first witness when the Hall-Mills murder trial was resumed today.

She testified that on the evening of Thursday, Sept. 14, 1922, the night the murders occurred she got supper for Henry Stevens. Mrs. Stevens was away in New York.

"Was Henry Stevens present?" she was asked.

"He was," she said.

Stevens, on the stand in his own defense Saturday had testified that he was in Lavalette, 50 miles from the scene of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills on the night of Sept. 14, 1922.

"What time did you cook supper for [illegible]?" Case asked.

"About 6 o'clock."

"What time did you leave Mr. Stevens' home?"

"About 7 o'clock."

"Was he still there?"

"He was."

Washed Fishing Clothes.

Mrs. Evanson was asked what Stevens did after supper.

"He went fishing," she replied.

"On Friday morning, when did you get there"?

"About 9:30.

"Did you wash his fishing clothes?"

"I did."

She said she got his lunch and his supper on Friday.

Mrs. Evanson said she was over at Stevens' home on Saturday too.

Prosecutor Alexander Simpson then took the witness over for cross examination.

"Did anybody talk to you about this case before you took the stand?"

"No."

Simpson walked up close to the witness and shouted:

"You mean to say that although Henry Stevens is charged with murder no one mentioned it to you?"

"Yes," she replied.

Simpson asked her to tell him what she gave Henry Stevens to eat at that 6 o'clock supper.

She couldn't remember.

Simpson Preds Witness.

The prosecutor asked her what time she saw Stevens Friday morning.

"About 9 o'clock — he was in his room."

Mrs. Marie Demarest, a witness for the state, has testified Stevens was in New Brunswick this particular Friday morning.

Simpson, over vigorous objections of the defense, tried to puzzle the witness regarding dates. She couldn't remember whether or not Stevens was home on the Thursday before September 14, 1922. She could not remember if it had rained on Thursday, Sept. 14, 1922.

Simpson asked Mrs. Evanson if she had been in hiding "since August, this year." The witness said she didn't know anything about that but she was away sick for two weeks.

"Have the Stevens family in any way aided in educating and caring for you since Sept. 14, 1922?"

"No," the elderly woman replied.

Mrs. Evanson shrank under Simpson's volley of questions. She had to be prodded an answer some of the questions.

Mrs. Evanson was excused.

Howard Price Called.

Howard Price was called. He was in the paint business in Philadelphia, and had a summer home in Lavallette.

Price testified that on the night of Sept. 14th, 1922, he saw Henry Stevens on the beach at Lavallette at 9:55 p. m.

Price testified he remembered this because Henry's name was connected with the crime in the week following.

"You say you saw Henry Stevens at 9:55 that night—now give me the name of anyone else you saw on the beach that night," Simpson demanded on cross-examination.

"I don't remember any one."

Simpson asked him why it was he didn't recognize any one else. The witness said they were too far away—50 or 60 feet.

Simpson asked Price if he spoke to Stevens that night on the beach. The witness said no. Did he know Stevens? Quite well.

Price admitted about a week before Stevens was arrested he went to him and told him he remembered seeing him in Lavallette the night of the murder.

"That's all," snapped Simpson.

Fisherman's Wife on Stand.

Mrs. Arthur Applegate, wife of a fisherman of Lavallette, was then called.

She testified that "on the night of Sept. 22, 1922, Henry Stevens went fishing with her husband about 7 in the evening."

"I saw Henry Stevens at 7 o'clock that same night," she added.

Mrs. Applegate said Henry Stevens was fishing on the beach at 7 o'clock when she and her husband went down we came back at 10 o'clock or later. I remember we said good night to Mr. Stevens."

"How do you fix the time, Mrs. Applegate?" Case asked.

"When we went in the house my husband said 'its 25 minutes to eleven."

"What took place on the beach that you remember?"

"My husband caught a blue fish and Mr. Stevens weighed it for him. It was dark and we had to have a light."

Five Corroborate Story.

Five witnesses already have testified that Stevens told the truth when he said he was fishing in Lavalette on the night Sept. 14, 1922, and the eight who are to testify today are ready to back them up.

Other Defendants to Testify.

The defense declined to reveal which of the other two defendants, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and Willie Stevens, will take the stand first. Both however will testify.

So will Felix di Martini, the private detective employed by Mrs. Hall four years ago. It was intimated by Prosecutor Alexander Simpson if Di Martini appears he will serve a warrant on him charging the detective with being an accessory to the murder Di Martini is alleged by the state to have tried to influence witnesses.

The defense has subpoenaed Fred Bloodgood, secretary to Governor Moore of New Jersey, to testify in regard to the alleged disappearance of a letter written at the direction of Mrs. Hall to Governor Edwards four years ago in which it is claimed, a request was made for a rigid investigation of the murder.

Will Hit State Accusation.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 22.—Defense attorneys in the Hall-Mills case were understood to be preparing today to launch a vigorous counter attack on the state's accusation by inferential questions that colored blood flows in the veins of Willie Stevens, one of the defendants.

The inferential charge was made by Prosecutor Alexander Simpson on Saturday when he was cross-examining Henry Stevens who had taken the stand in his own defense.

Attorneys for the defense today made no secret of the fact that they were indignant over the suggestion contained in Simpson's questions. They produced the Stevens family Bible to refute the insinuation, and may introduce the Bible as a defense exhibit. It reveals that William Carpender Stevens was the second child of Francis Kirby Stevens and Mary Noel Carpender, his wife and that he was born in Aiken, S. C., March 13, 1872.

That would make Willie 54 years old. Henry, the Bible showed, is 57, he having been born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 20, 1869. Mrs. Hall is 52. She was born in Aiken on January 13, 1874.

What? Pains in Your Side, Back and Head?

"Three years ago I had a bad spell of feminine weakness," said Mrs. L. Edwards of 128 W. 8th St., Cincinnati, Ohio. "I could hardly get up when I sat down. I had pains in back and side and my head would ache until I would have to go to bed and stay till it went away. But Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did wonders for me. I took six bottles and am glad to tell every woman that before I had taken four bottles my pains had entirely left me. It is a wonderful tonic for women."

Why is it necessary to urge a woman to take care of her health? Isn't it her most valuable asset?

FIRE DAMAGES SHAFFER HOME

Township Blaze Causes $1,500 Loss—Truck Ditched.

Fire, originating it is believed from a defective flue, caused $1,500 damage to the home of Joseph Shaffer, 706 Price street, Oakland, at 9:30 o'clock last night. The blaze started while members of the family were absent.

Firemen from the East End and Central stations, who responded to the alarm, were forced to run a line about 450 feet to the nearest fire plug. The house was located in the township just outside the corporate line.

The roof and up-stairs bedrooms in the two-story structure were badly damaged. No insurance was carried on the building, members of the fire department were told.

While returning from the fire, the Studebaker truck, housed in the East End station, skidded into a ditch on Price street. After one of the trucks from the Central station failed to extricate the machine, the McElravy wrecker was called.

The department was called to the No. 1 plant of the Hall China company, Fourth and Walnut streets, at 11:30 o'clock this morning to extinguish a blaze, which started it is claimed, when one of the employees used a lighted match in a search for a gas leak.

The roof in the kiln shed was charred, firemen extinguishing the blaze with water and chemicals. The sprinkling system was in operation when the firemen arrived.

Fall-Doheny Trial

Teapot Dome Inquiry Outgrowth.

Today's trial is an outgrowth of the investigation launched three years ago by Senator Walsh, (D) of Montana, into the Teapot Dome oil lease. Walsh brought out that Doheny had made an unsecured "loan" of $100,000 to Fall shortly before the signing of the Elk Hills leases, this money having been conveyed to the ex-cabinet officer by Doheny's son in cash. The "demand note" on the loan was torn his wife the signature. On the strength of this evidence, the government sued for cancellation of the leases, won its case before the U. S. court of appeals at San Francisco, and the matter is now pending before the U. S. supreme court.

Combating the conspiracy charge, the defense will allege that the $100,000 loan was not a bribe, but was, in fact, a personal transaction between two life-long friends. Fall and Doheny prospected together in their youth. Also, they will state that the lease and contracts in question actually were made by the secretary of navy in conformance with plans made by the general board, and that the interior department's only connection was in an advisory capacity under presidential order.

The $100,000, it will be explained, was used to purchase a ranch above that owned by Fall at Three Rivers, New Mexico, procurement of which was essential if Fall's water rights were to be protected. Doheny volunteered the loan, it will be said, because of friendship and a desire to prevent Fall from losing his home.

Separate Defenses.

Fall and Doheny will maintain separate defense. Thus, it is pointed out, two opening and two closing arguments may be presented.

In keeping with the times, a "million-dollar" defense will be on display. Heading Fall's counsel is Wilton J. Lambert, of Washington, with a reputation of never having lost an important case in District of Columbia criminal courts. He will be assisted by Henry A. Wise, formerly U. S. district attorney for New York; Levi Cook, of Washington, and Mark B. Thompson, of New Mexico.

Doheny's legal talent is comprised of Frank J. Hogan of Washington; Frederick J. Kellogg, of New York; Joseph J. Cotter and Harold Walker, of Washington.

Against this imposing array, the government will send in former Senator Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio, and Owen J. Roberts, of Philadelphia, appointed by President Coolidge as special oil counsel; District Attorney Peyton Gordon and all of his assistants; George G. Chandler, of Philadelphia; Frank Harrison, of Cleveland; Ulric J. Mengert, of Philadelphia; W. L. Combs of Philadelphia, and Lowell Turrentine and John B. Dempsey, of Cleveland.

King's Condition

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 22.—"Neat diplomacy," was the manner in which city officials today expressed their reactions to the visit yesterday of Prince Nicholas, of Roumania.

The youthful son of Queen Marie spent the day here and everybody, including the faction which had threatened to uncork an embarrassing demonstration for Queen Marie on her scheduled visit, seemed satisfied.

Nicholas visited a young men's organization and then spoke before a Roumanian organization. He left at 8 p. m. for New York to rejoin the queen.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Industrial stocks were buoyant at the beginning of trading today, as the result of the improvement in the New York money situation evidenced by the $24,000,000 gain in the reserves of the banks here. The motor stocks, the steel and equipment stocks, the textiles and a few of the specialties were again the leaders in the forward movement.

A brisk advance of Baldwin Locomotive to 150 in the first period completing a gain of 33 points on the move, has again raised the question in Wall street of a possible "corner" in the stock.

IF BILIOUS, SICK OR CONSTIPATED TAKE "CASCARETS"

No headache, bad cold, sour stomach or costive bowels by morning

Get a 10-cent box now.

You're bilious! You have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you; and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet, and your head clear for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

"KING" PURNELL CELIBATE 33 YEARS, HE SAYS

House of David Leader Answers Grave Charges.

PLOT, HE CLAIMS

Denies That He Has Hidden at Benton Harbor.

(Editor's Note:—From his bed in the administration building of the House of David, "King" Benjamin Purnell, the head of the Israelites dictated the following exclusive statement to the International News Service and the Detroit Times.)

BY BENJAMIN PURNELL.

(Copyright, 1926, by I. N. S. and the Detroit Times.)

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Nov. 22.—I have lived the life of a celibate ever since I received this most holy faith, which was approximately 33 years ago. Since that time I have followed religiously toh tenets of the faith of which I am the head, and not once in that time have I known a single woman, not even my own beloved wife, Mary Purnell.

The stories of these disgruntled ex-members that I attacked them under the guise of a faithful religious rite are falsehoods. Money, the root of all evil, is behind these charges. It is blackmail pure an simple.

Takes Fling at Prosecutor.

The plot was hatched within the colony years ago by certain parties Thwarted in their ambitions to assume a position of power in the House of David they gathered a few of the weak-minded nit-wits of the colony about them and sowed the seeds of this diabolical plot in their minds.

The result the world now knows.

The remainder of these cohorts swooped down on me with their suits and false, ugly charges, and such a hue and cry was raised in the press of the nation that I knew I could not secure a fair trial then, so I fled four years ago.

The charge I have hidden here in the colony all these four years is untrue. I have been numerous places, the exact locations of which I do not care to reveal now.

Prosecutor George [illegible] declares that I dare not face Bessie Woodworth in court; that I will exercise all possible legal subterfuges to evade this criminal trial and finally will jump my bonds of $125,000.

This otherwise brilliant young man, who has gone berserk on this one subject, is wrong. I shall demand speedy justice. I shall face Bessie and all my accusers in court as quickly as possible and I certainly shall not fail by bondsmen, respected, prominent business men, whose dealings with me have convinced them of the assininity of these charges.

The allegations that I despoiled these former girl members of the colony by telling them it was a holy, religious rite whereby I gained more strength and they gained an added star in their crown is bosh.

My faith, based on the Holy Scriptures, opposes when a man and wife living together until after they have reached a stage where they are spiritually above the temptations of the flesh.

I have followed this tenent religiously. Since the day my wife, Mary, and I received the vision, we have lived together as a brother and sister. As God is my judge I have known no woman since.

It is written in the Bible that we shall be visited by such persecutions as I am now suffering, just before the judgment day when all but the faithful-elect shall die, and I have been expecting this for years, but I shall be vindicated.

of pictures and by pictures we should teach them, astronomy especially, only pictures can make it clear and interesting to be the unimaginative mind.

THE immediate cause of Uncle Joe Cannon's death was a cold. Old men and women, take notice. Colds are deadly, weakening every one of the billions of cells that make up the body, lowering the power of resistance, bringing death.

JAPAN'S emperor, Yoshihito, is dying, takes only liquid food, and doctors have silenced his radio. Being related to the sun and moon, means little, if you can't eat or hear music.

The worst is that Japanese politeness requires many to suffer when a great one suffers. The mayor of Hayama, where the mikado lives, orders geisha girls to stop their dancing.

"Peaches" Browning Gets $300 Weekly Alimony, $8,500 Fees

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Frances "Peaches" Browning today was granted $300 weekly alimony and $8,500 counsel fees pending trial of her millionaire husband's suit for separation.

Supreme Court Justice Morschauser, in announcing his decision, stated that the counsel fees should be paid within ten days of service of notice on Browning. "Peaches" had asked for $4,000 monthly alimony and $25,000 counsel fees.

TWO ARE KILLED AT CROSSING

ELYRIA, O., Nov. 22. — Richard Emig, 43, and his wife, Mrs. Ada Emig, 40, formerly of Detroit, killed in a grade crossing crash here last night, were identified today.

Emig formerly was an automobile engineer for the Cadillac Company of Detroit, but for the past three years had been employed by the Peerless Motor corporation of Cleveland. The couple was driving from Detroit but for the past three years had been employed by the Peerless Motor Car corporation of Cleveland. The couple was driving from Detroit to Cleveland when their car was struck by a Baltimore & Ohio freight train at a crossing here. They had no children.

STUDER LEAVES CELL TO TELL STORY TO JURY

Canton Underworld Figure Appears at Federal Quiz

RUM INQUIRY

Serving Term as Disorderly House Operator.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 22. — Carl Studer, former Canton underworld character who is serving a term in the Ohio state penitentiary as the operator of a disorderly house was scheduled to arrive here at 1:30 p. m. today, and appear immediately before the federal grand jury, in connection with an investigation of the Canton liquor traffic, Federal District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen announced.

Studer was subpoenaed last week, when testimony elicited from other witnesses in the rum probe indicated he might have valuable information for the federal probers.

The bootleg ring which is under investigation is said to include in its roster Studer, Ben Nadel and Dan Pfaff, and numerous others of Canton and Cleveland. The last two named were arrested here on information divulged during an investigation of the concealment of Pat McDermott, under indictment in the Mellett murder case, in Cleveland for several months while police all over the nation sought him.

Just what information Studer is expected to have was not divulged by Bernsteen in anticipation of the returning of indictments by the grand jury.

Bible Literary Club Session.

Mrs. Harry T. Logan received the members of the Bible Literary club Saturday afternoon at her home in West Fourth street. Twenty four members responded to roll call by quoting from favorite hymns.

"The Reformation Under Luther" was the topoi of a paper read by Mrs. J. T. Williamson. The superstition and indulgences of the people were the principal thoughts.

Knox's Contribution to the Reformation" was described by Mrs. F. G. Fowler. His first call; nineteen months as a gallery slave; the covenant; the abdication of the queen, and the death of Knox formed the main topics.

A biographical sketch of "The Seraphic Watts," by Mrs. W. L. Taylor, was read by Mrs. H. F. Laughlin. It told of his education and the inspiration of his glorious hymns.

Luther's hymn, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," was read by Mrs. B. D. Kenney. A chorus by the club concluded the program.

Mrs. John Rinehart was a special guest.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Maud Baum in West Seventh street, December 4.

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I have proved that beauty can be multiplied, youth can be extended. For 40 years I have searched the ways, largely through the scientists of France. They made me a famous beauty, gained me a glorious career. And they have kept my youth. At a grandmother's age, thousands see me daily on the stage looking like a girl.

I am placing the best helps I have found at every woman's call. All toilet counters supply them. Each one combines a number of the best helps known.

One is my White Youth Clay. I have seen it bring to countless girls multiplied beauty in one-half hour. And many women, in 30 minutes, seem to drop ten years. I want all to learn what White Youth Clay can do for them, and quickly.

Another is my Youth Cream. It combines in one cream a dozen of the best helps I have found. It fosters, feeds and protects the skin like nothing else I know. Night or day, I never go an hour without it. Nor should you.

Another is my Face Powder—the finest powder we have found in Movieдom and Stagedom. I used to pay $5 per box to obtain it. Now the makers supply it to you, in my name, at very little prices.

If you want the utmost in beauty, at any age, I urge you to try them

Hardships of Miners In Great Coal Strike Are Now Felt Keenly

CARDIFF—The terrible hardships endured by miners' families in the long-drawn-out coal strike are now coming to light.

In the little sunless, blackened town of South Wales straggling on mountain sides and sunk in gloomy valleys with tortuous streets, and unbelievable houses the sufferings of men, women and children are now plainly to be seen.

It needs a race touched with fanaticism to undergo the privations that these Welsh miners and their families have endured. This has not been a case of a few individuals being struck with poverty. It is that of whole districts who have lost, absolutely everything that belonged to them. The strike has left everyone penniless—lawyers, doctors, mine operators down to the humblest mine worker.

There are tradesmen who, six months ago, were comparatively prosperous, having a turnover of $500 per week. Many of these are now dependent on parish relief. Nobody has any money wherewith to buy. The big suppliers have cut off the usual quota of goods.

SYNOPSIS.

Julian Reed is wandering southern California in his little roadster. He is aimless and amiable. At luncheon in a small restaurant he meets, by chance, a charming, rather wistful young woman. She has missed connections with a troupe of vagabonding actors and he offers, in suite of his natural bashfulness, to drive her to the troupe's next stopping place, La Jolla. She accepts his offer. He tries to "explain" himself. He has money, but is suffering from a bad case of "dual personality.' He is obviously greatly bothered about something, some conflict' within himself. She, like Julian, is from the East. They overtake and pass the trucks bearing the rest of the troupe. As they stop for dinner, the others come in. Julian meets Watt, the chief of the "Wayside Theatre;" Sadie, an ex-chorus girl trouper, and the rest of the cast. Julian comes to the rescue of the troupe financially. Sadie attaches herself to him, frankly captivated by his addness and quaint charm. Sadies tells him of Hester, how she risked everything to try for the leading role in a movie of a play written by one "Robert Johns," failed and joined the troupe as a last resort. Julian and Hester out in the little car after the nights performance find themselves alone on a road by the sea. He tells her how much he liked her acting and how to him she is the embodiment of youth. She tells him of her failures and of how she feels she is now too old to succeed. At the last he kisses her.

CHAPTER SEVEN.

He was awakened by the stage hands. They were cooking their breakfast on a portable stove. It was after eight. When he lifted his head, they smiled at him and offered a cheerful, good morning. The stage manager asked if he wouldn't share their bacon and eggs and coffee. It was pleasant to be accepted as one of the troupe. They treated him with a rather surprising deference.

The fat man was waiting out in front of one of the folding chairs. It seemed unnecessary to waken Mr. Watt, who was always slow to rouse, the stage manager said. Accordingly Reed drove into San Diego without him and paid off the balance due on the car. The man gave him a receipt. When he returned, the others of the troupe had finished breakfast and were packing up. All who saw him greeted him with marked cordiality. All but Hester. So saw her striking her cot behind the woman's tent, and thought she saw him . . certainly she looked in his direction . . . . but she didn't return his shy smile. She looked tired, he thought. Had he dreamed that glowing episode of the silent hour by the sea? It almost seemed so.

He was wiping off his car when Sadie came over.

"Seems to me you and Hester were out pretty late," she remarked, with a sly smile.

She sat on the ground and watched him.

"The beans are spilled," she remarked, after a silence.

He looked down at her puzzled.

"Eevrybody knows this morning."

Still he failed to catch her meaning. His wits were wandering by a vast dim ocean.

"About the money. Hester knows."

"Oh!"

Sadie nodded emphatically. "You see the position it puts her in."

"Why . . . . no. Not exactly."

"Everybody else does. I'm afraid she's pretty mad."

He considered this. It was difficult for him to get down to earth. He had gone through the transaction at the bank while dwelling in an uncertain but golden haze of memory.

"I told you she was funny."

A slow day passed before the truth finally penetrated. When he tried to approach Hester she smiled vaguely, mournfully even, but walked away. Always she was with one or another group. Sadie and the actor named Lester rode into San Diego with him. They and the others made much of him. Mr. Watt sought him out during the afternoon and talked with a lingering and splendid relish of the good old days when there was an art of the theater.

By the next day it was plain even to his unsuspecting mind that Hester had turned flatly against him. In the afternoon Sadie rode alone with him around the rim of the splendid harbor and past the city of cottages and camps to Coronado Beach. He didn't know quite how it worked out that way. Certainly he didn't ask her. But there she was, at leaving time, by his car. He wasn't sorry, however, to have her along. His own thoughts were difficult company. And Sadie's almost boyish sympathy warmed his heart. She snuggled by his side and chattered along like the friendly little gamin she was.

They had nearly reached the hotel when she broke out with:

"Has she spoken to you at all, Julian?"

Mournfully he shook his head.

"Hmm! That's what the boys were saying."

"You don't mean to say that they . . . . ."

"Oh, they talk. They would. No harm in that. Everybody's wondering what happened on that ride."

He was silent.

"I can't make her out myself. I told you she was funny. Even if you have fallen for her pretty hard, you've been so wonderful about things . . . . Listen, has Murry Watt given you that note?"

He shook his head again. "But that's all right."

"All right? My God, do you know how much that man owes?"

"No, but . . . ."

"Say, doesn't money mean ANYTHING to you?"

"Why, of course, but . . . you see, money isn't . . . ."

"Stop the car here. I want to look at the ocean. Wonderful, isn't it! See all the girls on the beach. One thing, don't worry about one-piece bathing suits out here. All the crowd'll be going in before dinner. Want to come along?"

"I don't think so. I rather think I'll go away for a few days."

"Oh, I wouldn't do that.'

"Well, I've been working out a plan. There may be something I can do that'll help a little."

"Help? My God!"

"I don't think you understand. If I've done the wrong thing, at least I can . . . ."

"Listen!" she said, sliding her arm through his. "This thing hit you pretty quick, didn't it?"

JAMES DRAGO IS FINED $408 BY MAYOR FOGO

Chief Fultz Leads Squad to Rear of Fruit Store.

LIQUID FOUND

Merchant Spends Several Hours Behind Jail Bars.

Confiscating one of the largest stills seized here in recent years, police Saturday arrested James Drago, Third street fruit dealer, on a charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor, and at a subsequent hearing before Mayor Fogo, Drago paid a fine of $408.

The raiding squad, comprising Chief of Police John Fultz, Patrolman Pugh, Officer Duncan and Patrol Drivers Hickman and Alcock, entered Drago's place Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

When a warrant was served on Drago, the latter, it is said, accerted that he had nothing in his place. A search revealed the still, which police say, had been in operation only a short time before, in a room in the rear of the fruit stand.

The still was estimated to be of 75-gallon capacity. The still, together with accessory equipment, such as burners, hose, etc., was taken to the city hall. In addition police confiscated 16 barrels of liquid, strained from the mash, which was ready for conversion into the finished product, and 120 one-gallon jugs, all empty.

Drago was taken to the city hall and remained in jail several hours before friends raised sufficient money to meet his fine.

R. J. MATTHEWSON, AGED 69, IS DEAD

Robert J. Matthewson, 60 years old, of Second street, died Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock in the East Liverpool hospital after a lingering illness of complications.

He was a native of England.

In addition to his wife he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Frank Kindle, of Wellsville; and Mrs. William Wolfe, of Cumberland, Md. Eleven grand children are living.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Frank Kindle, Second street, in charge of Rev. E. L. Zachman, pastor of the Evangelical church. Burial will be made in Spring Hill cemetery.

Plan Christmas Bazaar.

Arrangements are under way for the annual Christmas bazaar which will be held by the Delta Alpha Sunday school class on the First Christian church on December 3 and 4 in the Ford garage, Main street. A parcel post sale will be held in connection with the bazaar.

Evangelist H. A. Frye Launches Revivals at Evangelical Church

Says He's "Old Fashioned Enough to Believe That God Made Man, and That We Did Not Spring From Apes or Monkeys."

Evangelist H. A. Frye Sunday launched annual revival services in the First Evangelical church here, discussing, at the morning services, the need of such revival. He chose, as his text, Psalm 85, verse six, "Wilt Thou Not Revive Us Again, That Thy People May Rejoice in Thee?"

He described how a revival affects the church and how it affects the world.

He referred to Babson as saying that the only thing that will save America, is an old fashioned revival.

Evangelist Frye said that people who turn the church down or neglect the church and its duties, in reality turn God down. "There are only two kinds of people in Wellsville who have a right to God's throne," he said, "and they are those who are right with God and those of penitent souls."

Evening services were well attended. The evangelist took as his text, "God's Program," from Chronicles 7-14: "If my people which are called by my name shall humble themselves and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from Heaven and will forgive their sin and will heal their land."

He emphasized that the Hebrew children's prosperity depended on meeting certain conditions and that God works by a plan as is proven in creation. The evangelist also pointed out that he was "old fashioned enough to believe that God made man, and that we did not spring from apes or monkeys.'

"Furthermore," he asserted, "God's plans for salvation have never changed nor never will be changed.

"The church," the evangelist said, "has, to a large extent, lost its prestige among the men and women on the outside world."

The text, he pointed out, lays down four conditions, all of which must be met: "Humble yourselves; that my people pray; seek my face; and turn from your wicked ways."

The revivals will continue throughout the week, open to the public, according to announcement by Rev. E. L. Zachman, pastor.

Local D. of A. Plans Thanksgiving Fete In Parish House

Queen of Ohio council, No. 141, Daughters of America, will hold a Thanksgiving party on Friday evening in the Church of Ascension parish house in Eleventh and Center streets. The party will start at 8 o'clock.

A musical program will be the chief feature of the entertainment. Members of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, as well as Daughters of America, and their friends will attend.

HIGH TO HOLD 'PEP' MEETING

Tuesday Session Sponsored by Kiwanis Club.

Wellsville High school students and alumni will hold a "pep" meeting tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the high school auditorium with members of the high school football team as chief guests, as a preparatory event to the Thanksgiving football clash with East Liverpool.

The affair will be sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

The program will include speeches by players, alumni, school and Kiwanis club officials, Coach Earl Klinck and others; yells, singing and orchestra music.

Following the "pep" meeting, alumni will convene for the purpose of discussing plans for the annual mid-winter banquet and meeting.

Farmhand Held for Double Slaying in Jefferson County

William Bowser, farmhand, charged with the murder of Nellie Hernon and her brother on a farm near Steubenville last March 2, arrested in the Union Mission at Canton Sunday morning by Canton police, has been turned over to authorities of Jefferson county and was taken back to that jurisdiction last night.

Bowser, charged by detectives with committing the crimes, denied his guilt.

"I didn't do it," he repeated monotonously to every question put to him concerning the slayings.

Bowser is charged with having killed Miss Hernon and then criminally assaulted the body after death and with having hung the body to a rafter. He is charged, also, with having killed her brother with a mattox, striking him down from behind. The bodies were found two days after the killings.

Bowser told Canton detectives he had cashed his pay check at a butcher shop in Randal, near the scene of the murders and then, having bought a suit of underwear at a store, of changing his underclothing on the outskirts of the village. The discarded underwear was found, covered with blood, by Jefferson county authorities.

The prisoner said he had worked on various farms in Ohio and Indiana since March. He recently worked on a farm near Dalton, about 12 miles west of this city and came into Canton Saturday night. He had little money and sought cheap lodgings at the Union Mission.

Canton police had a tip he was in the city and three policemen were sent to arrest him Sunday morning.

GLEANERS' END MEMBER CONTEST

Gleaners' Sunday school class of the Second Presbyterian church met recently in the church basement, the [illegible] membership contest.

The winners, captained by Isabel Runyon, were guests of the losers, headed by Dora Lewis, at a supper prepared by the latter.

Honor guests were Mrs. Helen Metz and Mrs. Anna Williamson, recent newlyweds.

The class presented them with a number of gifts.

Games were the chief diversion.

Pilmer Funeral Held Sunday.

Funeral services for George Pilmer, former C. & P. railroad conductor, were held yesterday afternoon in the family residence in Maple avenue, in charge of Rev. Thomas Berger, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church. Burial was made in Spring Hill cemetery.

ROLL CALL HERE SUCCESSFUL, LEADERS SAY

Four Boy Scout Troops Canvas Entire City.

CONTINUE WORK

Final Reports to be Made on Tuesday Night.

That the annual Red Cross roll call campaign, launched yesterday by four Wellsville Boy Scout troops, will be successful was the expectation of leaders of the movement here today following reports from the 120 or more youths who canvassed the city.

Definite figures on the results of the first day's solicitation were not available, campaign leaders announced, and there will probably be no check-up made until tomorrow night when the major part of the drive will have been completed.

The Scouts will turn their reports in to their troop leaders who, in turn, will submit them to Rev. R. W. Ustick, chairman of the Red Cross.

COTERIE MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

Members of the Calendar Coterie club of the Second Presbyterian church will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the church basement.

The hostesses will be Mrs. Mae Aughinbaugh, Mrs. Thomas Berger, Mrs. H. Bowers and Mrs. John Casselman.

Mrs. Robert Gibson will lead the devotionals.

Irondale Schools Will Show Coogan Film Tuesday Night

Pupils of the first grade of the Irondale schools staged a "Tom Tcumb Wedding" in the school gym Friday evening. The school's share of the proceeds, amounting to approximately $35 will be used to purchase kindergarten chairs and other needed equipment.

"Peck's Bad Boy," featuring Jackie Coogan, will be the fourth of the school's series of pictures to be shown at the school gym on Tuesday evening. A government film, "Play Safe," will also be shown and music will be furnished by Black's orchestra.

The local schools will dismiss on Wednesday afternoon for the Thanksgiving vacation. Sessions will resume the following Monday.

EAGLES OPEN MEMBER DRIVE

Hear Address by Lodge Official at Sunday Meet.

Officers of Columbiana Aerie, No. 772, Fraternal Order of Eagles, today announced the completion of plans for a membership drive which will be launched in the near future.

Arrangements were discussed at a special meeting of the lodgemen yesterday afternoon in the rooms in upper Main street.

M. A. Farley, of Kansas City, an official of the order, addressed the lodge.

Special dispensation, it was announced, has been granted the Wellsville aerie to open the charter for a period of two weeks.

The regular meeting of the lodge, scheduled for Thursday night, has been advanced to Wednesday.

EAST END P. T. A. TO BE FORMED

Organization of a Parent-Teachers' association, similar to those in existence at the Central and West End school buildings, will be effected at a meeting of parents and instructors in the East End building tonight.

Miss Freda Furrer, principal will preside. The chief address will be delivered by F. L. Wells, who will discuss "Thrift."

Mrs. R. F. Burlingame's first grade pupils will entertain with a game. Third grade pupils will sing "November."

Three recitations are also on the program, including "The Mice of Thanksgiving," by Earl Shope; "Little Paul's Thanksgiving," by David Hoover; and "A Boy's Thanksgiving," by John Joseph.

Fourth grade pupils will render a dialogue, "The Pilgrims."

Woman Sees Purse Picked Up; Too Late To Get it Back

Too late to stop the getaway of a man in an automobile who picked up a purse dropped by a woman boarding a street car, Chief of Police John Fultz today announced that the identity of the man is known to police, as well as the automobile number, and that if the purse is not returned to its owner by 6 o'clock tomorrow night, warrent for an arrest will be issued.

The purse, containing $32 in money, a bank book, and her name and address, was dropped by Mrs. Cuti, of Sixteenth and Main street, as she got on an eastbound street car at Fifteenth and Main streets this morning at 9:30 o'clock.

In the car Mrs. Cuti discovered her loss. She notified the motorman and he stopped at the next square. On her way back to the point where she had boarded the car, Mrs. Cuti met Chief Fultz, walking, and notified him of her loss. Both, it is said, saw a small closed car stop at the street intersection. A man got out, picked up the purse and then drove away.

LINE WORKER ELECTROCUTED AT STRATTON

Body Comes in Contact With High Tension Current.

30,000 VOLT WIRE

Knocked to Ground, 15 Feet Below by Shock.

Walter Cook, 23, of Fourth and Logan streets, Steubenville, was killed at 7 o'clock Sunday evening when he accidentally came in contact with a high tension wire at the Stratton plant of the Ohio Valley Electric and Power company.

Cook was at work on a tower and was about to throw a switch when his body brushed a line carrying 30,000 volts. He was knocked to the ground 15 feet below and was dead when picked up a moment later.

He came to Steubenville several months ago from New Cumberland. He is survived by a wife and a three weeks old baby. According to witnesses Cook was engaged in regular work when the tragedy occurred. A coroner's verdict of death by accident is expected today.

Farmhand Held for Double Slaying in Jefferson County

William Bowser, farmhand, charged with the murder of Nellie Hernon and her brother on a farm near Steubenville last March 2, arrested in the Union Mission at Canton Sunday morning by Canton police, has been turned over to authorities of Jefferson county and was taken back to that jurisdiction last night.

Bowser, charged by detectives with committing the crimes, denied his guilt.

"I didn't do it," he repeated monotonously to every question put to him concerning the slayings.

Bowser is charged with having killed Miss Hernon and then criminally assaulted the body after death and with having hung the body to a rafter. He is charged, also, with having killed her brother with a mattox, striking him down from behind. The bodies were found two days after the killings.

Bowser told Canton detectives he had cashed his pay check at a butcher shop in Randal, near the scene of the murders and then, having bought a suit of underwear at a store, of changing his underclothing on the outskirts of the village. The discarded underwear was found, covered with blood, by Jefferson county authorities.

The prisoner said he had worked on various farms in Ohio and Indiana since March. He recently worked on a farm near Dalton, about 12 miles west of this city and came into Canton Saturday night. He had little money and sought cheap lodgings at the Union Mission.

Canton police had a tip he was in the city and three policemen were sent to arrest him Sunday morning.

GLEANERS' END MEMBER CONTEST

Gleaners' Sunday school class of the Second Presbyterian church met recently in the church basement, the membership contest.

The winners, captained by Isabel Runyon, were guests of the losers, headed by Dora Lewis, at a supper prepared by the latter.

Honor guests were Mrs. Helen Metz and Mrs. Anna Williamson, recent newlyweds.

The class presented them with a number of gifts.

Games were the chief diversion.

Pilmer Funeral Held Sunday.

Funeral services for George Pilmer, former C. & P. railroad conductor, were held yesterday afternoon in the family residence in Maple avenue, in charge of Rev. Thomas Berger, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church. Burial was made in Spring Hill cemetery.

ROLL CALL HERE SUCCESSFUL, LEADERS SAY

Four Boy Scout Troops Canvas Entire City.

CONTINUE WORK

Final Reports to be Made on Tuesday Night.

That the annual Red Cross roll call campaign, launched yesterday by four Wellsville Boy Scout troops, will be successful was the expectation of leaders of the movement here today following reports from the 120 or more youths who canvassed the city.

Definite figures on the results of the first day's solicitation were not available, campaign leaders announced, and there will probably be no check-up made until tomorrow night when the major part of the drive will have been completed.

The Scouts will turn their reports in to their troop leaders who, in turn, will submit them to Rev. R. W. Ustick, chairman of the Red Cross.

COTERIE MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

Members of the Calendar Goterie club of the Second Presbyterian church will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the church basement.

The hostesses will be Mrs. Mae Aughinbaugh, Mrs. Thomas Berger, Mrs. H. Bowers and Mrs. John Casselman.

Mrs. Robert Gibson will lead the devotionals.

Irondale Schools Will Show Coogan Film Tuesday Night

Pupils of the first grade of the Irondale schools staged a "Tom Thumb Wedding" in the school gym Friday evening. The school's share of the proceeds, amounting to approximately $35 will be used to purchase kindergarten chairs and other needed equipment.

"Peck's Bad Boy," featuring Jackie Coogan, will be the fourth of the school's series of pictures to be shown at the school gym on Tuesday evening. A government film, "Play Safe," will also be shown and music will be furnished by Black's orchestra.

The local schools will dismiss on Wednesday afternoon for the Thanksgiving vacation. Sessions will resume the following Monday.

EAGLES OPEN MEMBER DRIVE

Hear Address by Lodge Official at Sunday Meet.

Officers of Columbiana Aerie, No. 772, Fraternal Order of Eagles, today announced the completion of plans for a membership drive which will be launched in the near future.

Arrangements were discussed at a special meeting of the lodgemen yesterday afternoon in the rooms in upper Main street.

M. A. Farley, of Kansas City, an official of the order, addressed the lodge.

Special dispensation, it was announced, has been granted the Wellsville aerie to open the charter for a period of two weeks.

The regular meeting of the lodge, scheduled for Thursday night, has been advanced to Wednesday.

EAST END P. T. A. TO BE FORMED

Organization of a Parent-Teachers' association, similar to those in existence at the Central and West End school buildings, will be effected at a meeting of parents and instructors in the East End building tonight.

Miss Freda Furrer, principal will preside. The chief address will be delivered by F. L. Wells, who will discuss "Thrift."

Mrs. R. F. Burlingame's first grade pupils will entertain with a game. Third grade pupils will sing "November."

Three recitations are also on the program, including "The Mice of Thanksgiving," by Earl Shope; "Little Paul's Thanksgiving," by David Hoover; and "A Boy's Thanksgiving," by John Joseph.

Fourth grade pupils will render a dialogue, "The Pilgrims."

Woman Sees Purse Picked Up; Too Late To Get it Back

Too late to stop the getaway of a man in an automobile who picked up a purse dropped by a woman boarding a street car, Chief of Police John Fultz today announced that the identity of the man is known to police, as well as the automobile number, and that if the purse is not returned to its owner by 6 o'clock tomorrow night, warrent for an arrest will be issued.

The purse, containing $32 in money, a bank book, and her name and address, was dropped by Mrs. Cuti, of Sixteenth and Main street, as she got on an eastbound street car at Fifteenth and Main streets this morning at 9:30 o'clock.

In the car Mrs. Cuti discovered her loss. She notified the motorman and he stopped at the next square. On her way back to the point where she had boarded the car, Mrs. Cuti met Chief Fultz, walking, and notified him of her loss. Both, it is said, saw a small closed car stop at the street intersection. A man got out, picked up the purse and then drove away.

LINE WORKER ELECTROCUTED AT STRATTON

Body Comes in Contact With High Tension Current.

30,000 VOLT WIRE

Knocked to Ground, Feet Below by Shock.

Walter Cook, 23, of Fourth and Logan streets, Steubenville, was killed at 7 o'clock Sunday evening when he accidentally came in contact with a high tension wire at the Stratton plant of the Ohio Valley Electric and Power company.

Cook was at work on a tower and was about to throw a switch when his body brushed a line carrying 30,000 volts. He was knocked to the ground 15 feet below and was dead when picked up a moment later.

He came to Steubenville several months ago from New Cumberland. He is survived by a wife and a three weeks old baby. According to witnesses Cook was engaged in regular work when the tragedy occurred. A coroner's verdict of death by accident is expected today.

"GREEN HAT" HOLIDAY SHOW

Ceramic Theatre Books Arlen's Popular Dramatization.

"The Green Hat," Michael Arlen's dramatization of his own sensational novel, will be presented at the Ceramic theatre Thanksgiving Day, matinee and night.

The play progresses through four episodes—from that Deauville morning soon after Boy Fenwick has killed himself rather than face his honeymoon, on ten years later to the night of Gerald March's death and the sweeping of Napier Harpenden and Iris into each other's arms, on through the day nine months later in the nursing home in which Iris has gone close to death in her futile desire for motherhood, and on to the time, still four months later, when on the eve of her going away with Napier she sees her dream of happiness fade and drives her roaring yellow car at 70 miles an hour into the old trysting tree at the turn of the road.

So the wistful and wondering Iris takes her leave of love and of life, and puts an end to seeking and to giving. She trailed the world like a flame, and burnt nothing but her own heart. A great character, this brave and piteous creature, much more alive in the theatre than ever she was in the novel. Four times you glimpse her—forever to remember.

"The Green Hat" has to do with those vagrant creatures which traverse the world, having nowhere to lay their heads save in uneasiness, no paths to tread save to walk on thorns, no ties to hold them save those which chafe the wrists they bind. These are the creatures who make the play, and these are the creatures who make the mystery and much of the enchantment of the world.

"The Green Hat" gives gorgeous opportunity for resplendent acting, and is one thrill after another even when the lights are out, and the hynotized audience gasping with curiosity and anticipation.

You can tell a married man if he's had three drinks. He acts so much more like a single man than a bachelor does.—Youngstown Vindicator.

MRS. HALL'S BROTHER SUPPORTS ALIBI DEFENSE

HENRY STEVENS' COOK CALLED AT SOMERVILLE

Says She Prepared Supper on Night of Killings.

FISHING STORY

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

COURTHOUSE SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 22.—Alibi witnesses for Henry Stevens, who with his brother and sister, is accused of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills came to the witness stand one after another at Hall-Mills trial today and testified they saw Stevens fishing on the beach at Lavallette, N. J., on the night of the crime.

All of the alibi witnesses were subjected to a severe cross-examination by Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson, but they stuck to their stories.

Stevens himself had taken the stand on Saturday and testified he was in Lavallette fishing on the night of September 14, 1922, the night the murders were committed in De Russey's lane near New Brunswick, 50 miles away.

COURTHOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Anna Evanson, who was cook in the home of Henry Stevens at Lavalette, N. J., was called to the stand as the first witness when the Hall-Mills murder trial was resumed today.

She testified that on the evening of Thursday, Sept. 14, 1922, the night the murders occurred she got supper for Henry Stevens. Mrs. Stevens was away in New York.

"Was Henry Stevens present?" she was asked.

"He was," she said.

Stevens, on the stand in his own defense Saturday had testified that he was in Lavalette, 50 miles from the scene of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills on the night of Sept. 14, 1922.

"What time did you cook supper for [illegible] evening?" Case asked.

"About 6 o'clock."

"What time did you leave Mr. Stevens' home?"

"About 7 o'clock."

"Was he still there?"

"He was."

Washed Fishing Clothes.

Mrs. Evanson was asked what Stevens did after supper.

"He went fishing," she replied.

"On Friday morning, when did you get there"?

"About 9:30.

"Did you wash his fishing clothes?"

"I did."

She said she got his lunch and his supper on Friday.

Mrs. Evanson said she was over at Stevens' home on Saturday too.

Prosecutor Alexander Simpson then took the witness over for cross examination.

"Did anybody talk to you about this case before you took the stand?"

"No."

Simpson walked up close to the witness and shouted:

"You mean to say that although Henry Stevens is charged with murder no one mentioned it to you?"

"Yes," she replied.

Simpson asked her to tell him what she gave Henry Stevens to eat at that 6 o'clock supper.

She couldn't remember.

Simpson Prods Witness.

The prosecutor asked her what time she saw Stevens Friday morning.

"About 9 o'clock — he was in his room."

Mrs. Marie Demarest, a witness for the state, has testified Stevens was in New Brunswick this particular Friday morning.

Simpson, over vigorous objections of the defense, tried to puzzle the witness regarding dates. She couldn't remember whether or not Stevens was home on the Thursday before September 14, 1922. She could not remember if it had rained on Thursday, Sept. 14, 1922.

Simpson asked Mrs. Evanson if she had been in hiding "since August, this year." The witness said she didn't know anything about that but she was away sick for two weeks.

"Have the Stevens family in any way aided in educating and caring for you since Sept. 14, 1922?"

"No," the elderly woman replied.

Mrs. Evanson shrank under Simpson's volley of questions. She had to be prodded an answer some of the questions.

Mrs. Evanson was excused.

Howard Price Called.

Howard Price was called. He was in the paint business in Philadelphia, and had a summer home in Lavallette.

Price testified that on the night of Sept. 14th, 1922, he saw Henry Stevens on the beach at Lavallette at 9:55 p. m.

Price testified he remembered this because Henry's name was connected with the crime in the week following.

"You say you saw Henry Stevens at 9:55 that night—now give me the name of anyone else you saw on the beach that night," Simpson demanded on cross-examination.

"I don't remember any one."

Simpson asked him why it was he didn't recognize any one else. The witness said they were too far away—50 or 60 feet.

Simpson asked Price if he spoke to Stevens that night on the beach. The witness said no. Did he know Stevens? Quite well.

Price admitted about a week before Stevens was arrested he went to him and told him he remembered seeing him in Lavallette the night of the murder.

"That's all," snapped Simpson.

Fisherman's Wife on Stand.

Mrs. Arthur Applegate, wife of a fisherman of Lavallette, was then called.

She testified that "on the night of Sept. 22, 1922, Henry Stevens went fishing with her husband about 7 in the evening."

"I saw Henry Stevens at 7 o'clock that same night," she added.

Mrs. Applegate said Henry Stevens was fishing on the beach at 7 o'clock when she and her husband went down we came back at 10 o'clock or later. I remember we said good night to Mr. Stevens."

"How do you fix the time, Mrs. Applegate?" Case asked.

"When we went in the house my husband said 'its 25 minutes to eleven."

"What took place on the beach that you remember?"

"My husband caught a blue fish and Mr. Stevens weighed it for him. It was dark and we had to have a light."

Five Corroborate Story.

Five witnesses already have testified that Stevens told the truth when he said he was fishing in Lavalette on the night Sept. 14, 1922, and the eight who are to testify today are ready to back them up.

Other Defendants to Testify.

The defense declined to reveal which of the other two defendants, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and Willie Stevens, will take the stand first. Both however will testify.

So will Felix di Martini, the private detective employed by Mrs. Hall four years ago. It was intimated by Prosecutor Alexander Simpson if Di Martini appears he will serve a warrant on him charging the detective with being an accessory to the murder Di Martini is alleged by the state to have tried to influence witnesses.

The defense has subpoenaed Fred Bloodgood, secretary to Governor Moore of New Jersey, to testify in regard to the alleged disappearance of a letter written at the direction of Mrs. Hall to Governor Edwards four years ago in which it is claimed, a request was made for a rigid investigation of the murder.

Will Hit State Accusation.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 22.—Defense attorneys in the Hall-Mills case were understood to be preparing today to launch a vigorous counter attack on the state's accusation by inferential questions that colored blood flows in the veins of Willie Stevens, one of the defendants.

The inferential charge was made by Prosecutor Alexander Simpson on Saturday when he was cross-examining Henry Stevens who had taken the stand in his own defense.

Attorneys for the defense today made no secret of the fact that they were indignant over the suggestion contained in Simpson's questions. They produced the Stevens family Bible to refute the insinuation, and may introduce the Bible as a defense exhibit. It reveals that William Carpender Stevens was the second child of Francis Kirby Stevens and Mary Noel Carpender, his wife and that he was born in Aiken, S. C., March 13, 1872.

That would make Willie 54 years old. Henry, the Bible showed, is 57, he having been born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 20, 1869. Mrs. Hall is 52. She was born in Aiken on January 13, 1874.

What? Pains in Your Side, Back and Head?

"Three years ago I had a bad spell of feminine weakness," said Mrs. L. R. Edwards of 128 W. 8th St., Cincinnati, Ohio. "I could hardly get up when I sat down. I had pains in back and side and my head would ache until I would have to go to bed and stay until it went away. But Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did wonders for me. I took six bottles and am glad to tell every woman that before I had taken four bottles my pains had entirely left me. It is a wonderful tonic for women."

Why is it necessary to urge a woman to take care of her health? Isn't it her most valuable asset?

FIRE DAMAGES SHAFFER HOME

Township Blaze Causes $1,500 Loss—Truck Ditched.

Fire, originating it is believed from a defective flue, caused $1,500 damage to the home of Joseph Shaffer, 706 Price street, Oakland, at 9:30 o'clock last night. The blaze started while members of the family were absent.

Firemen from the East End and Central stations, who responded to the alarm, were forced to run a line about 450 feet to the nearest fire plug. The house was located in the township just outside the corporate line.

The roof and up-stairs bedrooms in the two-story structure were badly damaged. No insurance was carried on the building, members of the fire department were told.

While returning from the fire, the Studebaker truck, housed in the East End station, skidded into a ditch on Price street. After one of the trucks from the Central station failed to extricate the machine, the McElravy wrecker was called.

The department was called to the No. 1 plant of the Hall China company, Fourth and Walnut streets, at 11:30 o'clock this morning to extinguish a blaze, which started it is claimed, when one of the employees used a lighted match in a search for a gas leak.

The roof in the kiln shed was charred, firemen extinguishing the blaze with water and chemicals. The sprinkling system was in operation when the firemen arrived.

Fall-Doheny Trial

Teapot Dome Inquiry Outgrowth.

Today's trial is an outgrowth of the investigation launched three years ago by Senator Walsh, (D) of Montana, into the Teapot Dome oil lease. Walsh brought out that Doheny had made an unsecured "loan" of $100,000 to Fall shortly before the signing of the Elk Hills leases, this money having been conveyed to the ex-cabinet officer by Doheny's son in cash. The "demand note" on the loan was torn his wife the signature. On the strength of this evidence, the government sued for cancellation of the leases, won its case before the U. S. court of appeals at San Francisco, and the matter is now pending before the U. S. supreme court.

Combating the conspiracy charge, the defense will allege that the $100,000 loan was not a bribe, but was, in fact, a personal transaction between two life-long friends. Fall and Doheny prospected together in their youth. Also, they will state that the lease and contracts in question actually were made by the secretary of navy in conformance with plans made by the general board, and that the interior department's only connection was in an advisory capacity under presidential order.

The $100,000, it will be explained, was used to purchase a ranch above that owned by Fall at Three Rivers, New Mexico, procurement of which was essential if Fall's water rights were to be protected. Doheny volunteered the loan, it will be said, because of friendship and a desire to prevent Fall from losing his home.

Separate Defenses.

Fall and Doheny will maintain separate defense. Thus, it is pointed out, two opening and two closing arguments may be presented.

In keeping with the times, a "million-dollar" defense will be on display. Heading Fall's counsel is Wilton J. Lambert, of Washington, with a reputation of never having lost an important case in District of Columbia criminal courts. He will be assisted by Henry A. Wise, formerly U. S. district attorney for New York; Levi Cook, of Washington, and Mark B. Thompson, of New Mexico.

Doheny's legal talent is comprised of Frank J. Hogan of Washington; Frederick J. Kellogg, of New York; Joseph J. Cotter and Harold Walker, of Washington.

Against this imposing array, the government will send in former Senator Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio, and Owen J. Roberts, of Philadelphia, appointed by President Coolidge as special oil counsel; District Attorney Peyton Gordon and all of his assistants; George G. Chandler, of Philadelphia; Frank Harrison, of Cleveland; Ulric J. Mengert, of Philadelphia; W. L. Combs of Philadelphia, and Lowell Turrentine and John B. Dempsey, of Cleveland.

King's Condition

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 22.—"Neat diplomacy," was the manner in which city officials today expressed their reactions to the visit yesterday of Prince Nicholas, of Roumania.

The youthful son of Queen Marie spent the day here and everybody, including the faction which had threatened to uncork an embarrassing demonstration for Queen Marie on her scheduled visit, seemed satisfied.

Nicholas visited a young men's organization and then spoke before a Roumanian organization. He left at 8 p. m. for New York to rejoin the queen.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Industrial stocks were buoyant at the beginning of trading today, as the result of the improvement in the New York money situation evidenced by the $24,000,000 gain in the reserves of the banks here. The motor stocks, the steel and equipment stocks, the textiles and a few of the specialties were again the leaders in the forward movement.

A brisk advance of Baldwin Locomotive to 150 in the first period completing a gain of 33 points on the move, has again raised the question in Wall street of a possible "corner" in the stock.

No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you; and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet, and your head clear for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

"KING" PURNELL CELIBATE 33 YEARS, HE SAYS

House of David Leader Answers Grave Charges.

PLOT, HE CLAIMS

Denies That He Has Hidden at Benton Harbor.

(Editor's Note:—From his bed in the administration building of the House of David, "King" Benjamin Purnell, the head of the Israelites dictated the following exclusive statement to the International News Service and the Detroit Times.)

BY BENJAMIN PURNELL.

(Copyright, 1926, by I. N. S. and the Detroit Times.)

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Nov. 22.—I have lived the life of a celibate ever since I received this most holy faith, which was approximately 33 years ago. Since that time I have followed religiously teh tenets of the faith of which I am the head, and not once in that time have I known a single woman, not even my own beloved wife, Mary Purnell.

The stories of these disgruntled ex-members that I attacked them under the guise of a faithful religious rite are falsehoods. Money, the root of all evil, is behind these charges. It is blackmail pure an simple.

Takes Fling at Prosecutor.

The plot was hatched within the colony years ago by certain parties Thwarted in their ambitions to assume a position of power in the House of David they gathered a few of the weak-minded nit-wits of the colony about them and sowed the seeds of this diabolical plot in their minds.

The result the world now knows.

The remainder of these cohorts swooped down on me with their suits and false, ugly charges, and such a hue and cry was raised in the press of the nation that I knew I could not secure a fair trial then, so I filed four years ago.

The charge I have hidden here in the colony all these four years is untrue. I have been numerous places, the exact locations of which I do not care to reveal now.

Prosecutor George [illegible] declares that I dare not face Bessie Woodworth in court; that I will exercise all possible legal subterfuges to evade this criminal trial and finally will jump my bonds of $125,000.

This otherwise brilliant young man, who has gone berserk on this one subject, is wrong. I shall demand speedy justice. I shall face Bessie and all my accusers in court as quickly as possible and I certainly shall not fail by bondsmen, respected, prominent business men, whose dealings with me have convinced them of the assininity of these charges.

The allegations that I despoiled these former girl members of the colony by telling them it was a holy, religious rite whereby I gained more strength and they gained an added star in their crown is bosh.

My faith, based on the Holy Scriptures, opposes even a man and wife living together until after they have reached a stage where they are spiritually above the temptations of the flesh.

I have followed this tenent religiously. Since the day my wife, Mary, and I received the vision, we have lived together as a brother and sister. As God is my judge I have known no woman since.

It is written in the Bible that we shall be visited by such persecutions as I am now suffering, just before the judgment day when all but the faithful-elect shall die, and I have been expecting this for years, but I shall be vindicated.

TODAY

of pictures and by pictures we should teach them, astronomy especially, only pictures can make it clear and interesting to be the unimaginative mind.

THE immediate cause of Uncle Joe Cannon's death was a cold. Old men and women, take notice. Colds are deadly, weakening every one of the billions of cells that make up the body, lowering the power of resistance, bringing death.

JAPAN'S emperor, Yoshihito, is dying, takes only liquid food, and doctors have silenced his radio. Being related to the sun and moon, means little, if you can't eat or hear music.

The worst is that Japanese politeness requires many to suffer when a great one suffers. The mayor of Hayama, where the mikado lives, orders geisha girls to stop their dancing.

"Peaches" Browning Gets $300 Weekly Alimony, $8,500 Fees

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Frances "Peaches" Browning today was granted $300 weekly alimony and $8,500 counsel fees pending trial of her millionaire husband's suit for separation.

Supreme Court Justice Morschauser, in announcing his decision, stated that the counsel fees should be paid within ten days of service of notice on Browning. "Peaches" had asked for $4,000 monthly alimony and $25,000 counsel fees.

TWO ARE KILLED AT CROSSING

ELYRIA, O., Nov. 22. — Richard Emig, 43, and his wife, Mrs. Ada Emig, 40, formerly of Detroit, killed in a grade crossing crash here last night, were identified today.

Emig formerly was an automobile engineer for the Cadillac Company of Detroit, but for the past three years had been employed by the Peerless Motor corporation of Cleveland. The couple was driving from Detroit but for the past three years had been employed by the Peerless Motor Car corporation of Cleveland. The couple was driving from Detroit to Cleveland when their car was struck by a Balitimore & Ohio freight train at a crossing here. They had no children.

STUDER LEAVES CELL TO TELL STORY TO JURY

Canton Underworld Figure Appears at Federal Quiz

RUM INQUIRY

Serving Term as Disorderly House Operator.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 22. — Carl Studer, former Canton underworld character who is serving a term in the Ohio state penitentiary as the operator of a disorderly house was scheduled to arrive here at 1:30 p. m. today, and appear immediately before the federal grand jury, in connection with an investigation of the Canton liquor traffic, Federal District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen announced.

Studer was subpoenaed last week, when testimony elicited from other witnesses in the rum probe indicated he might have valuable information for the federal probers.

The bootleg ring which is under investigation is said to include in its roster Studer, Ben Nadel and Dan Pfaff, and numerous others of Canton and Cleveland. The last two named were arrested here on information divulged during an investigation of the concealment of Pat McDermott, under indictment in the Mellett murder case, in Cleveland for several months while police all over the nation sought him.

Just what information Studer is expected to have was not divulged by Bernsteen in anticipation of the returning of indictments by the grand jury.

MRS. HALL'S BROTHER SUPPORTS ALIBI DEFENSE

HENRY STEVENS' COOK CALLED AT SOMERVILLE

Says She Prepared Supper on Night of Killings.

FISHING STORY

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

COURTHOUSE SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 22.—Alibi witnesses for Henry Stevens, who with his brother and sister, is accused of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills came to the witness stand one after another at Hall-Mills trial today and testified they saw Stevens fishing on the beach at Lavallette, N. J., on the night of the crime.

All of the alibi witnesses were subjected to a severe cross-examination by Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson, but they stuck to their stories.

Stevens himself had taken the stand on Saturday and testified he was in Lavallette fishing on the night of September 14, 1922, the night the murders were committed in De Russey's lane near New Brunswick, 50 miles away.

COURTHOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Anna Evanson, who was cook in the home of Henry Stevens at Lavalette, N. J., was called to the stand as the first witness when the Hall-Mills murder trial was resumed today.

She testified that on the evening of Thursday, Sept. 14, 1922, the night the murders occurred she got supper for Henry Stevens. Mrs. Stevens was away in New York.

"Was Henry Stevens present?" she was asked.

"He was," she said.

Stevens, on the stand in his own defense Saturday had testified that he was in Lavalette, 50 miles from the scene of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills on the night of Sept. 14, 1922.

"What time did you cook supper for [illegible]?" Case asked.

"About 6 o'clock."

"What time did you leave Mr. Stevens' home?"

"About 7 o'clock."

"Was he still there?"

"He was."

Washed Fishing Clothes.

Mrs. Evanson was asked what Stevens did after supper.

"He went fishing," she replied.

"On Friday morning, when did you get there"?

"About 9:30.

"Did you wash his fishing clothes?"

"I did."

She said she got his lunch and his supper on Friday.

Mrs. Evanson said she was over at Stevens' home on Saturday too.

Prosecutor Alexander Simpson then took the witness over for cross examination.

"Did anybody talk to you about this case before you took the stand?"

"No."

Simpson walked up close to the witness and shouted:

"You mean to say that although Henry Stevens is charged with murder no one mentioned it to you?"

"Yes," she replied.

Simpson asked her to tell him what she gave Henry Stevens to eat at that 6 o'clock supper.

She couldn't remember.

Simpson Prods Witness.

The prosecutor asked her what time she saw Stevens Friday morning.

"About 9 o'clock — he was in his room."

Mrs. Marie Demarest, a witness for the state, has testified Stevens was in New Brunswick this particular Friday morning.

Simpson, over vigorous objections of the defense, tried to puzzle the witness regarding dates. She couldn't remember whether or not Stevens was home on the Thursday before September 14, 1922. She could not remember if it had rained on Thursday, Sept. 14, 1922.

Simpson asked Mrs. Evanson if she had been in hiding "since August, this year." The witness said she didn't know anything about that but she was away sick for two weeks.

"Have the Stevens family in any way aided in educating and caring for you since Sept. 14, 1922?"

"No," the elderly woman replied.

Mrs. Evanson shrank under Simpson's volley of questions. She had to be prodded an answer some of the questions.

Mrs. Evanson was excused.

Howard Price Called.

Howard Price was called. He was in the paint business in Philadelphia, and had a summer home in Lavallette.

Price testified that on the night of Sept. 14th, 1922, he saw Henry Stevens on the beach at Lavallette at 9:55 p. m.

Price testified he remembered this because Henry's name was connected with the crime in the week following.

"You say you saw Henry Stevens at 9:55 that night—now give me the name of anyone else you saw on the beach that night," Simpson demanded on cross-examination.

"I don't remember any one."

Simpson asked him why it was he didn't recognize any one else. The witness said they were too far away—50 or 60 feet.

Simpson asked Price if he spoke to Stevens that night on the beach. The witness said no. Did he know Stevens? Quite well.

Price admitted about a week before Stevens was arrested he went to him and told him he remembered seeing him in Lavallette the night of the murder.

"That's all," snapped Simpson.

Fisherman's Wife on Stand.

Mrs. Arthur Applegate, wife of a fisherman of Lavallette, was then called.

She testified that "on the night of Sept. 22, 1922, Henry Stevens went fishing with her husband about 7 in the evening."

"I saw Henry Stevens at 7 o'clock that same night," she added.

Mrs. Applegate said Henry Stevens was fishing on the beach at 7 o'clock when she and her husband went down we came back at 10 o'clock or later. I remember we said good night to Mr. Stevens."

"How do you fix the time, Mrs. Applegate?" Case asked.

"When we went in the house my husband said 'its 25 minutes to eleven."

"What took place on the beach that you remember?"

"My husband caught a blue fish and Mr. Stevens weighed it for him. It was dark and we had to have a light."

Five Corroborate Story.

Five witnesses already have testified that Stevens told the truth when he said he was fishing in Lavalette on the night Sept. 14, 1922, and the eight who are to testify today are ready to back them up.

Other Defendants to Testify.

The defense declined to reveal which of the other two defendants, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and Willie Stevens, will take the stand first. Both however will testify.

So will Felix di Martini, the private detective employed by Mrs. Hall four years ago. It was intimated by Prosecutor Alexander Simpson if Di Martini appears he will serve a warrant on him charging the detective with being an accessory to the murder Di Martini is alleged by the state to have tried to influence witnesses.

The defense has subpoenaed Fred Bloodgood, secretary to Governor Moore of New Jersey, to testify in regard to the alleged disappearance of a letter written at the direction of Mrs. Hall to Governor Edwards four years ago in which it is claimed, a request was made for a rigid investigation of the murder.

Will Hit State Accusation.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 22.—Defense attorneys in the Hall-Mills case were understood to be preparing today to launch a vigorous counter attack on the state's accusation by inferential questions that colored blood flows in the veins of Willie Stevens, one of the defendants.

The inferential charge was made by Prosecutor Alexander Simpson on Saturday when he was cross-examining Henry Stevens who had taken the stand in his own defense.

Attorneys for the defense today made no secret of the fact that they were indignant over the suggestion contained in Simpson's questions. They produced the Stevens family Bible to refute the insinuation, and may introduce the Bible as a defense exhibit. It reveals that William Carpender Stevens was the second child of Francis Kirby Stevens and Mary Noel Carpender, his wife and that he was born in Aiken, S. C., March 13, 1872.

That would make Willie 54 years old. Henry, the Bible showed, is 57, he having been born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 20, 1869. Mrs. Hall is 52. She was born in Aiken on January 13, 1874.

What? Pains in Your Side, Back and Head?

"Three years ago I had a bad spell of feminine weakness," said Mrs. L. R. Edwards of 128 W. 8th St., Cincinnati, Ohio. "I could hardly get up when I sat down. I had pains in back and side and my head would ache until I would have to go to bed and stay until it went away. But Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did wonders for me. I took six bottles and am glad to tell every woman that before I had taken four bottles my pains had entirely left me. It is a wonderful tonic for women."

Why is it necessary to urge a woman to take care of her health? Isn't it her most valuable asset?

Obtain this famous "Prescription" now, in tablets or liquid, from your druggist. Write Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.

FIRE DAMAGES SHAFFER HOME

Township Blaze Causes $1,500 Loss—Truck Ditched.

Fire, originating it is believed from a defective flue, caused $1,500 damage to the home of Joseph Shaffer, 706 Price street, Oakland, at 9:30 o'clock last night. The blaze started while members of the family were absent.

Firemen from the East End and Central stations, who responded to the alarm, were forced to run a line about 450 feet to the nearest fire plug. The house was located in the township just outside the corporate line.

The roof and up-stairs bedrooms in the two-story structure were badly damaged. No insurance was carried on the building, members of the fire department were told.

While returning from the fire, the Studebaker truck, housed in the East End station, skidded into a ditch on Price street. After one of the trucks from the Central station failed to extricate the machine, the McElravy wrecker was called.

The department was called to the No. 1 plant of the Hall China company, Fourth and Walnut streets, at 11:30 o'clock this morning to extinguish a blaze, which started it is claimed, when one of the employees used a lighted match in a search for a gas leak.

The roof in the kiln shed was charred, firemen extinguishing the blaze with water and chemicals. The sprinkling system was in operation when the firemen arrived.

Fall-Doheny Trial

Teapot Dome Inquiry Outgrowth.

Today's trial is an outgrowth of the investigation launched three years ago by Senator Walsh, (D) of Montana, into the Teapot Dome oil lease. Walsh brought out that Doheny had made an unsecured "loan" of $100,000 to Fall shortly before the signing of the Elk Hills leases, this money having been conveyed to the ex-cabinet officer by Doheny's son in cash. The "demand note" on the loan was torn his wife the signature. On the strength of this evidence, the government sued for cancellation of the leases, won its case before the U. S. court of appeals at San Francisco, and the matter is now pending before the U. S. supreme court.

Combating the conspiracy charge, the defense will allege that the $100,000 loan was not a bribe, but was, in fact, a personal transaction between two life-long friends. Fall and Doheny prospected together in their youth. Also, they will state that the lease and contracts in question actually were made by the secretary of navy in conformance with plans made by the general board, and that the interior department's only connection was in an advisory capacity under presidential order.

The $100,000, it will be explained, was used to purchase a ranch above that owned by Fall at Three Rivers, New Mexico, procurement of which was essential if Fall's water rights were to be protected. Doheny volunteered the loan, it will be said, because of friendship and a desire to prevent Fall from losing his home.

Separate Defenses.

Fall and Doheny will maintain separate defense. Thus, it is pointed out, two opening and two closing arguments may be presented.

In keeping with the times, a "million-dollar" defense will be on display. Heading Fall's counsel is Wilton J. Lambert, of Washington, with a reputation of never having lost an important case in District of Columbia criminal courts. He will be assisted by Henry A. Wise, formerly U. S. district attorney for New York; Levi Cook, of Washington, and Mark B. Thompson, of New Mexico.

Doheny's legal talent is comprised of Frank J. Hogan of Washington; Frederick J. Kellogg, of New York; Joseph J. Cotter and Harold Walker, of Washington.

Against this imposing array, the government will send in former Senator Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio, and Owen J. Roberts, of Philadelphia, appointed by President Coolidge as special oil counsel; District Attorney Peyton Gordon and all of his assistants; George G. Chandler, of Philadelphia; Frank Harrison, of Cleveland; Ulric J. Mengert, of Philadelphia; W. L. Combs of Philadelphia, and Lowell Turrentine and John B. Dempsey, of Cleveland.

King's Condition

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 22.—"Neat diplomacy," was the manner in which city officials today expressed their reactions to the visit yesterday of Prince Nicholas, of Roumaaia.

The youthful son of Queen Marie spent the day here and everybody, including the faction which had threatened to uncork an embarrassing demonstration for Queen Marie on her scheduled visit, seemed satisfied.

Nicholas visited a young men's organization and then spoke before a Roumanian organization. He left at 8 p. m. for New York to rejoin the queen.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Industrial stocks were buoyant at the beginning of trading today, as the result of the improvement in the New York money situation evidenced by the $24,000,000 gain in the reserves of the banks here. The motor stocks, the steel and equipment stocks, the textiles and a few of the specialties were again the ladders in the forward movement.

A brisk advance of Baldwin Locomotive to 150 in the first period completing a gain of 33 points on the move, has again raised the question in Wall street of a possible "corner" in the stock.

IF BILIOUS, SICK OR CONSTIPATED TAKE "CASCARETS"

No headache, bad cold, sour stomach or costive bowels by morning

Get a 10-cent box now.

You're bilious! You have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you; and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet, and your head clear for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

"KING" PURNELL CELIBATE 33 YEARS, HE SAYS

House of David Leader Answers Grave Charges.

PLOT, HE CLAIMS

Denies That He Has Hidden at Benton Harbor.

(Editor's Note:—From his bed in the administration building of the House of David, "King" Benjamin Purnell, the head of the Israelites dictated the following exclusive statement to the International News Service and the Detroit Times.)

BY BENJAMIN PURNELL.

(Copyright, 1926, by I. N. S. and the Detroit Times.)

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Nov. 22.—I have lived the life of a celibate ever since I received this most holy faith, which was approximately 33 years ago. Since that time I have followed religiously teh tenets of the faith of which I am the head, and not once in that time have I known a single woman, not even my own beloved wife, Mary Purnell.

The stories of these disgruntled ex-members that I attacked them under the guise of a faithful religious rite are falsehoods. Money, the root of all evil, is behind these charges. It is blackmail pure an simple.

Takes Fling at Prosecutor.

The plot was hatched within the colony years ago by certain parties Thwarted in their ambitions to assume a position of power in the House of David they gathered a few of the weak-minded nit-wits of the colony about them and sowed the seeds of this diabolical plot in their minds.

The result the world now knows.

The remainder of these cohorts swooped down on me with their suits and false, ugly charges, and such a hue and cry was raised in the press of the nation that I knew I could not secure a fair trial then, so I fled four years ago.

The charge I have hidden here in the colony all these four years is untrue. I have been numerous places, the exact locations of which I do not care to reveal now.

Prosecutor George [illegible] declares that I dare not face Bessie Woodworth in court; that I will exercise all possible legal subterfuges to evade this criminal trial and finally will jump my bonds of $125,000.

This otherwise brilliant young man, who has gone berserk on this one subject, is wrong. I shall demand speedy justice. I shall face Bessie and all my accusers in court as quickly as possible and I certainly shall not fail by bondsmen, respected, prominent business men, whose dealings with me have convinced them of the assininity of these charges.

The allegations that I despoiled these former girl members of the colony by telling them it was a holy, religious rite whereby I gained more strength and they gained an added star in their crown is bosh.

My faith, based on the Holy Scriptures, opposes even a man and wife living together until after they have reached a stage where they are spiritually above the temptations of the flesh.

I have followed this tenent religiously. Since the day my wife, Mary, and I received the vision, we have lived together as a brother and sister. As God is my judge I have known no woman since.

It is written in the Bible that we shall be visited by such persecutions as I am now suffering, just before the judgment day when all but the faithful-elect shall die, and I have been expecting this for years, but I shall be vindicated.

The couple was driving from Detroit but for the past three years had been employed by the Peerless Motor Car corporation of Cleveland. The couple was driving from Detroit to Cleveland when their car was struck by a Balitimore & Ohio freight train at a crossing here. They had no children.

STUDER LEAVES CELL TO TELL STORY TO JURY

Canton Underworld Figure Appears at Federal Quiz

RUM INQUIRY

Serving Term as Disorderly House Operator.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 22. — Carl Studer, former Canton underworld character who is serving a term in the Ohio state penitentiary as the operator of a disorderly house was scheduled to arrive here at 1:30 p. m. today, and appear immediately before the federal grand jury, in connection with an investigation of the Canton liquor traffic, Federal District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen announced.

Studer was subpoenaed last week, when testimony elicited from other witnesses in the rum probe indicated he might have valuable information for the federal probers.

The bootleg ring which is under investigation is said to include in its roster Studer, Ben Nadel and Dan Pfaff, and numerous others of Canton and Cleveland. The last two named were arrested here on information divulged during an investigation of the concealment of Pat McDermott, under indictment in the Mellett murder case, in Cleveland for several months while police all over the nation sought him.

Just what information Studer is expected to have was not divulged by Bernsteen in anticipation of the returning of indictments by the grand jury.

POMONA GRANGE HOLDS SESSION

New Officers Elected at Meeting Held in Salem Grange Hall.

New officers were elected at the meeting of Pomona Grange held at Salem Grange hall, Saturday afternoon. Six resolutions as presented by the committee on resolutions were adopted, and arrangements were made to have the next meeting at Perry grange hall Saturday, February 19.

The following resolutions were approved:

A dog license law sufficiently large in collection that will insure adequate compensation for all damage done to stock and persons each calander year; and no part of this fund to be paid out for other purposes until a belance has been accumulated approximately to the extent of the value of annual damages. That claims shall be paid within 30 days after adjustment.

Have proper authorities appropriate a fund under the present law from which shall be paid 25-cents per head bounty for all crows killed.

Endorse stand of State Grange in regard to the 2.65 tax levy for school purposes.

Oppose present system of granting divorces for trivial reasons.

Favoring appointment of home demonstration agent.

The meeting was attended by about 200 men and women. The address of welcome was delivered by Frank Vincent, master of Salem grange. Mr. Bactel head of the soils department of the Ohio Experimental Station was the principal speaker during the afternoon session. Circuit Judge L. T. Farr was to have addressed the meeting, but on account of the press of court work was unable to be present. A program of vocal and instrumental music was followed.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 1000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from C. G. Anderson today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and will do the same for you.

SYNOPSIS.

Julian Reed is wandering southern California in his little roadster. He is aimless and amiable. At luncheon in a small restaurant he meets, by chance, a charming, rather wistful young woman. She has missed connections with a troupe of vagabonding actors and he offers, in suite of his natural bashfulness, to drive her to the troupe's next stopping place, La Jolla. She accepts his offer. He tries to "explain" himself. He has money, but is suffering from a bad case of "dual personality.' He is obviously greatly bothered about something, some conflict within himself. She, like Julian, is from the East. They overtake and pass the trucks bearing the rest of the troupe. As they stop for dinner, the others come in. Julian meets Watt, the chief of the "Wayside Theatre;" Sadie, an ex-chorus girl trouper, and the rest of the cast. Julian comes to the rescue of the troupe financially. Sadie attaches herself to him, frankly captivated by his addness and quaint charm. Sadies tells him of Hester, how she risked everything to try for the leading role in a movie of a play written by one "Robert Johns," failed and joined the troupe as a last resort. Julian and Hester out in the little car after the nights performance find themselves alone on a road by the sea. He tells her how much he liked her acting and how to him she is the embodiment of youth. She tells him of her failures and of how she feels she is now too old to succeed. At the last he kisses her.

CHAPTER SEVEN.

He was awakened by the stage hands. They were cooking their breakfast on a portable stove. It was after eight. When he lifted his head, they smiled at him and offered a cheerful, good morning. The stage manager asked if he wouldn't share their bacon and eggs and coffee. It was pleasant to be accepted as one of the troupe. They treated him with a rather surprising deference.

The fat man was waiting out in front of one of the folding chairs. It seemed unnecessary to waken Mr. Watt, who was always slow to rouse, the stage manager said. Accordingly Reed drove into San Diego without him and paid off the balance due on the car. The man gave him a receipt. When he returned, the others of the troupe had finished breakfast and were packing up. All who saw him greeted him with marked cordiality. All but Hester. So saw her striking her cot behind the woman's tent, and thought she saw him . . certainly she looked in his direction . . . . but she didn't return his shy smile. She looked tired, he thought. Had he dreamed that glowing episode of the silent hour by the sea? It almost seemed so.

He was wiping off his car when Sadie came over.

"Seems to me you and Hester were out pretty late," she remarked, with a sly smile.

She sat on the ground and watched him.

"The beans are spilled," she remarked, after a silence.

He looked down at her puzzled.

"Eevrybody knows this morning."

Still he failed to catch her meaning. His wits were wandering by a vast dim ocean.

"About the money. Hester knows."

"Oh!"

Sadie nodded emphatically. "You see the position it puts her in."

"Why . . . . no. Not exactly."

"Everybody else does. I'm afraid she's pretty mad."

He considered this. It was difficult for him to get down to earth. He had gone through the transaction at the bank while dwelling in an uncertain but golden haze of memory.

"I told you she was funny."

A slow day passed before the truth finally penetrated. When he tried to approach Hester she smiled vaguely, mournfully even, but walked away. Always she was with one or another group. Sadie and the actor named Lester rode into San Diego with him. They and the others made much of him. Mr. Watt sought him out during the afternoon and talked with a lingering and splendid relish of the good old days when there was an art of the theater.

By the next day it was plain even to his unsuspecting mind that Hester had turned flatly against him. In the afternoon Sadie rode alone with him around the rim of the splendid harbor and past the city of cottages and camps to Coronado Beach. He didn't know quite how it worked out that way. Certainly he didn't ask her. But there she was, at leaving time, by his car. He wasn't sorry, however, to have her along. His own thoughts were difficult company. And Sadie's almost boyish sympathy warmed his heart. She snuggled by his side and chattered along like the friendly little gamin she was.

They had nearly reached the hotel when she broke out with:

"Has she spoken to you at all, Julian?"

Mournfully he shook his head.

"Hmm! That's what the boys were saying."

"You don't mean to say that they . . . . ."

"Oh, they talk. They would. No harm in that. Everybody's wondering what happened on that ride."

He was silent.

"I can't make her out myself. I told you she was funny. Even if you have fallen for her pretty hard, you've been so wonderful about things . . . . Listen, has Murry Watt given you that note?"

He shook his head again. "But that's all right."

"All right? My God, do you know how much that man owes?"

"No, but . . . ."

"Say, doesn't money mean ANYTHING to you?"

"Why, of course, but . . . you see, money isn't . . . ."

"Stop the car here. I want to look at the ocean. Wonderful, isn't it! See all the girls on the beach. One thing, don't worry about one-piece bathing suits out here. All the crowd'll be going in before dinner. Want to come along?"

"I don't think so. I rather think I'll go away for a few days."

"Oh, I wouldn't do that.'

"Well, I've been working out a plan. There may be something I can do that'll help a little."

"Help? My God!"

"I don't think you understand. If I've done the wrong thing, at least I can . . . ."

"Listen!" she said, sliding her arm through his. "This thing hit you pretty quick, didn't it?"

SYNOPSIS.

Julian Reed is wandering southern California in his little roadster. He is aimless and amiable. At luncheon in a small restaurant he meets, by chance, a charming, rather wistful young woman. She has missed connections with a troupe of vagabonding actors and he offers, in suite of his natural bashfulness, to drive her to the troupe's next stopping place, La Jolla. She accepts his offer. He tries to "explain" himself. He has money, but is suffering from a bad case of "dual personality.' He is obviously greatly bothered about something, some conflict' within himself. She, like Julian, is from the East. They overtake and pass the trucks bearing the rest of the troupe. As they stop for dinner, the others come in. Julian meets Watt, the chief of the "Wayside Theatre;" Sadie, an ex-chorus girl trouper, and the rest of the cast. Julian comes to the rescue of the troupe financially. Sadie attaches herself to him, frankly captivated by his addness and quaint charm. Sadies tells him of Hester, how she risked everything to try for the leading role in a movie of a play written by one "Robert Johns," failed and joined the troupe as a last resort. Julian and Hester out in the little car after the nights performance find themselves alone on a road by the sea. He tells her how much he liked her acting and how to him she is the embodiment of youth. She tells him of her failures and of how she feels she is now too old to succeed. At the last he kisses her.

CHAPTER SEVEN.

He was awakened by the stage hands. They were cooking their breakfast on a portable stove. It was after eight. When he lifted his head, they smiled at him and offered a cheerful, good morning. The stage manager asked if he wouldn't share their bacon and eggs and coffee. It was pleasant to be accepted as one of the troupe. They treated him with a rather surprising deference.

The fat man was waiting out in front of one of the folding chairs. It seemed unnecessary to waken Mr. Watt, who was always slow to rouse, the stage manager said. Accordingly Reed drove into San Diego without him and paid off the balance due on the car. The man gave him a receipt. When he returned, the others of the troupe had finished breakfast and were packing up. All who saw him greeted him with marked cordiality. All but Hester. So saw her striking her cot behind the woman's tent, and thought she saw him . . certainly she looked in his direction . . . . but she didn't return his shy smile. She looked tired, he thought. Had he dreamed that glowing episode of the silent hour by the sea? It almost seemed so.

He was wiping off his car when Sadie came over.

"Seems to me you and Hester were out pretty late," she remarked, with a sly smile.

She sat on the ground and watched him.

"The beans are spilled," she remarked, after a silence.

He looked down at her puzzled.

"Eevrybodv knows this morning."

Still he failed to catch her meaning. His wits were wandering by a vast dim ocean.

"About the money. Hester knows."

"Oh!"

Sadie nodded emphatically. "You see the position it puts her in."

"Why . . . . no. Not exactly."

"Everybody else does. I'm afraid she's pretty mad."

He considered this. It was difficult for him to get down to earth. He had gone through the transaction at the bank while dwelling in an uncertain but golden haze of memory.

"I told you she was funny."

A slow day passed before the truth finally penetrated. When he tried to approach Hester she smiled vaguely, mournfully even, but walked away. Always she was with one or another group. Sadie and the actor named Lester rode into San Diego with him. They and the others made much of him. Mr. Watt sought him out during the afternoon and talked with a lingering and splendid relish of the good old days when there was an art of the theater.

By the next day it was plain even to his unsuspecting mind that Hester had turned flatly against him. In the afternoon Sadie rode alone with him around the rim of the splendid harbor and past the city of cottages and camps to Coronado Beach. He didn't know quite how it worked out that way. Certainly he didn't ask her. But there she was, at leaving time, by his car. He wasn't sorry, however, to have her along. His own thoughts were difficult company. And Sadie's almost boyish sympathy warmed his heart. She snuggled by his side and chattered along like the friendly little gamin she was.

They had nearly reached the hotel when she broke out with:

"Has she spoken to you at all, Julian?"

Mournfully he shook his head.

"Hmm! That's what the boys were saying."

"You don't mean to say that they . . . . ."

"Oh, they talk. They would. No harm in that. Everybody's wondering what happened on that ride."

He was silent.

"I can't make her out myself. I told you she was funny. Even if you have fallen for her pretty hard, you've been so wonderful about things . . . . Listen, has Murry Watt given you that note?"

He shook his head again. "But that's all right."

"All right? My God, do you know how much that man owes?"

"No, but . . . ."

"Say, doesn't money mean ANYTHING to you?"

"Why, of course, but . . . you see, money isn't . . . ."

"Stop the car here. I want to look at the ocean. Wonderful, isn't it! See all the girls on the beach. One thing, don't worry about one-piece bathing suits out here. All the crowd'll be going in before dinner. Want to come along?"

"I don't think so. I rather think I'll go away for a few days."

"Oh, I wouldn't do that.'

"Well, I've been working out a plan. There may be something I can do that'll help a little."

"Help? My God!"

"I don't think you understand. If I've done the wrong thing, at least I can . . ."

"Listen!" she said, sliding her arm through his. "This thing hit you pretty quick, didn't it?"

REAL ALL-AMERICAN TEAM

COME ON, FANS! NAME 'EM--- ELEVEN GREATEST STARS

The accompanying telegram speaks for itself, fans. Read it.

Sporting Editor The East Liverpool Review-Tribune:

Am asking you as sporting editor of an enterprising newspaper, to help me choose a real All-American football eleven by joining sporting editors of 500 other papers receiving Central Press service in obtaining from their readers a consensus of popular opinion as to whom should be named on such an eleven. My only part will be to compile the results sent me by each sporting editor at the close of the poll in his territory. Will you and your readers assist me?

NORMAN E. BROWN, Sporting Editor,
Central Press Association.

WANTS TO PRESENT REAL TEAM

In other words, ye intrepid sporting editor, with you help, is going to assist Norman Brown in making the first earnest effort to draft a mythical All-American eleven that will be truly representative of the sentiment of the entire country—not that of an individual or a small group of men.

What do you think of the idea?

Well, the best way to let us know is to burst right out with your opinion by writing down the names of your favorite players in the ballot printed elsewhere on this page and mailing it in to the sporting editor himself.

You have been following the leading players of every section of the country—of Brown, U. of Southern California, Alabama, Northwestern and those of other teams.

From the galaxy of stars developed at all these colleges which men would you name for All-American honors? Which men do you think lead all their rivals at their positions?

All right. Write down their names. And be sure to mail in your selections so that they will reach the Review-Tribune sporting editor's desk by Saturday, Dec. 4.

Here is the way the ballots will be recorded.

Each player will be given a credit of two points for each time his name appears as a first team selection. He will receive one point each time he is mentioned as a second team selection. The points credited to each player mentioned will be totalled at the close of the polls Saturday, Dec. 4, and the sporting editor will use this consensus of opinion in making out the Review-Tribune's All-American eleven. This team will be representative of the sentiment in this section of the country. It will be printed in the Review-Tribune.

The ends receiving the greatest number of points will be placed on the first team. Those rated next in the second team choices, and so on for each position.

WILL CARRY OUT POINT SYSTEM

This representative eleven (or first and second elevens) will then be forwarded to Norman E. Brown. Using each one of these sectional choices as an individual ballot Brown will compile the points scored by each man on the same basis (two points for each time named on the first team and one for each time mentioned as second team choice). The men receiving the greatest number of points in this final tabulation will then be placed on the REAL ALL-AMERICAN eleven and the second team listed opposite it.

There will be no hearsay or guess work in making these selections. There can be no personal bias. The team will be your team—that of the readers of the nation.

Come on with your vote.

And then watch for the announcement of the Review-Tribune's All-American, compiled from your votes and later the Real All-American! TOUCHDOWN, READERS!

Blue Seconds Punch Line and Run Wings For Four Counters

Penalties Amounting to 145 Yards, Coupled With Frequent Changes in Lineup, as Coaches Look Over 1927 Prospects, Keep Score Down.

As was generally expected, East Liverpool high gridders found the going fairly easy at Leetonia Saturday and Coaches Kidder and Cox used practically every reserve man on the roster in running up a 26 to 12 victory.

The game was played at Kelley's park and the weather was unseasonably cold.

Felt and Wildblood, a couple of "comers," started on the wings for the Blue with Allison and Clark at tackles and Wucherer and Walt Smith at guards. Boyd undertook center duties. Skidmore, Mackall, Deidrick and Kirkham formed the backfield quartet.

This outfit punched over the first touchdown of the game in the first period and registered another in the second quarter. At that time Coach Kidder began to make frequent changes in his lineup, with a number of the boys needing quarters for their letters, and the Leetonians managed to sneak over a couple of touchdowns, a forward pass from the 21 to the 11 yard line, a five-yard penalty and a series of line bucks accounting for the first one. The locals were assessed three 15-yard penalties after that one and with the lineup changed about as it was, they gave the home eleven its second score.

In the third period the regulars were back in long enough to start another touchdown march and the Blue tacked on another in the final quarter.

The Blue ran the ends and smashed the Leetonia line almost at will but frequent changes as the local coaches experimented with various plays, formations and players, together with the frequency with which officials penalized the team, kept the score down.

[illegible] scratched. Nick Allison, guard, [illegible] a fractured rib and Todd, center, twisted a knee. Neither will likely be used in the Wellsville game.

Against Leetonia the locals punched the line for 106 yards with Leetonia making 33 by the same method. East Liverpool's end runs netted a total of 139 yards while the Blue wingmen prevented the home eleven from making a single yard with the same tactics.

The locals completed seven out of 14 passes, Leetonia, four out of 13.

They also held the lead in the matter of penalties. The Potters were penalized 11 times for a total distance of 145 yards as compared with Leetonia's 15.

Totals show gains of 523 yards for the Blue and White as against 69 by Leetonia, outside of penalties.

Laughlin Chinas And Salineville To Battle Again

In the third of a three-game series for gridiron supremacy, the Laughlin Chinas and the Salineville Independents will clash on Thursday afternoon, Thanksgiving day, at Salineville.

Each team has a game to its credit victory Saturday afternoon at Newell.

Chap Finley and Staats were the big guns in the Laughlin offensive, Finley accounting for both touchdowns as well as a brilliant performance in scrimmage throughout the contest.

"Hunk" Dill put up a good exhibition as a member of the visiting eleven.

The Laughlins will practice tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday at their lot near the "gas station." Players are ordered to report tonight at 6 o'clock.

RESUME PLAY IN DUCKPIN LOOP

Hostilities will be resumed tonight in the Business Men's Duckpin league at the Liberty Alleys.

One change marks the circuit as the second week opens. The squad heretofore rolling under the name of the Liberty five will be known from now one as the Chryslers.

Smith News and the Roselawns clash tonight with Turk-Nash, meeting the Bankers tomorrow.

The Chryslers are matched with the Altman Clothiers for Friday.

LAFAYETTE BACK LEADS IN EAST

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Mike Wilson, of Lafayette, apparently has won the individual scoring honors in eastern football with 120 points. Williams, of the Connecticut Aggies, is second with 90 and Harry Wilson, of the Army, is third with 80.

Other league leaders: Lane, Dartmouth, 75; Weston, Boston college, 72; Strong, N. Y. U., 66; Madden, Columbia, 64; Carr, Syracuse, 59; Shaughnessy, Colgate, 59, and Connor, N. Y. U., 58.

JOESTING LEADS BIG TEN SCORERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Herb Joesting, Minnesota's slashing fullback, was found at the top of the pack of Big Ten scoring faces when the final curtainof the 1926 conference season was rung down.

Joesting scored 13 touchdowns for a total of 78 points. Marty Karow, of Ohio State, was runner-up with 11 touchdowns and a total-point score of 66.

The ten high score men finished as follows:

Joesting, Minnesota	13	0	0	78
Karow, Ohio State	11	0	0	66
Nydahl, Minnesota	8	0	11	59
Gustafson, Northwest'n	9	0	1	55

Crofoot, Wisconsin	7	0	0	42

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Making good approach shots is, I should say, by far the most difficult part of golf to master. The difference between good golfers and bad ones is invariably a difference between expert approaching and lack of approaching ability. The common saying that golf games are won or lost on the putting greens does not square with the facts, in my opinion. I think they are won or lost by approaching, since most good players are good putters. This is the department of the game on which the player should spend time, energy and thought in perfecting himself — approaching. There are various approaching strokes with which the player should be familiar. They make the finest kind of practice, too, for the off season, as well as providing interesting exercise. PRACTICE YOUR APPROACH SHOTS

(Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

ARMY'S FUMBLES BIGGEST FAULT

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Coach Biff Jones today said that all the Army team needed in preparation for the Navy game in Chicago next Saturday was a brisk workout. The eleven got just that in its game with Ursinus last Saturday, so everybody's pleased, and today the final few days of practice got under way.

One thing the cadets must learn this week before meeting the midshipmen, and that is to hold onto the ball a little more tightly. In last Saturday's game there probably would have been two more touchdowns against Ursinus if it hadn't been for the Army's tendency to fumble. Once Murrell lost the ball on the five yard line, and another time Hewitt fumbled with a score in sight.

That's a fault that must be corrected if the Army is to win, and Coach Jones started on his corrective process today when the squad went out for practice.

SEVEN IN RACE FOR GRID TITLE

Four Stand Out Because of Superior Opposition.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—If you hail from South Bend, you are convinced today that Notre Dame is entitled to national honors in college football. If Palo Alto collects your taxes, Stanford, winner of the coast title without a defeat, gets your vote. If dear old Tuscaloosa harbors the old homestead, you won't be able to see how Alabama can go wrong and, if it be Annapolis, Providence, Easton or Boston, you will nominate respectively the Navy, Brown, Lafayette and Boston college.

Anyhow, as the field straightened out today for the run through the stretch, these seven outfits remained unbeaten in the national sweepstakes.

Off-hand, the writer would say that possibly four of them are entitled to preferred consideration because of the fact that they have done something of a competitive steeplechase while the others have been running on the flat. It may be that this though will prompt Brown, Lafayette and Boston college to believe that I have a frayed cuff in the family closet but, so far as I know, I was not dropped on my head at an early age, or any other, by a careless nurse maid.

New York Loses First.

As far as that goes, the seven of them may harbor full many a fallen arch, in which case it might be equally possible that one of the obscure teams—St. Mary's, of California, and Loyola, of New Orleans—or one of the big timers who slipped once—Michigan and Northwestern, co-winners of the Big Ten title, or possibly Southern California, Ohio State or Nebraska—is actually the superior eleven of the day and hour.

Nebrasko dropped New York University on Saturday from the list of the undefeated, 15 to 7, a fumble saving N. Y. U. from a shutout. Holy Cross fell for the first time, too, and while it was about the matter, it was [illegible] thorough. It lost to Boston University, [illegible] the latter's second victory in eight starts.

Meantime, the Navy was beating Loyola, of Baltimore, 35 to 13, after the latter had scored all of its points in the first period against the Middie substitutes; Lafayette was winning a 35 to 0 decision over Lehigh, Boston College was beating Gettysburg, 39 to 0. Brown was running over New Hampshire, 40 to 12, the dove-tailing Notre Dame varsities were beating Drake, 21 to 0, after being held to six points for three periods, and Stanford was making human hamburger of California, 41 to 6. Alabama did not play, which undoubtedly was somebody's good luck.

Stiff Opposition.

So much for the big seven. Having taken a wild swing at their particular situation, the writer will follow it up with a straight left, to wit: Notre Dame has played and beaten Minnesota, Penn State, Northwestern, Georgia Tech, Indiana, the Army and Drake, for a loss of only seven points. The Navy has beaten Purdue, Princeton, Colgate, Michigan and Georgetown. Alabama has won from the best in its section, including Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech, Sewanee, Louisiana State, Kentucky and Florida. Stanford's victims are Nevada, Oregon, Southern California, Santa Clara, Washington and California.

Contrast that kind of opposition with the Boston college schedule, which includes Catholic University, Fordham, St. Louis, West Virginia Wesleyan, Villanova, Gettysburg and Haskel. The Indians were the best of a poor lot and got a 21-21 tie.

Hail Lafayette.

Some of the boys in the back room are hailing Lafayette as the team of the season. Maybe it is but the point I make is that it didn't have to prove it against such as Muhlenberg, Schylkill, Dickinson, Albright and Rutgers. The only good ones, Pittsburgh and W. and J., are not the hottest on record, either.

Brown has built its reputation on the fact that it beat Yale, Dartmouth and Harvard. This may be hard to do but, somehow or other, I can't seem to realize it. However, if Brown beats Colgate, there will be nothing for it but to rally right around and cheer the boys to the well known echo. This will be the show-down game for Brown.

The defeats of Michigan and Northwestern by the Navy and Notre Dame, respectively, depreciate the Big Ten's right to name a national contender. It hasn't even a definite champion. Michigan, winning its second in a row by the margin of exactly one point and one fumble each, beat Minnesota, 7 to 6, and finished in a tie with Northwestern, which encountered unexpected opposition from Iowa but won, 13 to 6. Ohio State clinched third place by a one-point decision over Illinois, 7 to 6, while Chicago lost to Wisconsin, 14 to 7, and failed to win a conference game, which may or may not be a Maroon record.

South Gets "Breather."

The south drew something of a sectional "breather" but the valley conference was quite active. In spite of the fact that Nebraska and Oklahoma were occupied elsewhere, Missouri and Kansas Aggies winning from Kansas and Iowa State respectively.

Fitting closely over the face, a rubber mask that can be filled with water is intended to overcome pain from neuralgia.

NAVY TOUCHES UP FOR CADET JOUST

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 22.—The Navy football team today began the final touching up for the annual service classic next Saturday, when they meet the Army team in Chicago.

Coach Bill Ingram announced that at the moment it looked as if Schuber would start in the backfield instead of Goudge, who played quarterback against Michigan successfully and who had first call on the place until he was injured in the Georgetown game.

This, with the placing of Osburn at centre instead of Hoener, are so far the only changes from the line up which faced Michigan.

BIRTHDAY PARTY AFTER GRID GAME

Ralph Springer, fullback of the Chester Junior high school team, was honor guest at a banquet held by the team and a number of its followers Saturday night in the Parkersburg "Y" following the contest. Springer Saturday celebrated his 16th birthday and helped eat the big cake that had been baked especially for the party.

Among those who attended the party were Mrs. Edith Geon and daughter, Beth; Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Rembert; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jackson and daughter, Bessie Jane; Miss Etta Wedgewood, Miss Maxine Bloore, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, Earl Milby, Knowles Hobbs, and Misses Mildred Young and Ruth Hobbs, students at Ohio U., at Athens, who made the trip to Parkersburg to see the game.

Acmes Meet Tuesday.

The following Acme basketball players are requested to meet at the home of Martin Dyer, Edgewood avenue, Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock for a reorganization: Mackey, Manypenny, Kinney, Carey, Dyer, Todd, Canne and William Bowers.

Salem Wins Another.

Salem high school gridders kept their season's record clean Saturday by trouncing East Palestine, 19 to 0, at East Palestine.

JUNIOR ELEVEN IS BEATEN, 14-0

Chester Kids Put Up Game Fight at Parkersburg.

Outweighed at a rate of approximately 30 to 40 pounds to the man Chester's Junior High school football team went down to defeat in a game fight Saturday afternoon at Parkersburg, 13 to 0. The Hancock countians partially overcame the weight advantage by a smarter brand of football that won comment from home fans and coaches alike, but were unable to score.

The Parkersburg eleven scored their first touchdown in the early part of the second period when, in a series of line plays, they advanced the ball to the Chester five-yard line and Fullback Bosley crashed over the goal line.

The second counter came in the third period when, after another advance from mid-field by line plunges, Benedum pushed the ball to the Chester two yard line, where he took it over by a quarterback sneak. Grow kicked for extra point. Several times the Chester eleven advanced the ball to within striking distance, by means of forward passing and offtackle plays, but at the critical time were stopped by the fighting Junior high's.

Johnson and Brown on the Chester terminals and Springer, captain and fullback, were outstanding stars for the visiting eleven, both on defense and offense. Their teammates showed splendid teamwork, and fought to the end, trying to turn defeat into victory, having not lost a game in three years. This was the first time they were scored on during the present season.

Bosley and Benedum of the Juniors carried the bulk of the offense, while they were also exceptionally good on defense work.

The visiting eleven, with their small band of rooters won the respect of local fans by their splendid exhibition. Parkersburg made advances at will through the Chester line, experiencing no difficulty at any stage.

"GREEN HAT" HOLIDAY SHOW

Ceramic Theatre Books Arlen's Popular Dramatization.

"The Green Hat," Michael Arlen's dramatization of his own sensational novel, will be presented at the Ceramic theatre Thanksgiving Day, matinee and night.

The play progresses through four episodes—from that Deauville morning soon after Boy Fenwick has killed himself rather than face his honeymoon, on ten years later to the night of Gerald March's death and the sweeping of Napier Harpenden and Iris into each other's arms, on through the day nine months later in the nursing home in which Iris has gone close to death in her futile desire for motherhood, and on to the time, still four months later, when on the eve of her going away with Napier she sees her dream of happiness fade and drives her roaring yellow car at 70 miles an hour into the old trysting tree at the turn of the road.

So the wistful and wondering Iris takes her leave of love and of life, and puts an end to seeking and to giving. She trailed the world like a flame, and burnt nothing but her own heart. A great character, this brave and piteous creature, much more alive in the theatre than ever she was in the novel. Four times you glimpse her—forever to remember.

"The Green Hat" has to do with those vagrant creatures which traverse the world, having nowhere to lay their heads save in uneasiness, no paths to tread save to walk on thorns, no ties to hold them save those which chafe the wrists they bind. These are the creatures who make the play, and these are the creatures who make the mystery and much of the enchantment of the world.

"The Green Hat" gives gorgeous opportunity for resplendent acting, and is one thrill after another even when the lights are out, and the hynotized audience gasping with curiosity and anticipation.

THE ENTERTAINING ANGEL

By Samuel Merwin Released Through Central Press Assn

He inclined his head.

"Well," she mused, "I don't know why not. It's as natural as the slow way. I can't help wondering where you've been all this while, though. Living in a vacuum tube?"

"Why, yes. Just about that, I'm afraid.'

"But if you go away now . . . you see, there's one thing you have certainly done. You've stirred her up. I don't believe anybody else had done that to her for years. You don't know Hester. She never runs around at night. You could have knocked me down with a hare's foot the other night when I realized she was staying out with you. It's the first time she's done such a thing since she's been with this troupe. Why, she doesn't even join in when we dance. Just sits alone and writes letters to her folks and reads books. I tell you, she's a funny one. Now, you listen to Auntie! The thing for you to do is to stick around. She's upset now. And she's moody, awful moody. Give her a little time, but be sure you're on hand when she comes around. She will, believe me. She knows well enough . . . as she will when she comes to her senses . . That you're no John."

He didn't know what a "John" was. "I'll be back,' he said, and she felt determination in him, "but I've got to make the effort." And he added forlornly, "if it's only to square up for what I did."

"Seems to me you're taking it too seriously, Julian. Let me tell you something you don't seem to know. Girls don't like lame puppies around. Not too much of that sort of thing. They like to be managed. There's a little bit of truth in this sheik and cave man stuff. Oh, there is! Tell me, have you really tried to get at her and make her see straight?"

"I dont know that I have. How could I? The way she looks at me and dodges away."

"Oh, slush!" observed Sadies, thoughtfully.

"No, I'm going tonight."

"Where to?"

"Well . . . Hollywood. But I don't want these people to know."

" I won't tell 'em. You know people in Hollywood?"

"Why, no. That is, not exactly. In a way. At least I've thought of something I might be able to do. If it doesn't work, at least I shall have tried."

"Well, if you won't take my advice and work right on the ground . . ."

"I tell you I can't . . ."

"What are you going to do? Drive all night?"

He nodded. "Might as well. I can't sleep."

"Hmm!" She was thinking. "You'd be easier to manage if you had a little knowledge of women."

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches rub on good old Musterole.

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister

First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

TWO SERVICES CLOSE BAPTIST CHURCH MEET

Rev. Mel Morris Concludes Four-week Campaign.

WILL REST HERE

Delegation Will Hear United Presbyterian Evangelist.

Amid enthusiasm at results accomplished and blessings received though with marked regret at the necessity of its conclusion the First Baptist church revival, following a duration of four weeks, was ended last evening. During it many persons experienced conversion and many more reconsecrated themselves to Christian activity.

Rev. Mel Morris, of Greensboro, Md., delivered two outstanding sermons during the day. "The Unpardonable Sin," his evening theme, was heard by a crowd that filled the auditorium and overflow sections of the building. In the morning he spoke on the subject, "Simon Lifted By Satan."

Though he has been physically below par for several days Rev. Mr. Morris did not spare himself in his final message to his hearers. With appealing clarity he indicated the nature of sin that has passed the pale of pardon. Utilizing illustration and logic he held his audience and developed marked conviction that sent several fordward in contrition for prayer.

Because of his inability to travel for a few days the evangelist announced that he would remain in East Liverpool for a brief period resting ere returning to his home to reduce a fractured nose of unknown cause. According, and because advices last week indicated the resignation of the pastor of a Newnort, N. J., church, where he had previously agreed to go for the remainder of the year, he postponed the engagement and will devote much of this interim in getting into condition for a series of meetings that he is to begin at the First Baptist church in New Castle, Pa., early next year.

During his stay here Rev. Mr. Morris has been accompanied by Mrs. Morris, who assisted in the personal work of the revival. She will accompany her husband home.

"I appreciate every effort taken in this campaign as well as that earlier in the year when I was here," declared the evangelist at the outset of his Sunday night discourse. Especially do I appreciate the hospitality of Pastor and Mrs. O'Brien and the other members of the congregation, all of whom have done all they can by regular attendance and otherwise in contributing to the success of this series of meetings. I have learned to love you all and shall always remember you in my prayers."

Rev. Mr. Morris spoke glowingly of his appreciation of the East Liverpool Review-Tribune for its accounts of the revival. "Through it I have managed to speak to a larger audience than could be possibly be accommodated in this building," he said. "it serves to convince any skeptic that newspapers do and will co-operate in the dispensation of religious news."

Preceding the night service two adults were administered the rite of baptism by immersion.

The invocations at both services were made by Rev. Mr. O'Brien, who also announced that following the prayer meeting on next Wednesday evening those in attendance would go in a body to the First United Presbyterian church to hear Rev. Dr. Newland, an evangelist, who has just begun a series of meetings for that congregation. "I know Dr. Newland personally," asserted the pastor "and can attest to his ability for the special work that he has undertaken in our neighbor church."

Directed by Harry Chilton, who had charge of the music during the day the choir on Sunday evening sang, "Lead Me Gently Home" with Mrs. Chilton he also sang "Who Can It Be But Jesus."

Called to the platform by Rev. Mr. O'Brien Mrs. Morris was waved a parting salute by the congregation whereupon she was presented a huge chrysanthemum from a large bouquet on the pulpit by the pastor, who also gave similar ones to Mrs. O'Brien, Miss Ruth Aley, church and revival organist, "Grandmother" Woods, Mrs. Harry Chilton, Mrs. James Matheny for her husband who is ill and to others who are for the moment in the City hospital.

"All who have appreciated Rev. Mr. Morris and will pray for him raise your hands" shouted Rev. Mr. O'Brien in final action of the revival. Hands everywhere were lifted. "And want him to come back sometime?" he continued. An avalanche of 'Amens' chorused affirmatively.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the Kiln Hands and the women of the D. E. McNicol Pottery plant for floral offerings, also the Rev. Caulk who officiated in our recent sad bereavement.

POMONA GRANGE HOLDS SESSION

New Officers Elected at Meeting Held in Salem Grange Hall.

New officers were elected at the meeting of Pomona Grange held at Salem Grange hall, Saturday afternoon. Six resolutions as presented by the committee on resolutions were adopted, and arrangements were made to have the next meeting at Perry grange hall Saturday, February 19.

The following resolutions were approved:

A dog license law sufficiently large in collection that will insure adequate compensation for all damage done to stock and persons each calander year; and no part of this fund to be paid out for other purposes until a balance has been accumulated approximately to the extent of the value of annual damages. That claims shall be paid within 30 days after adjustment.

Have proper authorities appropriate a fund under the present law from which shall be paid 25-cents per head bounty for all crows killed.

Endorse stand of State Grange in regard to the 2.65 tax levy for school purposes.

Oppose present system of granting divorces for trivial reasons.

Favoring appointment of home demonstration agent.

The meeting was attended by about 200 men and women. The address of welcome was delivered by Frank Vincent, master of Salem grange. Mr. Bactel head of the soils department of the Ohio Experimental Station was the principal speaker during the afternoon session. Circuit Judge L. T. Farr was to have addressed the meeting, but on account of the press of court work was unable to be present. A program of vocal and instrumental music was followed.

UNION SERVICES HERE WEDNESDAY

Lisbon churches will join in a union Thanksgiving service at the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church next Wednesday evening. The music will be furnished by a massed choir from the Methodist and Christian churches. Special music will be given by the male quartet of the Christian church.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 1000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from C. G. Anderson today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and will do the same for you.

Piles Go Quick
Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 1000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from C. G. Anderson today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and will do the same for you.

NEW WAR FILM AT AMERICAN

Tender Love Story in Picture, "Forever After."

They are showing a new type of war picture at the American theatre today, tomorrow and Wednesday, a war picture that isn't all guns and shooting and dying and fighting, a war picture that really traces the drama of a single soul in the march through the peaceful days before the world went wild and his subsequent mad dash into conflict as an escape from the far more dreaded events of peacetime.

It's the sort of a story that's been itching to be filmed for years and First National has done a superb job with it.

"Forever After" is the name of the picture.

This piece is real drama, drama that tears at your heart-strings and then kids you into a subtle smile; drama that makes you want to weep and then drives up your tears with a side-splitting laugh.

The story of a young boy in a New England town who loves a girl far too wealthy for him to wed. Through their adolescent school days, extremely well done in the film, and on into the gay adventures of college, they take it for granted they are meant for one another. The boy becomes the hero of his school after a thrilling football game (filmed by the crack University of Southern California eleven) and then graduated, starts to claim his childhood mate.

Here the utter pathos of real life enters when social differences and family ambitions step in to thwart the course of the youngsters' tender love.

Gripping Climax.

Rebuffed, bitter, not with the hokum melodrama that marks so many other war pictures, the boy seeks solace and perhaps an escape from his broken heart in the World war.

From then on the action in "Forever After" rushes through an intriguing plot to a sensational denouement.

Mary Astor is perfectly heavenly in her pale beauty in this picture. Lloyd Hugghes is as convincing a hero as we have seen on the screen in many a month, and the supporting cast boasts of some fine acting from Eulalie Jensen, John S. Polis, Hal Cooley and those lovable character actors, David Torrence and Alec Francis. F. Harmon Weight directed this film version of the stage success by Owen Davis.

Home-made Remedy Stops Cough Quickly

Finest cough medicine you ever used. Family supply easily made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, famous for healing the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Trade Goes Where the Light Glows

YOU can't conduct a prosperous business in a dingy, poorly lighted store. Not in this day of electricity!

The old fashioned merchant who substituted an electric lamp hanging from the ceiling for the kerosene lamp he formerly used, is no further behind the times than the storekeeper who is giving his customers just half enough light.

An abundance of light inspires confidence in your clerks and your goods—it makes buying a pleasure.

Christmas shoppers enjoy buying at a well lighted store.

Store Lighting Experts

This company employs trained store lighting engineers who are ready to advise any merchant who wishes to modernize his store with attractive lighting. This cooperation is available in every city, town and village we serve.

Reserve Players Figure In High's 26-12 Win at Leetonia

REAL ALL-AMERICAN TEAM

Blue Seconds Punch Line and Run Wings For Four Counters

Penalties Amounting to 145 Yards, Coupled With Frequent Changes in Lineup, as Coaches Look Over 1927 Prospects, Keep Score Down.

As was generally expected, East Liverpool high gridders found the going fairly easy at Leetonia Saturday and Coaches Kidder and Cox used practically every reserve man on the roster in running up a 26 to 12 victory.

The game was played at Kelley's park and the weather was unseasonably cold.

Feit and Wildblood, a couple of "comers," started on the wings for the Blue with Allison and Clark at tackles and Wucherer and Walt Smith at guards. Boyd undertook center duties. Skidmore, Mackall, Deidrick and Kirkham formed the backfield quartet.

This outfit punched over the first touchdown of the game in the first period and registered another in the second quarter. At that time Coach Kidder began to make frequent changes in his lineup, with a number of the boys needing quarters for their letters, and the Leetonians managed to sneak over a couple of touchdowns, a forward pass from the 21 to the 11 yard line, a five-yard penalty and a series of line bucks accounting for the first one. The locals were assessed three 15-yard penalties after that one and with the lineup changed about as it was, they gave the home eleven its second score.

In the third period the regulars were back in long enough to start another touchdown march and the Blue tacked on another in the final quarter.

The Blue ran the ends and smashed the Leetonia line almost at will but frequent changes as the local coaches experimented with various plays, formations and players, together with the frequency with which officials penalized the team, kept the score down.

They also held the lead in the matter of penalties. The Potters were penalized 11 times for a total distance of 145 yards as compared with Leetonia's 15.

Totals show gains of 523 yards for the Blue and White as against 69 by Leetonia, outside of penalties.

Time of quarters—12.

They scathed. Nick Allison, guard, sustained a fractured rib and Todd, center, twisted a knee. Neither will likely be used in the Wellsville game.

Against Leetonia the locals punched the line for 106 yards with Leetonia making 33 by the same method. East Liverpool's end runs netted a total of 139 yards while the Blue wingmen prevented the home eleven from making a single yard with the same tactics.

The locals completed seven out of 14 passes, Leetonia, four out of 13.

Laughlin Chinas And Salineville To Battle Again

In the third of a three-game series for gridiron supremacy, the Laughlin Chinas and the Salineville Independents will clash on Thursday afternoon, Thanksgiving day, at Salineville.

Each team has a game to its credit victory Saturday afternoon at Newell.

Chap Finley and Staats were the big guns in the Laughlin offensive, Finley accounting for both touchdowns as well as a brilliant performance in scrimmage throughout the contest.

"Hunk" Dill put up a good exhibition as a member of the visiting eleven.

The Laughlins will practice tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday at their lot near the "gas station." Players are ordered to report tonight at 6 o'clock.

RESUME PLAY IN DUCKPIN LOOP

Hostilities will be resumed tonight in the Business Men's Duckpin league at the Liberty Alleys.

One change marks the circuit as the second week opens. The squad heretofore rolling under the name of the Liberty five will be known from now one as the Chryslers.

Smith News and the Roselawns clash tonight with Turk-Nash, meeting the Bankers tomorrow.

The Chryslers are matched with the Altman Clothiers for Friday.

LAFAYETTE BACK LEADS IN EAST

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Mike Wilson, of Lafayette, apparently has won the individual scoring honors in eastern football with 120 points. Williams, of the Connecticut Aggies, is second with 90 and Harry Wilson, of the Army, is third with 80.

Other league leaders: Lane, Dartmouth, 75; Weston, Boston college, 72; Strong, N. Y. U., 66; Madden, Columbia, 64; Carr, Syracuse, 59; Shaughnessy, Colgate, 59, and Connor, N. Y. U., 58.

JOESTING LEADS BIG TEN SCORERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Herb Joesting, Minnesota's slashing fullback, was found at the top of the pack of Big Ten scoring faces when the final curtainof the 1926 conference season was rung down.

Joesting scored 13 touchdowns for a total of 78 points. Marty Karow, of Ohio State, was runner-up with 11 touchdowns and a total-point score of 66.

The ten high score men finished as follows:

Joesting, Minnesota	13	0	0	78
Karow, Ohio State	11	0	0	66

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Making good approach shots is, I should say, by far the most difficult part of golf to master. The difference between good golfers and bad ones is invariably a difference between expert approaching and lack of approaching ability. The common saying that golf games are won or lost on the putting greens does not square with the facts, in my opinion. I think they are won or lost by approaching, since most good players are good putters. This is the department of the game on which the player should spend time, energy and thought in perfecting himself — approaching. There are various approaching strokes with which the player should be familiar. They make the finiest kind of practice, too, for the off season, as well as providing interesting exercise.

PRACTICE YOUR APPROACH SHOTS

ARMY'S FUMBLES BIGGEST FAULT

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Coach Biff Jones today said that all the Army team needed in preparation for the Navy game in Chicago next Saturday was a brisk workout. The eleven got just that in its game with Ursinus last Saturday, so everybody's pleased, and today the final few days of practice got under way.

One thing the cadets must learn this week before meeting the midshipmen, and that is to hold onto the ball a little more tightly. In last Saturday's game there probably would have been two more touchdowns against Ursinus if it hadn't been for the Army's tendency to tumble. Once Murrell lost the ball on the five yard line, and another time Hewitt fumbled with a score in sight.

That's a fault that must be corrected if the Army is to win, and Coach Jones started on his corrective process today when the squad went out for practice.

SEVEN IN RACE FOR GRID TITLE

Four Stand Out Because of Superior Opposition.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—If you hail from South Bend, you are convinced today that Notre Dame is entitled to national honors in college football. If Palo Alto collects your taxes, Stanford, winner of the coast title without a defeat, gets your vote. If dear old Tuscaloosa harbors the old homestead, you won't be able to see how Alabama can go wrong and, if it be Annapolis, Providence, Easton or Boston, you will nominate respectively the Navy, Brown, Lafayette and Boston college.

Anyhow, as the field straightened out today for the run through the stretch, these seven outfits remained unbeaten in the national sweepstakes.

Off-hand, the writer would say that possibly four of them are entitled to preferred consideration because of the fact that they have done something of a competitive steeplechase while the others have been running on the flat. It may be that this though will prompt Brown, Lafayette and Boston college to believe that I have a frayed cuff in the family closet but, so far as I know, I was not dropped on my head at an early age, or any other, by a careless nurse maid.

New York Loses First.

As far as that goes, the seven of them may harbor full many a fallen arch, in which case it might be equally possible that one of the obscure teams—St. Mary's, of California, and Loyola, of New Orleans—or one of the big timers who slipped once—Michigan and Northwestern, co-winners of the Big Ten title, or possibly Southern California, Ohio State or Nebraska—is actually the superior eleven of the day and hour.

Nebrasko dropped New York University on Saturday from the list of the undefeated, 15 to 7, a fumble saving N. Y. U. from a shutout. Holy Cross fell for the first time, too, and while it was about the matter, it was not thorough. It lost to Boston University, but helped the latter's second victory in eight starts.

Meantime, the Navy was beating Loyola, of Baltimore, 35 to 13, after the latter had scored all of its points in the first period against the Middie substitutes; Lafayette was winning a 35 to 0 decision over Lehigh, Boston College was beating Gettysburg, 39 to 0. Brown was running over New Hampshire, 40 to 12, the dove-tailing Notre Dame varsities were beating Drake, 21 to 0, after being held to six points for three periods, and Stanford was making human hamburger of California, 41 to 6. Alabama did not play, which undoubtedly was somebody's good luck.

Stiff Opposition.

So much for the big seven. Having taken a wild swing at their particular situation, the writer will follow it up with a straight left, to wit: Notre Dame has played and beaten Minnesota, Penn State, Northwestern, Georgia Tech, Indiana, the Army and Drake, for a loss of only seven points. The Navy has beaten Purdue, Princeton, Colgate, Michigan and Georgetown. Alabama has won from the best in its section, including Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech, Sewanee, Louisiana State, Kentucky and Florida. Stanford's victims are Nevada, Oregon, Southern California, Santa Clara, Washington and California.

Contrast that kind of opposition with the Boston college schedule, which includes Catholic University, Fordham, St. Louis, West Virginia Wesleyan, Villanova, Gettysburg and Haskel. The Indians were the best of a poor lot and got a 21-21 tie.

Hail Lafayette.

Some of the boys in the back room are hailing Lafayette as the team of the season. Maybe it is but the point I make is that it didn't have to prove it against such as Muhlenberg, Schylkill, Dickinson, Albright and Rutgers. The only good ones, Pittsburgh and W. and J., are not the hottest on record, either.

Brown has built its reputation on the fact that it beat Yale, Dartmouth and Harvard. This may be hard to do but, somehow or other, I can't seem to realize it. However, if Brown beats Colgate, there will be nothing for it but to rally right around and cheer the boys to the well known echo. This will be the show-down game for Brown.

The defeats of Michigan and Northwestern by the Navy and Notre Dame, respectively, depreciate the Big Ten's right to name a national contender. It hasn't even a definite champion. Michigan, winning its second in a row by the margin of exactly one point and one fumble each, beat Minnesota, 7 to 6, and finished in a tie with Northwestern, which encountered unexpected opposition from Iowa but won, 13 to 6. Ohio State clinched third place by a one-point decision over Illinois, 7 to 6, while Chicago lost to Wisconsin, 14 to 7, and failed to win a conference game, which may or may not be a Maroon record.

South Gets "Breather."

The south drew something of a sectional "breather" but the valley conference was quite active. In spite of the fact that Nebraska and Oklahoma were occupied elsewhere, Missouri and Kansas Aggies winning from Kansas and Iowa State respectively.

Fitting closely over the face, a rubber mask that can be filled with water is intended to overcome pain from neuralgia.

COME ON, FANS! NAME 'EM--- ELEVEN GREATEST STARS

The accompanying telegram speaks for itself, fans. Read it.

Sporting Editor The East Liverpool Review-Tribune:

Am asking you as sporting editor of an enterprising newspaper, to help me choose a real All-American football eleven by joining sporting editors of 500 other papers receiving Central Press service in obtaining from their readers a consensus of popular opinion as to whom should be named on such an eleven. My only part will be to compile the results sent me by each sporting editor at the close of the poll in his territory. Will you and your readers assist me?

NORMAN E. BROWN, Sporting Editor,
Central Press Association.

WANTS TO PRESENT REAL TEAM

In other words, ye intrepid sporting editor, with you help, is going to assist Norman Brown in making the first earnest effort to draft a mythical All-American eleven that will be truly representative of the sentiment of the entire country—not that of an individual or a small group of men.

What do you think of the idea?

Well, the best way to let us know is to burst right out with your opinion by writing down the names of your favorite players in the ballot printed elsewhere on this page and mailing it in to the sporting editor himself.

You have been following the leading players of every section of the country—of Brown, U. of Southern California, Alabama, Northwestern and those of other teams.

From the galaxy of stars developed at all these colleges which men would you name for All-American honors? Which men do you think lead all their rivals at their positions?

All right. Write down their names. And be sure to mail in your selections so that they will reach the Review-Tribune sporting editor's desk by Saturday, Dec. 4.

Here is the way the ballots will be recorded.

Each player will be given a credit of two points for each time his name appears as a first team selection. He will receive one point each time he is mentioned as a second team selection. The points credited to each player mentioned will be totalled at the close of the polls Saturday, Dec. 4, and the sporting editor will use this consensus of opinion in making out the Review-Tribune's All-American eleven. This team will be representative of the sentiment in this section of the country. It will be printed in the Review-Tribune.

The ends receiving the greatest number of points will be placed on the first team. Those rated next in the second team choices, and so on for each position.

WILL CARRY OUT POINT SYSTEM

This representative eleven (or first and second elevens) will then be forwarded to Norman E. Brown. Using each one of these sectional choices as an individual ballot Brown will compile the points scored by each man on the same basis (two points for each time named on the first team and one for each time mentioned as second team choice). The men receiving the greatest number of points in this final tabulation will then be placed on the REAL ALL-AMERICAN eleven and the second team listed opposite it.

There will be no hearsay or guess work in making these selections. There can be no personal bias. The team will be your team—that of the readers of the nation.

Come on with your vote.

And then watch for the announcement of the Review-Tribune's All-American, compiled from your votes and later the Real All-American! TOUCHDOWN, READERS!

NAVY TOUCHES UP FOR CADET JOUST

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 22.—The Navy football team today began the final touching up for the annual service classic next Saturday, when they meet the Army team in Chicago.

Coach Bill Ingram announced that at the moment it looked as if Schuber would start in the backfield instead of Goudge, who played quarterback against Michigan successfully and who had first call on the place until he was injured in the Georgetown game.

This, with the placing of Osburn at centre instead of Hoener, are so far the only changes from the line up which faced Michigan.

BIRTHDAY PARTY AFTER GRID GAME

Ralph Springer, fullback of the Chester Junior high school team, was honor guest at a banquet held by the team and a number of its followers Saturday night in the Parkersburg "Y" following the contest. Springer Saturday celebrated his 16th birthday and helped eat the big cake that had been baked especially for the party.

Among those who attended the party were Mrs. Edith Geon and daughter, Beth; Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Rembert; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jackson and daughter, Bessie Jane; Miss Etta Wedgewood, Miss Maxine Bloore, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, Earl Milby, Knowles Hobbs, and Misses Mildred Young and Ruth Hobbs, students at Ohio U., at Athens, who made the trip to Parkersburg to see the game.

JUNIOR ELEVEN IS BEATEN, 14-0

Chester Kids Put Up Game Fight at Parkersburg.

Outweighed at a rate of approximately 30 to 40 pounds to the man Chester's Junior High school football team went down to defeat in a game fight Saturday afternoon at Parkersburg, 13 to 0. The Hancock countians partially overcame the weight advantage by a smarter brand of football that won comment from home fans and coaches alike, but were unable to score.

The Parkersburg eleven scored their first touchdown in the early part of the second period when, in a series of line plays, they advanced the ball to the Chester five-yard line and Fullback Bosley crashed over the goal line.

The second counter came in the third period when, after another advance from mid-field by line plunges, Benedum pushed the ball to the Chester two yard line, where he took it over by a quarterback sneak. Grow kicked for extra point. Several times the Chester eleven advanced the ball to within striking distance, by means of forward passing and offtackle plays, but at the critical time were stopped by the fighting Junior high's.

Johnson and Brown on the Chester terminals and Springer, captain and fullback, were outstanding stars for the visiting eleven, both on defense and offense. Their teammates showed splendid teamwork, and fought to the end, trying to turn defeat into victory, having not lost a game in three years. This was the first time they were scored on during the present season.

Bosley and Benedum of the Juniors carried the bulk of the offense, while they were also exceptionally good on defense work.

The visiting eleven, with their small band of rooters won the respect of local fans by their splendid exhibition. Parkersburg made advances at will through the Chester line, experiencing no difficulty at any stage.

Blue Seconds Punch Line and Run Wings For Four Counters

Penalties Amounting to 145 Yards, Coupled With Frequent Changes in Lineup, as Coaches Look Over 1927 Prospects, Keep Score Down.

As was generally expected, East Liverpool high gridders found the going fairly easy at Leetonia Saturday and Coaches Kidder and Cox used practically every reserve man on the roster in running up a 26 to 12 victory.

The game was played at Kelley's park and the weather was unseasonably cold.

Feit and Wildblood, a couple of "comers," started on the wings for the Blue with Allison and Clark at tackles and Wucherer and Walt Smith at guards. Boyd undertook center duties. Skidmore, Mackall, Deidrick and Kirkham formed the backfield quartet.

This outfit punched over the first touchdown of the game in the first period and registered another in the second quarter. At that time Coach Kidder began to make frequent changes in his lineup, with a number of the boys needing quarters for their letters, and the Leetonians managed to sneak over a couple of touchdowns, a forward pass from the 21 to the 11 yard line, a five-yard penalty and a series of line bucks accounting for the first one. The locals were assessed three 15-yard penalties after that one and with the lineup changed about as it was, they gave the home eleven its second score.

In the third period the regulars were back in long enough to start another touchdown march and the Blue tacked on another in the final quarter.

The Blue ran the ends and smashed the Leetonia line almost at will but frequent changes as the local coaches experimented with various plays, formations and players, together with the frequency with which officials penalized the team, kept the score down.

They also held the lead in the matter of penalties. The Potters were penalized 11 times for a total distance of 145 yards as compared with Leetonia's 15.

Totals show gains of 523 yards for the Blue and White as against 69 by Leetonia, outside of penalties.

Laughlin Chinas And Salineville To Battle Again

In the third of a three-game series for gridiron supremacy, the Laughlin Chinas and the Salineville Independents will clash on Thursday afternoon, Thanksgiving day, at Salineville.

Each team has a game to its credit victory Saturday afternoon at Newell.

Chap Finley and Staats were the big guns in the Laughlin offensive, Finley accounting for both touchdowns as well as a brilliant performance in scrimmage throughout the contest.

"Hunk" Dill put up a good exhibition as a member of the visiting eleven.

The Laughlins will practice tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday at their lot near the "gas station." Players are ordered to report tonight at 6 o'clock.

RESUME PLAY IN DUCKPIN LOOP

Hostilities will be resumed tonight in the Business Men's Duckpin league at the Liberty Alleys.

One change marks the circuit as the second week opens. The squad heretofore rolling under the name of the Liberty five will be known from now one as the Chryslers.

Smith News and the Roselawns clash tonight with Turk-Nash, meeting the Bankers tomorrow.

The Chryslers are matched with the Altman Clothiers for Friday.

LAFAYETTE BACK LEADS IN EAST

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Mike Wilson, of Lafayette, apparently has won the individual scoring honors in eastern football with 120 points. Williams, of the Connecticut Aggies, is second with 90 and Harry Wilson, of the Army, is third with 80.

Other league leaders: Lane, Dartmouth, 75; Weston, Boston college, 72; Strong, N. Y. U., 66; Madden, Columbia, 64; Carr, Syracuse, 59; Shaughnessy, Colgate, 59, and Connor, N. Y. U., 58.

JOESTING LEADS BIG TEN SCORERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Herb Joesting, Minnesota's slashing fullback, was found at the top of the pack of Big Ten scoring faces when the final curtainof the 1926 conference season was rung down.

Joesting scored 13 touchdowns for a total of 78 points. Marty Karow, of Ohio State, was runner-up with 11 touchdowns and a total-point score of 66.

The ten high score men finished as follows:

Joesting, Minnesota	13	0	0	78
Karow, Ohio State	11	0	0	66
Nydahl, Minnesota	8	0	11	59
Gustafson, Northwest'n	9	0	1	55

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Making good approach shots is, I should say, by far the most difficult part of golf to master. The difference between good golfers and bad ones is invariably a difference between expert approaching and lack of approaching ability. The common saying that golf games are won or lost on the putting greens does not square with the facts, in my opinion. I think they are won or lost by approaching, since most good players are good putters. This is the department of the game on which the player should spend time, energy and thought in perfecting himself — approaching. There are various approaching strokes with which the player should be familiar. They make the finest kind of practice, too, for the off season, as well as providing interesting exercise. ARMY'S FUMBLES BIGGEST FAULT

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Coach Biff Jones today said that all the Army team needed in preparation for the Navy game in Chicago next Saturday was a brisk workout. The eleven got just that in its game with Ursinus last Saturday, so everybody's pleased, and today the final few days of practice got under way.

One thing the cadets must learn this week before meeting the midshipmen, and that is to hold onto the ball a little more tightly. In last Saturday's game there probably would have been two more touchdowns against Ursinus if it hadn't been for the Army's tendency to fumble. Once Murrell lost the ball on the five yard line, and another time Hewitt fumbled with a score in sight.

That's a fault that must be corrected if the Army is to win, and Coach Jones started on his corrective process today when the squad went out for practice.

Several times the Chester eleven advanced the ball to within striking distance, by means of forward passing and offtackle plays, but at the critical time were stopped by the fighting Junior high's.

Johnson and Brown on the Chester terminals and Springer, captain and fullback, were outstanding stars for the visiting eleven, both on defense and offense. Their teammates showed splendid teamwork, and fought to the end, trying to turn defeat into victory, having not lost a game in three years. This was the first time they were scored on during the present season.

Bosley and Benedum of the Juniors carried the bulk of the offense, while they were also exceptionally good on defense work.

The visiting eleven, with their small band of rooters won the respect of local fans by their splendid exhibition. Parkersburg made advances at will through the Chester line, experiencing no difficulty at any stage.

He inclined his head.

"Well," she mused, "I don't know why not. It's as natural as the slow way. I can't help wondering where you've been all this while, though. Living in a vacuum tube?"

"Why, yes. Just about that, I'm afraid.'

"But if you go away now . . . you see, there's one thing you have certainly done. You've stirred her up. I don't believe anybody else had done that to her for years. You don't know Hester. She never runs around at night. You could have knocked me down with a hare's foot the other night when I realized she was staying out with you. It's the first time she's done such a thing since she's been with this troupe. Why, she doesn't even join in when we dance. Just sits alone and writes letters to her folks and reads books. I tell you, she's a funny one. Now, you listen to Auntie! The thing for you to do is to stick around. She's upset now. And she's moody, awful moody. Give her a little time, but be sure you're on hand when she comes around. She will, believe me. She knows well enough . . . as she will when she comes to her senses . . That you're no John."

He didn't know what a "John" was. "I'll be back,' he said, and she felt determination in him, "but I've got to make the effort." And he added forlornly, "if it's only to square up for what I did."

"Seems to me you're taking it too seriously, Julian. Let me tell you something you don't seem to know. Girls don't like lame puppies around. Not too much of that sort of thing. They like to be managed. There's a little bit of truth in this sheik and cave man stuff. Oh, there is! Tell me, have you really tried to get at her and make her see straight?"

"I dont know that I have. How could I? The way she looks at me and dodges away."

"Oh, slush!" observed Sadies, thoughtfully.

"No, I'm going tonight."

"Where to?"

"Well . . . Hollywood. But I don't want these people to know."

" I won't tell 'em. You know people in Hollywood?"

"Why, no. That is, not exactly. In a way. At least I've thought of something I might be able to do. If it doesn't work, at least I shall have tried."

"Well, if you won't take my advice and work right on the ground . . ."

"I tell you I can't . . ."

"What are you going to do? Drive all night?"

He nodded. "Might as well. I can't sleep."

"Hmm!" She was thinking. "You'd be easier to manage if you had a little knowledge of women."

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches rub on good old Musterole.

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister

First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

How to Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days

If You Don't Do It, Get Your Money Back.

Ask any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

It's the new pleasant way to take nasty Cod Liver Oil and will not upset the most delicate stomach.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good, healthy, solid flesh, and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often taken on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact Mathews Med. Store and all druggists are authorized to return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days.

One thin woman gained 15 pounds in six weeks.

Insist on McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets— 60 cents.

EAST END

C. E. SOCIETY MEMBERS MEET

Harold W. King, of Warren, state Christian Endeavor society worker, spoke yesterday afternoon at a conference for young people in the Second Presbyterian church. He also had charge of the young people's meeting in the evening.

Church orchestra under the direction of J. S. Noah gave selections at the night services.

MIDLAND CHURCH MEET PLANNED

Union services in observance of Thanksgiving day will be held Wednesday evening in the Midland Presbyterian church. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. W. J. Law, pastor of the Midland Methodist Episcopal church.

Special musical program has been arranged including selections by a quartet.

Midland High Wins.

Midland high school football team defeated Beaver high Saturday in a game at Midland. The Steel City gridders had little trouble in downing the county seat aggregation.

Dr. Burnside Speaks Here.

Dr. R. W. Burnside, secretary of the board on ministerial relief, filled the pulpit of the Second United Presbyterian church. Mrs. J. O Sands of Pittsburgh, spoke at the thank offering services of the missionary societies at the morning services.

Lodge Meeting Listed.

Members of Eureka circle No. 86, Protected Home Circle, will meet tomorrow night in the Hill building, Mulberry street. Routine business will be transacted.

Quarterly Conference Held.

Dr. J. S. Powell, of Steubenville, district superintendent, conducted quarterly conference and spoke yesterday morning in the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church.

TWO SERVICES CLOSE BAPTIST CHURCH MEET

Rev. Mel Morris Concludes Four-week Campaign.

WILL REST HERE

Delegation Will Hear United Presbyterian Evangelist.

Amid enthusiasm at results accomplished and blessings received though with marked regret at the necessity of its conclusion the First Baptist church revival, following a duration of four weeks, was ended last evening. During it many persons experienced conversion and many more reconsecrated themselves to Christian activity.

Rev. Mel Morris, of Greensboro, Md., delivered two outstanding sermons during the day. "The Unpardonable Sin," his evening theme, was heard by a crowd that filled the auditorium and overflow sections of the building. In the morning he spoke on the subject, "Simon Lifted By Satan."

Though he has been physically below par for several days Rev. Mr. Morris did not spare himself in his final message to his hearers. With appealing clarity he indicated the nature of sin that has passed the pale of pardon. Utilizing illustration and logic he held his audience and developed marked conviction that sent several fordward in contrition for prayer.

Because of his inability to travel for a few days the evangelist announced that he would remain in East Liverpool for a brief period resting ere returning to his home to reduce a fractured nose of unknown cause. According, and because advices last week indicated the resignation of the pastor of a Newport, N. J., church, where he had previously agreed to go for the remainder of the year, he postponed the engagement and will devote much of this interim in getting into condition for a series of meetings that he is to begin at the First Baptist church in New Castle, Pa., early next year.

During his stay here Rev. Mr. Morris has been accompanied by Mrs. Morris, who assisted in the personal work of the revival. She will accompany her husband home.

"I appreciate every effort taken in this campaign as well as that earlier in the year when I was here," declared the evangelist at the outset of his Sunday night discourse. Especially do I appreciate the hospitality of Pastor and Mrs. O'Brien and the other members of the congregation, all of whom have done all they can by regular attendance and otherwise in contributing to the success of this series of meetings. I have learned to love you all and shall always remember you in my prayers."

Rev. Mr. Morris spoke glowingly of his appreciation of the East Liverpool Review-Tribune for its accounts of the revival. "Through it I have managed to speak to a larger audience than could be possibly be accommodated in this building," he said. "it serves to convince any skeptic that newspapers do and will co-operate in the dispensation of religious news."

Preceding the night service two adults were administered the rite of baptism by immersion.

The invocations at both services were made by Rev. Mr. O'Brien, who also announced that following the prayer meeting on next Wednesday evening those in attendance would go in a body to the First United Presbyterian church to hear Rev. Dr. Newland, an evangelist, who has just begun a series of meetings for that congregation. "I know Dr. Newland personally," asserted the pastor "and can attest to his ability for the special work that he has undertaken in our neighbor church."

Directed by Harry Chilton, who had charge of the music during the day the choir on Sunday evening sang, "Lead Me Gently Home" with Mrs. Chilton he also sang "Who Can It Be But Jesus."

Called to the platform by Rev. Mr. O'Brien Mrs. Morris was waved a parting salute by the congregation whereupon she was presented a huge chrysanthemum from a large bouquet on the pulpit by the pastor, who also gave similar ones to Mrs. O Brien, Miss Ruth Aley, church and revival organist, "Grandmother" Woods, Mrs. Harry Chilton, Mrs. James Matheny for her husband who is ill and to others who are for the moment in the City hospital.

"All who have appreciated Rev. Mr. Morris and will pray for him raise your hands" shouted Rev. Mr. O'Brien in final action of the revival. Hands everywhere were lifted. "And want him to come back sometime?" he continued. An avalanche of 'Amens' chorused affirmatively.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the Kiln Hands and the women of the D. E. McNicol Pottery plant for floral offerings, also the Rev. Caulk who officiated in our recent sad bereavement.

He inclined his head.

"Well," she mused, "I don't know why not. It's as natural as the slow way. I can't help wondering where you've been all this while, though. Living in a vacuum tube?"

"Why, yes. Just about that, I'm afraid.'

"But if you go away now . . . you see, there's one thing you have certainly done. You've stirred her up. I don't believe anybody else had done that to her for years. You don't know Hester. She never runs around at night. You could have knocked me down with a hare's foot the other night when I realized she was staying out with you. It's the first time she's done such a thing since she's been with this troupe. Why, she doesn't even join in when we dance. Just sits alone and writes letters to her folks and reads books. I tell you, she's a funny one. Now, you listen to Auntie! The thing for you to do is to stick around. She's upset now. And she's moody, awful moody. Give her a little time, but be sure you're on hand when she comes around. She will, believe me. She knows well enough . . . as she will when she comes to her senses . . That you're no John."

He didn't know what a "John" was. "I'll be back,' he said, and she felt determination in him, "but I've got to make the effort." And he added forlornly, "if it's only to square up for what I did."

"Seems to me you're taking it too seriously, Julian. Let me tell you something you don't seem to know. Girls don't like lame puppies around. Not too much of that sort of thing. They like to be managed. There's a little bit of truth in this sheik and cave man stuff. Oh, there is! Tell me, have you really tried to get at her and make her see straight?"

"I dont know that I have. How could I? The way she looks at me and dodges away."

"Oh, slush!" observed Sadies, thoughtfully.

"No, I'm going tonight."

"Where to?"

"Well . . . Hollywood. But I don't want these people to know."

" I won't tell 'em. You know people in Hollywood?"

"Why, no. That is, not exactly. In a way. At least I've thought of something I might be able to do. If it doesn't work, at least I shall have tried."

"Well, if you won't take my advice and work right on the ground . . ."

"I tell you I can't . . ."

"What are you going to do? Drive all night?"

He nodded. "Might as well. I can't sleep."

"Hmm!" She was thinking. "You'd be easier to manage if you had a little knowledge of women."

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches rub on good old Musterole.

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister

First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

How to Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days

If You Don't Do It, Get Your Money Back.

Ask any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

It's the new pleasant way to take nasty Cod Liver Oil and will not upset the most delicate stomach.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good, healthy, solid flesh, and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often taken on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact Mathews Med. Store and all druggists are authorized to return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days.

One thin woman gained 15 pounds in six weeks.

Insist on McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets— 60 cents.

EAST END

C. E. SOCIETY MEMBERS MEET

Harold W. King, of Warren, state Christian Endeavor society worker, spoke yesterday afternoon at a conference for young people in the Second Presbyterian church. He also had charge of the young people's meeting in the evening.

Church orchestra under the direction of J. S. Noah gave selections at the night services.

MIDLAND CHURCH MEET PLANNED

Union services in observance of Thanksgiving day will be held Wednesday evening in the Midland Presbyterian church. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. W. J. Law, pastor of the Midland Methodist Episcopal church.

Special musical program has been arranged including selections by a quartet.

Midland High Wins.

Midland high school football team defeated Beaver high Saturday in a game at Midland. The Steel City gridders had little trouble in downing the county seat aggregation.

Dr. Burnside Speaks Here.

Dr. R. W. Burnside, secretary of the board on ministerial relief, filled the pulpit of the Second United Presbyterian church. Mrs. J. O Sands of Pittsburgh, spoke at the thank offering services of the missionary societies at the morning services.

Lodge Meeting Listed.

Members of Eureka circle No. 86, Protected Home Circle, will meet tomorrow night in the Hill building, Mulberry street. Routine business will be transacted.

Quarterly Conference Held.

Dr. J. S. Powell, of Steubenville, district superintendent, conducted quarterly conference and spoke yesterday morning in the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church.

recruited with youths who, full of liquor or dope, look upon killing as a mere incident. They go in primarily for automatics, but in many instances they use machine guns. Liquor wars, in particular, have developed the use of the last mentioned arm.

Armored cars and bullet-proof vests are of the up-to-date equipment of policemen.

Then, too, the police are interested in various new devices that used in directing or controlling traffic: Automatic lights of which there are a dozen varieties; metal markers to be driven into the pavement that will last for years; new paints for traffic signs on pavements that will survive weeks of heavy travel before it si necessary to repaint them; whistles, sirens, and what not.

TWO SERVICES CLOSE BAPTIST CHURCH MEET

Rev. Mel Morris Concludes Four-week Campaign.

WILL REST HERE

Delegation Will Hear United Presbyterian Evangelist.

Amid enthusiasm at results accomplished and blessings received though with marked regret at the necessity of its conclusion the First Baptist church revival, following a duration of four weeks, was ended last evening. During it many persons experienced conversion and many more reconsecrated themselves to Christian activity.

Rev. Mel Morris, of Greensboro, Md., delivered two outstanding sermons during the day. "The Unpardonable Sin," his evening theme, was heard by a crowd that filled the auditorium and overflow sections of the building. In the morning he spoke on the subject, "Simon Lifted By Satan."

Though he has been physically below par for several days Rev. Mr. Morris did not spare himself in his final message to his hearers. With appealing clarity he indicated the nature of sin that has passed the pale of pardon. Utilizing illustration and logic he held his audience and developed marked conviction that sent several fordward in contrition for prayer.

Because of his inability to travel for a few days the evangelist announced that he would remain in East Liverpool for a brief period resting ere returning to his home to reduce a fractured nose of unknown cause. According, and because advices last week indicated the resignation of the pastor of a Newport, N. J., church, where he had previously agreed to go for the remainder of the year, he postponed the engagement and will devote much of this interim in getting into condition for a series of meetings that he is to begin at the First Baptist church in New Castle, Pa., early next year.

During his stay here Rev. Mr. Morris has been accompanied by Mrs. Morris, who assisted in the personal work of the revival. She will accompany her husband home.

"I appreciate every effort taken in this campaign as well as that earlier in the year when I was here," declared the evangelist at the outset of his Sunday night discourse. Especially do I appreciate the hospitality of Pastor and Mrs. O'Brien and the other members of the congregation, all of whom have done all they can by regular attendance and otherwise in contributing to the success of this series of meetings. I have learned to love you all and shall always remember you in my prayers."

Rev. Mr. Morris spoke glowingly of his appreciation of the East Liverpool Review-Tribune for its accounts of the revival. "Through it I have managed to speak to a larger audience than could be possibly be accommodated in this building," he said. "it serves to convince any skeptic that newspapers do and will co-operate in the dispensation of religious news."

Preceding the night service two adults were administered the rite of baptism by immersion.

The invocations at both services were made by Rev. Mr. O'Brien, who also announced that following the prayer meeting on next Wednesday evening those in attendance would go in a body to the First United Presbyterian church to hear Rev. Dr. Newland, an evangelist, who has just begun a series of meetings for that congregation. "I know Dr. Newland personally," asserted the pastor "and can attest to his ability for the special work that he has undertaken in our neighbor church."

Directed by Harry Chilton, who had charge of the music during the day the choir on Sunday evening sang, "Lead Me Gently Home" with Mrs. Chilton he also sang "Who Can It Be But Jesus."

Called to the platform by Rev. Mr. O'Brien Mrs. Morris was waved a parting salute by the congregation whereupon she was presented a huge chrysanthemum from a large bouquet on the pulpit by the pastor, who also gave similar ones to Mrs. O'Brien, Miss Ruth Aley, church and revival organist, "Grandmother" Woods, Mrs. Harry Chilton, Mrs. James Matheny for her husband who is ill and to others who are for the moment in the City hospital.

"All who have appreciated Rev. Mr. Morris and will pray for him raise your hands" shouted Rev. Mr. O'Brien in final action of the revival. Hands everywhere were lifted. "And want him to come back sometime?" he continued. An avalanche of 'Amens' chorused affirmatively.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the Kiln Hands and the women of the D. E. McNicol Pottery plant for floral offerings, also the Rev. Caulk who officiated in our recent sad bereavement.

NEW WAR FILM AT AMERICAN

Tender Love Story in Picture, "Forever After."

They are showing a new type of war picture at the American theatre today, tomorrow and Wednesday, a war picture that isn't all guns and shooting and dying and fighting, a war picture that really traces the drama of a single soul in the march through the peaceful days before the world went wild and his subsequent mad dash into conflict as an escape from the far more dreaded events of peacetime.

It's the sort of a story that's been itching to be filmed for years and First National has done a superb job with it.

"Forever After" is the name of the picture.

This piece is real drama, drama that tears at your heart strings and then kids you into a subtle smile; drama that makes you want to weep and then dries up your tears with a side-splitting laugh.

The story of a young boy in a New England town who loves a girl far too wealthy for him to wed. Through their adolescent school days, extremely well done in the film, and on into the gay adventures of college, they take it for granted they are meant for one another. The boy becomes the hero of his school after a thrilling football game (filmed by the crack University of Southern California eleven) and then graduated, starts to claim his childhood mate.

Here the utter pathos of real life enters when social differences and family ambitions step in to thwart the course of the youngsters' tender love.

Gripping Climax.

Rebuffed, bitter, not with the hokum melodrama that marks so many other war pictures, the boy seeks solace and perhaps an escape from his broken heart in the World war.

From then on the action in "Forever After" rushes through an intriguing plot to a sensational denouement.

Mary Astor is perfectly heavenly in her pale beauty in this picture. Lloyd Hughes is as convincing a hero as we have seen on the screen in many a month, and the supporting cast boasts of some fine acting from Eulalie Jensen, John S. Polis, Hal Cooley and those lovable character actors, David Torrence and Alec Francis. F. Harmon Weight directed this film version of the stage success by Owen Davis.

Home-made Remedy Stops Cough Quickly

Finest cough medicine you ever used. Family supply easily made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, famous for healing the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Trade Goes Where the Light Glows

YOU can't conduct a prosperous business in a dingy, poorly lighted store. Not in this day of electricity!

The old fashioned merchant who substituted an electric lamp hanging from the ceiling for the kerosene lamp he formerly used, is no further behind the times than the storekeeper who is giving his customers just half enough light.

Store Lighting Experts

This company employs trained store lighting engineers who are ready to advise any merchant who wishes to modernize his store with attractive lighting. This cooperation is available in every city, town and village we serve.

An abundance of light inspires confidence in your clerks and your goods—it makes buying a pleasure.

Christmas shoppers enjoy buying at a well lighted store.

THE London Times and the Paris Temps agree that President Coolidge's Armistice Day speech, "makes active and permanent collaboration between Europe and the United States seem impossible."

That is most encouraging to Americans that mean to look after their own business, while Europe attends to hers.

All's well that ends well, the world court foolishness seems to be dead, and that back door of the League of Nations closed up.

CALIFORNIA'S association of editors is told "a newspaper can be run without crime news." Of course it can. Salad could be run without oil, vinegar, salt or pepper, but it would not be much of a salad.

You can't tell the news of the United States without telling about crime, from the stealing of a naval oil reserve to the use of a flying machine and bombs, by the Shelton gang of bootleggers fighting the Birger gang in Illinois.

TO TAKE the Aimee Semple McPherson story from the people of Los Angeles would be like taking candy from a child at Christmas, and the whole country would miss the Hall-Mills case, with its jealous plotting, mystery, and [illegible]. Crime is a [illegible] to thoroughly [illegible] story, a measure [illegible] it has been of all [illegible] is news "Jones and S[illegible] accessible side or side," is not [illegible] "Jones leaned over, and bit off Smith's ear," is news.

THE use of moving pictures in schools might easily cut the school day to two hours.

George Eastman, of Rochester, is developing 50 educational pictures for experiment in public schools, a most useful work.

But too much stress is laid upon pictures teaching science and geography. The first thing to teach with motion pictures is HISTORY.

With a good moving picture you could teach a child in 20 minutes more about the life of Lincoln than the average high school graduate knows.

SCIENCE, geography, natural history, geology, everything will be taught with pictures. But first should come the history of men. The proper study of mankind, is man.

Show Alexander, attacking the line of Persian elephants, Socrates in battle walking barefoot through the snow, Archimedes working out his problem in the sunshine, when the soldier struck him dead, Napoleon crowning himself emperor, Peter the Great working as a ship yard mechanic, Beethoven conducting his symphony, when stone deaf by watching the bow of the first violin, Anne Boleyn losing her pretty head, Galileo on his knees forced to deny the magnificent truths that he had given to the world. History, science, and all knowledge, are in reality a series

BRIDGETON, N. J., MAN, WITHOUT WARNING, OPENS FIRE IN HOME

Two Boarders Shot to Death at Breakfast.

SISTER MAY DIE

Gun Wielder Arrested Without Struggle Block Away.

BRIDGETON, N. J., Nov. 22.—Two persons were shot and killed and a third possibly fatally injured here today by Linwood Ware, 22, according to police.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. William Gandy, each 65, who boarded with Ware's parents. Mrs. Madeline Maxwell, 26, Ware's sister was the third victim. She is not expected to live. The youth used an automatic pistol.

The three were at breakfast when young Ware entered, carrying the pistol. Without a word of warning he started to shoot, and then ran from the house, police stated. He was arrested without a struggle a block away.

DELMAR LEWIS JAIL SENTENCE

Wellsville Barber to Serve 60 Days for Non-support.

Delmar Lewis, Wellsville barber, was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today upon a charge of non-support, filed by his wife. Lewis, police said, is the father of six young children.

Frank Price, of East Liverpool, who was arrested by Special Patrolman Leslie Curran, in East End, Saturday night, charged with intoxication, was fined $50 and costs. Judge Hanley suspended the fine upon condition that Price remain sober for six months and pay the costs in the case, $5.80.

Clifford Milligan, colored laborer, was also fined $50 and costs upon a charge of intoxication brought under state statutes. He will be taken to Lisbon this afternoon.

The charge of issuing worthless checks, filed by H. F. Chambers, East End, against H. J. Freid, local automobile mechanic, was dismissed by Judge Hanley upon recommendation of Solicitor Hoover after Freid settled with Chambers ad paid the costs in the case. The check was drawn on the Midland Savings & Trust Company, on November 10.

JOHN I. HODSON, 67, DRUGGIST FOR 45 YEARS, DIES IN HOME

Business Man Succumbs After Attack of Heart Disease.

ILL FIVE DAYS

Funeral Services Will be Held Wednesday Afternoon.

John I. Hodson, 67, for 45 years a druggist here, died in his home, 511 Walnut street, at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon after a five days' illness of heart disease.

He became ill at his place of business Tuesday and on Sunday morning appeared to be considerably improved. His condition took a turn for the worse about an hour before his death.

Mr. Hodson was born in Steubenville in 1859, a son of Joseph and Elizabeth Hodson, and came to East Liverpool with his family when he was a child. He first opened a drug store on Sun street and Broadway.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian church and Riddle lodge, No. 315, Free and Accepted Masons, and East Liverpool chapter No. 100, Royal Arch Masons.

He is survived by a niece, Mrs. Clara M. Holloway, wife of Jesse D. Holloway, and their son Joseph, of this city, and a nephew, Joseph F. Chapman, of Los Angeles, Cal. His wife died about 10 years ago.

Funeral services will be conducted in the home at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in charge of Rev. Donald W. MacLeod, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Friends may view the body Tuesday evening.

George Beckwith, Fined $150, Carries Case to Lisbon

Conviction of George Beckwith, West Ninth street man, charged with the illegal possession of intoxicating liquors, will be carried to the common pleas court on error, Attorney Ben L. Bennett, his counsel, announced today after Municipal Judge Hanley assessed a fine of $150.

Beckwith was arrested by Chief of Police McDermott and Captain Conley a week ago last Saturday night. A metal box, containing 15 half pint bottles of whisky was found concealed beneath a sidewalk, near Beckwith's home, police say. Beckwith, charged with ownership of the liquor, was standing near the box with a flashlight in his hand when they arrived, police claim.

The session will open at 10:30 a. m. luncheon being served at noon. Rev. Frank H. Magill, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Wellsville, will discuss "The Preacher and Stewardship," at the afternoon service.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD TRAIL OF LEGAL FENCING ENDS IN SMALL COURTROOM

CENTRAL FIGURES IN FAMOUS CASE FLANKED BY ARRAY OF LAWYERS

Two Years in Prison and Fines of $10,000 Face Two Nationally Known Characters if Government Can Prove Allegations Concerning $100,000 in Little Black Satchel.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—A four-year-old trial of legal fencing ended soon after 10 o'clock this morning in the small, drab courtroom of Justice Hoehling as Albert B. Fall and Edward L. Doheny, both grey-haired, both nationally known, went on trial on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government out of its naval oil reserves.

A small but curious crowd was present when the gavel rapped for order at 10:05 a. m.

Fall and Doheny, central figures in the famous case, sat close together, flanked on either side by one of the greatest array of legal talent ever gathered in a Washington court. Two tables, running half the length of the room, were necessary for the lawyers.

Two years in prison and fines of $10,000 face these two nationally known characters if the government counsel can prove that the $100,000 in cash sent to Fall in the now-famous little black satchel on November 30, 1921, influenced the

No Dramatics at Opening.

There were no flourishes or dramatics attending the opening of the case.

District Attorney Peyton Gordon explained to the jury panel the nature of the case, and then began the laborious task of getting a jury.

At the outset, the defense showed that it intended to be very careful about possible prejudices on the part of jurors. Doheny is a Catholic and the defense does not want any Klansmen on the jury.

Air of Suspicion.

An air of intensity and suspicion prevailed in the crowded court room of Justice Hoehling at the opening of the famous trial.

District Attorney Peyton Gordon was in receipt of information concerning mysterious attempts to delve in the affairs of the men on the panel from which the jury is to be drawn. Gordon's office already has started an investigation in a number of phone calls received by wives and business associates of prospective jurors, purporting variously to be from credit houses, the court itself, and the compilers of a social registery, and inquiring into the business connections, fraternal affiliations, religions, and financial status of members of the panel. This investigation was determined upon following a conference between Gordon and Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomerene, chief government counsel.

The advertising committee is made up of Morris Newman, William O. Bloor, H. B. Barth, Ralph Stein and W. H. Cordwin.

FALL IS FATAL TO WIDOW, 72

Mrs. Lydia J. Whitlatch Dies in City Hospital.

Mrs. Lydia J. Whitlatch, 72, widow of M. C. Whitlatch, 317 Jackson street, died last night in the City hospital as a result of a fractured hip suffered in a fall at her home last Friday.

Mrs. Whitlatch, who resided here for 15 years leaves one son and three daughters: A. E. Sloan, St. Mary's, Pa.; Mrs. E. L. Mayo, Elmira, N. Y., and Margaret and Jessie, both at home. She is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Susan McPherson, Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Mrs. Margaret Rose, East Liverpool.

Friends may view the body tomorrow night at the Sturgis funeral home, West Fifth street.

Gov. Donahey Asks Crabbe to Inquire Into Bank Failure

COLUMBUS, Nov. 22.—Gov. Donahey today asked Attorney General C. C. Crabbe to conduct a grand jury investigation into the failure of the State Exchange bank at Strycker, Williams county, last spring.

A Williams county grand jury investigated the failure at the time and returned an indictment which was later nolled by the court.

$670 IS REPORTED COLLECTED IN RED CROSS ROLL CALL BOOTHS

House-to-house Canvass for Mother of Mankind Will Close Here Wednesday.

Membership fees collected in booths maintained in the banks, postoffices and down town stores during the tenth annual Red Cross roll call netted $670.78, Mrs. John Bowers, chairman of the booth committee, announced today.

Booths, which were opened November 13, were closed Saturday night. One $100 membership was taken out Saturday. Several $5 and $10 memberships were issued.

The house-to-house canvass, which has been under way since the early part of last week, will close Wednesday.

Reorganization of Junior Red Cross among school children in the public and parochial schools will take place tomorrow and Wednesday. Mrs. Bowers will meet the school principals in the high school auditorium at 4 o'clock this afternoon to discuss campaign plans. All money collected from the children will be retained for local use.

AUTO DAMAGED IN COLLISION

Nash roadster, driven by Leroy Birbeck, bank teller, was badly damaged when struck by an automobile driven by Thomas Mills, at the corner of West Sixth street and Dresden avenue, at 7:30 o'clock last evening.

Birbeck was driving west on Sixth street when Mills, who was coming into the Diamond off Dresden avenue, crashed into the side of his machine. No one was injured.

Police were endeavoring to identify a motorist who crashed into a telephone pole in front of the Buckeye Motor company's sales room and garage, Walnut and East Sixth streets, early Sunday morning. The pole was splintered.

ROUMANIAN KING'S CONDITION PRECARIOUS, BUCHAREST SAYS

Political Factions Maneuver to Check Efforts to Restore Prince Carol to Throne.

BUCHAREST, Nov. 22.—King Ferdinand's condition is precarious and Dr. Lescue, a French specialist, has been called in to determine whether an operation is necessary, according to the newspaper Coventful.

The Coventful states that it makes this announcement with official permission.

Meanwhile political factions are engaging in maneuvers, one of the most important of which is a movement to check the efforts to bring about the return of Prince Carol and his restoration.

TUXEDO, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Queen Marie of Roumania, through her official spokesman, today told International New Service that she had received no direct work from Bucharest regarding latest reports that King Ferdinand is in a serious condition and may have to undergo an operation.

NEW ADDITION TO STEEL MILL

Weirton Company Begins Construction of Wing to Office.

Excavation has begun for a new 60x120 wing to the present Weirton Steel company offices. The new addition will contain 21 private offices and two large department rooms, not including two private dining rooms, one general dining room and a kitchen. The estimated cost of the wing, when completed, is approximately $150,000. It will be ready for occupancy by the first of April. R. R. Kitchen and company, of Wheeling, are general contractors.

When completed, the wing will, together with the old building, take care of 175 to 200 employes. It will be along the same construction as the present offices, with the exception of the basement, which will contain the kitchen; two private dining rooms, one general dining room, all of which will accommodate more than 250 guests.

The first floor of the new wing will include a suite of offices to be occupied by J. C. Williams, vice president of the company. Another suite will be occupied by C. H. Hunt, chief engineer, and his department. Offices will also be planned on the first floor for H. M. McIntosh, special agent. The balance of the first floor will be occupied by the accounting department.

The second floor of the new wing will include office suites of E. T. Weir, president; D. M. Weir, vice president, and F. A. Hanlin, assistant to the president.

The stenographic department will have its office on the same floor. Adjoining the department will be a rest room for the young women. The remainder of the floor will be taken up with order department offices, which George Mendel is manager.

The entire first floor of the old building will be turned over to the accounting and purchasing departments, of which R. J. Hanna is treasurer, and F. M. Hesse, assistant treasurer, and W. A. Murphy, purchasing agent.

The sales and order department offices will be on the second floor of the same building. On this floor will be the offices of H. D. Westfall, vice president, and J. J. Watson, general manager; H. C. Smith, assistant general sales manager, and offices of the traffic department, A. S. Earp, traffic manager.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking accord

Final Services Conducted Last Night in Two Local Churches.

Union evangelistic meetings which have been in progress for three weeks under the auspices of the First Presbyterian, United Presbyterian, First Methodist Episcopal and Christian churches closed last night.

Services were held in the Christian and United Presbyterian churches, the crowd at the former being so large it was necessary to hold a meeting in the latter church. Rev. W. T. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, delivered the sermon in the Christian church, while the sermon in the United Presbyterian church was given by Rev. R. C. Ehrheart, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Singing in the Christian church was directed by Prof. Ralph E. Mitchell.

The meetings were largely attended throughout and a number of accessions made to the co operating churches.

MURDER MYSTERY BAFFLES POLICE

Officers working on the mysterious murder of Dr. Diego Delpino, lured from his home and shot to death in his automobile in Brooke county early Thursday, admitted they were without any definite clue to the slayer today.

Sheriff Robert M. Lowe declared that he was convinced Dr. Delphino was murdered "either as the result of some trouble over his first wife," or because of his activity as an organizer for the Sons of Garabaldi, an Italian facist organization.

Two youths who saw the man who lured Dr. Delpino from his home under the pretext of seeking medical attention, leap from the car and flee after the doctor had been shot as the machine traveled along the highway, have been interviewed by the sheriff, but he declined to reveal their identity. These witnesses, the sheriff said, furnished a good description of the suspected slayer, but said he was a stranger in this community.

Large Attendance at Y.M.C.A. Class Sessions During Fall

Wrestling, Life-saving and Swimming Schools Are Open to All Senior Members.

Large attendance has marked meetings of the Y. M. C. A. physical classes since the season opened this fall.

Wrestling classes, under the direction of L. M. Thomas, and life-saving and swimming under the leadership of W. Edward Kaiser, Jr., Red Cross examiner, are open to all Senior members without extra charge. Tournaments for members of the boys' departments will open November 27. A basketball league for men members will be organized. Three teams have already signified their willingness to join the circuit.

A special golf practicing outfit has been installed for members of the business men's club.

The bathing pool, which is kept at an 80-degree heat during the winter season, is popular with both men and boys. An aquatic club to stimulate interest in swimming and life-saving is to be organized. Facilities for members who wish to play handball or exercise individually are provided. A special room equipped with punching bag, chest weights and a rowing machine is available at all times.

STRAND OFFERS MUSICAL SHOW

Surrounding Rufus in his battery of musical successes are David Downard, Clyde Hodges, Sam Lupo, Scotty McKay, Carl Savage, Jack Matthews, Viola Bapport, Myrtle Lee, Edith Black, and a marvelous singing and dancing chorus composed of Gladys Franz, Jo King, Amy Lee, Grace Dolweed, Nita Lamote, Mildred Hodges, Virginia Armstrong and Margaret Clark.

Among the musical comedy and vaudeville specialists to be seen with this company are Carl Savage, offering a piano specialty billed as "Chasing the Ivories;" Sam Lupo, basso and cornet specialist; Myrtle Lee and David Howard, in modern dance rhythms; Evy Privort, the comedienne in "Fun Famous California-ism," and the quartette recently of two-a-day Vaudeville, said to be genuine show stoppers at every performance.

Individually these gentlemen are soloists of excellence, while collectively, they present a sense of rhythm and close harmony that can only be the accomplishment of finished entertainers.

ELECTORS DEFEAT TWO PROPOSALS

The proposed property classification amendment to the state constitution was defeated by a majority of 49,500 votes and the proposed budget amendment by 13,725 votes, it appeared today from a complete tabulation which included the official returns from all counties that had reported to the secretary of state to date and unofficial but complete figures from the other counties.

The classification amendment, designed to limit the levy on money, notes and like property, received 110,464 votes in its favor and 159,964 against it. The other proposal, which would have given the governor the sole budget making power for the biennial appropriation bill had 123,222 favorable votes and 136,947 against it.

My three favorite cup cake recipes

I am sure you will find these cup cakes a dainty treat for Sunday supper desserts or when a few good friends drop in for luncheon or tea.

I make them with Crisco, the pure, snowy-white, vegetable shortening, and hardly anyone who eats them can tell they are made without expensive butter.

Winifred S. Carter

Cup Cakes

½ cup Crisco
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1¾ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream Crisco and sugar. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture. Add vanilla and beat thoroughly. Pour into greased muffin or cup cake pans and bake in quick oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes.

This recipe makes 15 to 20 cakes.

Filled Cup Cakes

Follow recipe for Cup Cakes. When cool split in halves crosswise and remove portion of the cake. Fill center with stiffly whipped cream, flavored and sweetened. Put halves together and ice all over with Creamy Chocolate Frosting.

Creamy Chocolate Frosting

1½ cups milk
4 squares unsweetened chocolate
1½ cups powdered sugar
Few grains salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cook milk with chocolate, cut in pieces, over a slow fire, stirring until thick and smooth. Add sugar and cook again until very thick, stirring constantly. Cool and add vanilla and salt.

Filled Chocolate Cakes

⅓ cup Crisco
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
⅔ cup milk
3 squares unsweetened chocolate
1½ cups flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Cream Crisco and sugar together. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Cook the milk and chocolate, cut in pieces, over a slow fire, stirring until thick. Cool. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with the chocolate to the first mixture. Add vanilla and beat thoroughly.

Bake in small, greased cup cake pans in a quick oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. While hot remove a square from the top of each cake and substitute a marshmallow in place of the cake removed. Ice with Boiled Frosting.

Boiled Frosting

1¾ cups sugar
½ cup water
2 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cook sugar and water together, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Boil without stirring until the syrup forms a soft ball when tested in cold water (238 degrees F.) Pour over the stiffly beaten egg whites and beat constantly until the mixture holds its shape. When cool add vanilla.

A New Thanksgiving Frock For Miss 2-to-14.

Every small Miss would like to have a new frock for Thanksgiving. She will find shopping here delightful and why wouldn't she when such adorable fashions have been selected for her approval?

Here are all the smartly simple frocks that look so well on young girls and we are certain whatever she has on her mind it is to be found here.

Frocks for every occasion. Simple, it is true, but reflecting just enough of the grown-up mode to be appealing to youth.

Sizes 2 to 6.

They will look so sweet in these new Fall Frocks. There is such a variety of pretty styles that mothers will have no trouble choosing one to suit each little girl.

These are the types of frocks that well-dressed girls are wearing for school or parties. Simple, but very, very smart.

Fashioned of the new Cud-l-doon fabric, very similar to Balbriggan; Jersey and velveteen.

All have bloomers, some of sateen with bands of material to match frocks—others have bloomers of same material.

In rose, red, greens, blues, tan, copen, henna and other popular fall shades.

Novelty pockets, collars and cuffs of contrasting color, silk or wool embroidery, velvet applique and other trimming features make them unusually chic.

Priced from $2.95 to $6.95.

For Miss-6-to-14

It's time to re-furbish your daughter's wardrobe. She has probably grown out of her last winter things, anyway. And with cooler weather here she will need new frocks for school and dress-up. Frocks that will look smart and still give service. We have an exceptionally complete stock of girls' Fall frocks. Your pocketbook, too, has been considered.

Youthful, stylish frocks for Miss-6-to-14. Developed of jersey, velveteens, ool crepe, serge, wool plaids, checks and novelty mixtures and cud-l-doon.

In bright red, henna, tan, navy and lighter blues, greens, darker red and other popular shades in combination. One and two piece models: Contrasting collars and cuffs, novel buttons, pockets, etc., and embroidered motifs form attractive trimmings. Priced from $5.75 to $9.75.

The new combination frocks—velvet jackets and plaid skirts. Attractive color combinations. Priced at $13.50 and $14.50.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

"Purges" and "Physics" Bad for Old Folks

While Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, knew that constipation was the curse of advancing age, he did not believe that a "purge" or "physic" every little while was necessary.

To him, it seemed cruel that so many constipated old people had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to "regulate' the bowels of old folks. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but each dose helps to strengthen the bowel muscles, shortly establishing natural "regularity." It never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

If past fifty, buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

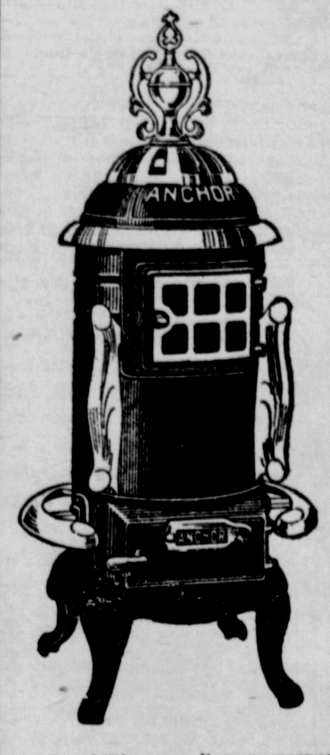
Warm Comfort In Every Room With the Improved Anchor Hot Blast Heater



Wherever heating stoves are used the Anchor Hot Blast proves its superiority—proves that in downright efficiency, in convenience, in actual economy, it is without an equal.

This superiority is not an accident, but is the result of many years of practical and scientific heating stove manufacture and practical tests.

The features of construction the Anchor Hot Blast Heater meet every requirement of heating-stove efficiency and long-time service. Highest quality materials, expert workmanship and scientific design combine to give a heating result unequalled in this type of heater.

The Anchor Hot Blast will burn any fuel—hard coal, soft coal, lignite wood or coke, giving a uniform heat under perfect control, and slow economical combustion. Because ofthe hot-blast feature, the gases from soft coal are completely burned, making a ton of soft coal equal to a tonor more of expensive hard coal.

Careful attention has been applied to every detail of construction. And it is mounted absolutely airtight and remains airtight, because these details have been perfected and made practical.

In addition to a fine appearance that will ast the life of the stove, the Anchor Hot Blast offers real home comfort and a saving of 25 per cent on your fuel bill.

Study these construction features. Know that your Anchor Hot Blast will save its cost out of the coal bin and pay dividends for years to come in warm home comfort and satisfaction.

Inter-City Football Classic

Aside from the turkey dinner, the most important event on Thanksgiving Day program in the East Liverpool district is the inter-city football classic between the East Liverpool and Wellsville High school teams.

Marking the first battle since 1922, the two elevens will line up at Patterson Field at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, with hundreds of supporters on the side lines to encourage them with their cheers.

Not excepting the Chester-East Liverpool game, in which interest was at a high pitch, no athletic competition compares with the inter-city gridiron contest from an attendance standpoint. And judging from the partisanship already apparent, a record crowd will be on hand when the refree blows his whistle.

Each city is proud of its high school football team. East Liverpool has made a splendid record, losing only one game to a county eleven, this defeat occurring at the hands of Salem, recognized as the 1926 scholastic champion. Wellsville, which has shown it stamina against neighboring schools also lost to Salem, but today is nearer top form than at any other time since the fall sport season opened.

The holiday game should be a battle well worth the admission price.

Failure of British Coal Strike

The great British coal strike is over. The miners are going back to work at less pay and longer hours. They have lost the strike after seven months' fighting.

Why did those miners lose? It is not a complete answer to say, as many are saying, "because their employers had greater resources and influence." The government, too, failed to stand by. Why were the home owners done to ..... why did the government virtually side with them instead of with the miners?

Evidenetly because the union workmen in the mines were not supported by the union workmen in other industries.

The labor bond broke. Class consciousness and class interest failed to stand the strain, because the workers in transportation, steel and other industries found that the coal strike crippled their own industries and threw them out of work, so that they could not help the miners if they wanted to.

So the miners' strike failed for much the same reason that the general strike called in their behalf failed. It meant general suicide for British industry. It meant general starvation for British workmen, who are the largest social class and nearest to the edge of want.

Both capital and labor should be zealous in seeking ways to avoid such disastrous struggles.

College Smoking

The general belief that all young people in college smoke has been rudely jolted by the report from one of the big state universities that scarcely 20 per cent of freshmen use tobacco.

Many of those learn later on, to be sure. By the time the senior class is reached, perhaps three-fourths of the members smoke. Another university says that about 90 per cent of the seniors use tobacco in some form, and 40 per cent of the first year men. Even so, there is a surprising proportion of students who, from principle or preference, are not addicted.

One college, which permits smoking by either sex, announces as a result of a two years' survey that "smoking is harmful to a student."

Another college rather sensibly concludes that there is about the same proportion of smoking in colleges as there is elsewhere.

In college or out of college, perhaps there would be rather general agreement that tobacco harms the body.

Says a philosophic smoker: "Heaven knows what would break loose in this present-day work if people didn't soothe their nerves with tobacco. It's hard enough to be calm and friendly and tolerant even under the influence of nicotine."

Smaller French Army

The French army, through bills introduced in parliament by the Poincare ministry, is to be reduced from 650,000 men to 400,000.

This does not necessarily mean a reduction of French military power. The smaller number of men in the service at one time is to be compensated by their being fed through the mill faster, so that there will be just about as many trained men as usual always available in the country. This is to be accomplished by shortening the period of military service from 18 months to 12 months. Nevertheless the change of policy is reassuring to other nations and should be beneficial to France.

With a standing army so greatly lessened, no matter how many men are on the army reserve list, France can no longer be so convincingly accused of militarism. Other nations will have less fear of her. Rival powers will feel justified in further arm cuts. It will save money for Europe as a whole, and foster better feeling.

France herself, although the year of intensive training is expected to cost no less than the former year and a half, is sure to benefit by setting her whole able-bodied man-power free for an extra half-year of profitable occupation.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Lay abed heavy with remorse, having remained abroad until 4 a. m. which I can no longer do without a wretchedness albeit my wife was up early and quite fit. I read some poetry but to no profit.

And so sluggishly with Archie Andrews, the banker, and Dean Cornwell, the painter, to breakfast and to walk by myself in the park and around the lake which seemed a dreaming pool and my head filled with fine thoughts and noble resolves of a day after.

man's wife, a foreign lady of exquisite beauty and afterward to a party where two of my best friends engaged in high words and I stood between them until it blew over. So home to bed early.

Wall Street has many victims who are stripped of wealth over night. There is one who a year ago luxuriated in the splendor of a $30,000 a year apartment with four cars and a yacht. He might easily have retired but he made one final plunge to awaken to the agony of utter poverty. Today he is a clerk in a brokerage house. His wife trims hats in a department store. He was asked how many friends offered aid when the storm broke. "Only one," he said, "and that was my valet who offered me his $3,000 savings"—and yet a few days before he had unlimited credit at many banks.

One thing men salvage from these turbulent reversals and that is a warming sympathy toward misfortune. Human nature, being what it is, seldom shows sincere sympathy until the depths of despair have been touched. Charity workers say the most generous supporters are those who have tasted misfortune.

There used to be a man in New York who spent idle time and no little money securing positions for jobless men past middle age. He was himself unable to find a job for five years shortly after he was 50, but when he did he made a quick fortune. He believed men were more competent after 50 than before and often proved it.

The colored folks' Fifth Avenue is on Seventh Avenue above 125th street. And daily a promenade begins around five o'clock when the doggily dressed high yellows, picaroons, blacks and golden browns sweep along. They have a strut and a good natured self consciousness that makes the parade interesting. The pearl derby hat at a cocky angle is extremely popular in this section. Flappers coated with lavender face powder lead their pet bowwows and one at times may see mulatto dowagers carrying lorgnettes.

The other evening I watched a fleet of 24 bellboys stand inspection in a big hotel lobby preparatory to duty. They were immaculate in their tambourine caps, pouter pigeon West Point coats and dove graw trousers. I was informed bellboys averaged between $50 and $75 a week and were paid no salaries.

It seems a pity the Hudson, among New Yorkers, is generally called the North River. The Hudson is the most romantic of streams in song and story. It was given the North name to distinguish it from the Delaware, which was called the South River.

The post theatre suburban trains leave around 11 o'clock. For this reason final acts of plays are disturbed and often spoiled. The most interesting of all these is the train to Great Neck—a community of stage folk—and often the passengers rush to the train without having removed their makeup.

Some people won't enjoy Heaven. There won't be anybody there poor enough or wicked enough to snub.—Mansfield Journal.

A LONG JOURNEY FOR THE COMMUTER.

Tom Sharkey was famous nationally as a prizefighter. Among friends he was distinguished for another attribute—to wit, his frugality. When Tom got his hands on a dollar, that dollar immediately and forever was out of active circulation.

After he had retired from ring-practice he opened a cafe on Fourteenth street. For an assistant manager he hired an ex-promoter of pugilism named McGrath who had, touching on the commendable virtoe of economy, much the same safe and sane principles which actuated his employer.

When Sharkey was not on hand it was McGrath's special job to keep an eye on the cash receipts. One evening a member of the day shift back of the bar was about to go off watch. He waited until McGrath's back was turned, then opened a cash register and grabbed at its contents. But the warning ring of the bell on the mechanism had reached the vigilant ear of Sharkey's aide. On top of this the barman was so unlucky as to let a quarter slip through his fingers and it fell [illegible].

McGrath spun about, the kindled light of suspicion in his eye.

"Hey!" he yelled out, "what's the big idea, young fella?"

"Why, don't you remember what Mr. Sharkey said the other day? He said we could each get carfare home out of the till every day when we left. I was just taking me carfare, that's all."

McGrath drew nearer step by step. His glance roved from the depleted damper to the bulging fist of the guilty party. Then, very softly, he spoke:

"And where is it you live, young fella—Sidney, Australia?"

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

New Police Weapons.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 22.—In making war on crime and criminals, officers of the law have an amazing array of new weapons, as well as many safety devices for their own protection. Nowadays at the annual convention of the police chiefs of the United States one of the big features is the exhibitions of this offensive and defensive equipment, and the old patrolman who fought all his battles with his trusty locust night stick finds himself and his methods hopelessly antiquated.

Not even the night stick is what it used to be. It looks the same, and it can be used as a billy to beat a criminal into submission, but it has a distinctively new feature in the form of a little button at one end. When that button is pressed the night stick shoots a spray of tear gas that is sufficient to put half a dozen men out of action at a distance of fifteen to twenty feet.

In fact, a great many of the new devices for police officers use gas of one kind or another in various ways. They range all the way from bombs to fake over-size fountain pens. There are tear-gas cartridges for revolvers, a single one of which is said to have stopped an angry mob of 150 gamblers in a night raid in a Middle West city. There are hand grenades in different colors, each color indicating the content, which varies from a comparatively mild sneezing gas to be used in dispersing mobs including women and children, to the strongest of tear gas, to be brought into action against barricaded desperadoes.

A new kind of riot gun that resembles a small suitcase wil be found among the equipment of officers responding to a riot call in the future. It looks wholly innocent, but it is charged with tear gas under 1800 pounds pressure, and carries enough of the stuff to put a mob of 2,000 people out of commission. With this weapon in action it is guaranteed that rioters, however vicious or incensed they may be, will speedily forget what they are rioting about.

Device For Bank Messengers.

Somewhat similar in character is a suitcase handle for bank messengers' bags which is harmless so long as the messenger holds it in a certain way, but will throw out clouds of tear gas if a hold-up man grabs the bag or forces the messenger to drop it. This handle is also used on the brief cases in which bonds are carried.

A desk ornament that looks like an odd sort of paper weight can be used to protect a house against burglars by connecting it up with a radio C-battery, with wires and switches at each door and window, or a bank teller or cashier can bring it into action against bandits by stepping on a button on the floor when he is obeying the order to hold up his hands. There are also numerous devices to be placed in various strategic points about a factory paymaster's office that in emergency will fill the room with a cloud of smoke and gas, the fake fountain pen mentioned before that shoots a 38-calibre tear gas cartridge, and gas bombs to be concealed in safes that ambitious yeggmen may tamper with.

Nickle-plated gimcracks wholly innocent in appearance have been devised as an automobile attachment that is the latest thing for repelling holdup artists or hi-jackers. They are connected with a tank of tear gas and operated by a button on the floor of the car. They will shoot off enough gas to blind anybody and everybody within a twenty-foot range on either side of the machine.

Machine guns, rifles, and automatics and revolvers of all kinds, even to the old-fashioned single-action Colt 45 that was a favorite in frontier days, comprise the armament of a modern police force. One of the latest inventions is a light machine gun with a demountable stock, so that it may be converted into a revolver, that is capable of firing several hundred shots a minute. Its ammunition includes incendiary bullets to be fired into the gas tanks of automobiles used by criminals.

A new revolver, designed at the request of the police authorities for the special use of plain clothes men, is a 38-calibre gun with a barrel so short that it can be carried in a side coat pocket and fired through the coat, thus wasting no time on the draw. It shoots 200 grains of lead.

Officers Rarely Use Automatics.

Comparatively few police officers use automatics, the great majority of them preferring the 38-calibre double action revolvers. They do not want anything lighter than that, for it is important that their shots have a maximum of stopping power. For this purpose one of the arms companies is turning out a new type of ammunition for the police, a 200-grain lead bullet that has no jacket. Its effect is almost that of the dum-dum bullets.

The steel and copper-jacketed bullets are recognized as more humane, but they do not always put their object down and out instantly and there have been many instances of the loss of officers' lives because a bad man had enough life left in him to do a bit of shooting after he himself had received a fatal wound. This new bullet makes a neat little hole as it enters, but where it comes out it makes one of two or three inches in diameter, and it does a lot of disastrous things while penetrating a man's innards.

Another innovation for the police is not a weapon, but a method of wearing and handling an extra revolver. An expert recommends that every officer wear an extra gun in a scabbard on his left hip, with the butt forward, so that he can draw it with his left hand— when his right is otherwise engaged or has been disabled—flip it up and fire it upside down. A little practice, it is said, makes for a deal of accuracy in this way of handling a revolver, and may prove to be a life-saver.

Police are interested, it goes without saying, in new weapons and new ideas for fighting the modern criminal, for the latter is in nine out of ten a killer. Criminals of a generation ago were not given to using guns except when they were in the most desperate of situations, for they preferred a prison term to the gallows or the electric chair. Today their ranks have been

Edna Wallace Hopper, the "eternal flapper" and one of the best known figures on the stage, will open a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre today. She will appear here in connection with picture, "Sally, Irene and Mary."

Miss Hopper is 62 years old, but seems to have discovered the fabled fountain of youth, for she appears no more than 19. Just how she has retained this youth will be the subject she will discuss during her stay here.

From the old days when she appeared with De Wolf Hopper in "Wang," until the present time, there is no actress who has been more prominent in the public eye. She has appeared on the stage from coast to coast and has drawn capacity crowds.

Here is a woman that, contrary to all the assumed idiosyncrasies of the wily Mother Eve, smashes all the prerogatives which women throughout the ages have held hidden in their bosoms. Women of late years, particularly either professional of commercial, strive to keep their age to themselves and their wrinkles at home.

Actresses are not prone to divulge to the public their waxing age. Not to with Miss Hopper. She admits to sixty two—or sixty-few.

Miss Hopper declares that she is ten years younger than she was last year. She was examined during her recent European visit by Dr. Jaworski, discoverer of the "blood marriage" process of rejuvenation for old age and pronounced scientifically sixteen years old. In 1925 the French savant declared Miss Hopper then had the appearance of twenty-six.

"I am sixteen at sixty," said Miss Hopper. "I have lost ten years. Dr. Jaworski was amazed at my synthetic youth. I proved to him, she declared, that youth is no longer a matter of years but of conservation of vital powers. By correct living I am today as youthful in spirit as in body. I am as gay and lighthearted as in the days when I was only sixteen by the count of years."

Edmund Goulding, in bringing "Sally, Irene and Mary" to the screen for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, gives a glimpse of what is back of the mask of the show girl.

The three girls in the story are each of a distinct personality, each leading widely different sort of lives when away from the theater.

Sally is played by Constance Bennett.

Irene is enacted by Joan Crawford.

Mary is portrayed by Sally O'Neil.

Colds can be stopped in 24 hours. Fevers and headaches cease. Then the bowels are opened, the poisons eliminated, the whole system toned. Millions of people know that from experience.

All this is done by one perfect compound—HILL'S. It is so quick, so efficient, so free from ill results that we paid $1,000,000 for it.

Every home should keep HILL'S on hand. Take it at the first sign of a cold, so the trouble can't get started. That saves much discomfort.

But if the sold has started, HILL'S is the way to end it. Begin it now. Every hour of delay adds injury. Do nothing else, for the best helps are combined in HILL'S.

Do nothing less, for a cold is a serious matter. It is folly to take risks. HILL'S was developed in one of the world's largest laboratories, and no one can excel it. Tell your druggist that you want it, and that nothing else will do. Don't wait an hour. After one use you will always employ it.

Bible Literary Club Session.

Mrs. Harry T. Logan received the members of the Bible Literary club Saturday afternoon at her home in West Fourth street. Twenty four members responded to roll call by quoting from favorite hymns.

"The Reformation Under Luther" was the topoi of a paper read by Mrs. J. T. Williamson. The superstition and indulgences of the people were the principal thoughts.

Knox's Contribution to the Reformation" was described by Mrs. F. G. Fowler. His first call; nineteen months as a gallery slave; the covenant; the abdication of the queen, and the death of Knox formed the main topics.

A biographical sketch of "The Seraphic Watts," by Mrs. W. L. Taylor, was read by Mrs. H. F. Laughlin. It told of his education and the inspiration of his glorious hymns.

Luther's hymn, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," was read by Mrs. B. D. Kenney. A chorus by the club concluded the program.

Mrs. John Rinehart was a special guest.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Maud Baum in West Seventh street, December 4.

Look Your Best
By Edna Wallace Hopper

I have proved that beauty can be multiplied, youth can be extended. For 30 years I have searched the ways, largely through the scientists of France. They made me a famous beauty, gained me a glorious career. And they have kept my youth. At a grandmother's age, thousands see me daily on the stage looking like a girl.

I am placing the best helps I have found at every woman's call. All toilet counters supply them. Each one combines a number of the best helps known.

One is my White Youth Clay. I have seen it bring to countless girls multiplied beauty in one-half hour. And many women, in 30 minutes, seem to drop ten years. I want all to learn what White Youth Clay can do for them, and quickly.

Another is my Youth Cream. It combines in one cream a dozen of the best helps I have found. It fosters, feeds and protects the skin like nothing else I know. Night or day, I never go an hour without it. Nor should you.

Another is my Face Powder—the finest powder we have found in Moviedom and Stagedom. I used to pay $5 per box to obtain it. Now the makers supply it to you, in my name, at very little prices.

If you want the utmost in beauty, at any age, I urge you to try them

Hardships of Miners In Great Coal Strike Are Now Felt Keenly

CARDIFF—The terrible hardships endured by miners' families in the long-drawn-out coal strike are now coming to light.

In the little sunless, blackened town of South Wales straggling on mountain sides and sunk in gloomy valleys with tortuous streets and unbelievable houses the sufferings of men, women and children are now plainly to be seen.

It needs a race touched with fanaticism to undergo the privations that these Welsh miners and their familes have endured. This has not been a case of a few individuals being struck with poverty. It is that of whole districts who have lost absolutely everything that belonged to them. The strike has left everyone penniless—lawyers, doctors, mine operators down to the humblest mine worker.

There are tradesmen who, six months ago, were comparatively prosperous, having a turnover of $500 per week. Many of these are now dependent on parish relief. Nobody has any money wherewith to buy. The big suppliers have cut off the usual quota of goods.

Despite poor business conditions in Spain, railways are more profitable than last year.

Panama soon is to have its first shoe factory.

Don't Risk Pneumonia By Neglecting a Cold

If you have a cough or cold, don't neglect it during this pneumonia weather. A cough or cold paves the way for pneumonia because it irritates the linings of throat, chest and bronchial tubes, often the lungs themselves, if neglected too long. And it is in these inflamed linings—when a neglected cold has broken down your resistance—that dreaded pneumonia is quickest to start—often proving fatal in a few days.

Don't just dread pneumonia! Take measures to prevent it, by getting rid of a threatening cough or cold immediately—before pneumonia starts to develop.

By its powerful double action, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral quickly breaks up coughs and colds. With the very first swallow you feel its comforting, healing warmth. Quickly and unfailingly it goes straight to the seat of danger, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes. The soothing, healing powers of this hospital-tested medicine are absorbed by the linings of throat, chest and bronchial tubes just as ink is absorbed by a blotter. This is why Ayer's Cherry Pectoral so quickly stops the cough, drives out the cold and brings sure, lasting relief.

If "pneumonia" has developed call your doctor at once. If it has not developed, but you have a threatening cough or cold, take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! Keep your throat, bronchial tubes and lungs healthy and strong. At all druggists, 60c, twice as much $1.00. sp24c

JAMES DRAGO IS FINED $408 BY MAYOR FOGO

Chief Fultz Leads Squad to Rear of Fruit Store.

LIQUID FOUND

Merchant Spends Several Hours Behind Jail Bars.

Confiscating one of the largest stills seized here in recent years, police Saturday arrested James Drago, Third street fruit dealer, on a charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor, and at a subsequent hearing before Mayor Fogo, Drago paid a fine of $408.

The raiding squad, comprising Chief of Police John Fultz, Patrolman Pugh, Officer Duncan and Patrol Drivers Hickman and Alcock, entered Drago's place Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

When a warrant was served on Drago, the latter, it is said, accerted that he had nothing in his place. A search revealed the still, which police say, had been in operation only a short time before, in a room in the rear of the fruit stand.

The still was estimated to be of 75 gallon capacity. The still, together with accessory equipment, such as burners, hose, etc., was taken to the city hall. In addition police confisca tec 16 barrels of liquid, strained from the mash, which was ready for conversion into the finished product, and 120 one-gallon jugs, all empty.

Drago was taken to the city hall and remained in jail several hours before friends raised sufficient money to meet his fine.

R. J. MATTHEWSON, AGED 69, IS DEAD

Evangelist H. A. Frye Launches Revivals at Evangelical Church

Says He's "Old Fashioned Enough to Believe That God Made Man, and That We Did Not Spring From Apes or Monkeys."

Evangelist H. A. Frye Sunday launched annual revival services in the First Evangelical church here, discussing, at the morning services, the need of such revival. He chose, as his text, Psalm 85, verse six, "Will Thou Not Revive Us Again, That The People May Rejoice in Thee?"

He described how a revival affects the church and how it affects the world.

He referred to Babson as saying that the only thing that will save America, is an old fashioned revival.

Evangelist Frye said that people who turn the church down or neglect the church and its duties, in reality turn God down. "There are only two kinds of people in Wellsville who have a right to God's throne," he said, "and they are those who are right with God and those of penitent souls."

Evening services were well attended. The evangelist took as his text, "God's Program,' from Chronicles 7-14: "If my people which are called by my name shall humble themselves and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from Heaven and will forgive their sin and will heal their land."

He emphasized that the Hebrew children's prosperity depended on meeting certain conditions and that God works by a plan as is proven in creation. The evangelist also pointed out that he was "old fashioned enough to believe that God made man, and that we did not spring from apes or monkeys.'

"Furthermore," he asserted, "God's plans for salvation have never changed nor never will be changed.

"The church," the evangelist said, "has, to a large extent, lost its prestige among the men and women on the outside world."

The text, he pointed out, lays down four conditions, all of which must be met: "Humble yourselves; that my people pray; seek my face; and turn from your wicked ways."

The revivals will continue throughout the week, open to the public, according to announcement by Rev. E. L. Zachman, pastor.

Local D. of A. Plans Thanksgiving Fete In Parish House

Queen of Ohio council, No. 141, Daughters of America, will hold a Thanksgiving party on Friday evening in the Church of Ascension parish house in Eleventh and Center streets. The party will start at 8 o'clock.

A musical program will be the chief feature of the entertainment. Members of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, as well as Daughters of America, and their friends will attend.

HIGH TO HOLD 'PEP' MEETING

Tuesday Session Sponsored by Kiwanis Club.

Wellsville High school students and alumni will hold a "pep" meeting tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the high school auditorium with members of the high school football team as chief guests, as a preparatory event to the Thanksgiving football clash with East Liverpool.

The affair will be sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

The program will include speeches by players, alumni, school and Kiwanis club officials, Coach Earl Klinck and others; yells, singing and orchestra music.

Following the "pep" meeting, alumni will convene for the purpose of discussing plans for the annual mid-winter banquet and meeting.

Farmhand Held for Double Slaying in Jefferson County

William Bowser, farmhand, charged with the murder of Nellie Hernon and her brother on a farm near Steubenville last March 2, arrested in the Union Mission at Canton Sunday morning by Canton police, has been turned over to authorities of Jefferson county and was taken back to that jurisdiction last night.

Bowser, charged by detectives with committing the crimes, denied his guilt.

"I didn't do it," he repeated monotonously to every question put to him concerning the slayings.

Bowser is charged with having killed Miss Hernon and then criminally assaulted the body after death and with having hung the body to a rafter. He is charged, also, with having killed her brother with a mattox, striking him down from behind. The bodies were found two days after the killings.

Bowser told Canton detectives he had cashed his pay check at a butcher shop in Randal, near the scene of the murders and then, having bought a suit of underwear at a store, of changing his underclothing on the outskirts of the village. The discarded underwear was found, covered with blood, by Jefferson county authorities.

The prisoner said he had worked on various farms in Ohio and Indiana since March. He recently worked on a farm near Dalton, about 12 miles west of this city and came into Canton Saturday night. He had little money and sought cheap lodgings at the Union Mission.

Canton police had a tip he was in the city and three policemen were sent to arrest him Sunday morning.

GLEANERS' END MEMBER CONTEST

Gleaners' Sunday school class of the Second Presbyterian church met recently in the church basement, the event marking the close of a membership contest.

The winners, captained by Isabel Runyon, were guests of the losers, headed by Dora Lewis, at a supper prepared by the latter.

Honor guests were Mrs. Helen Metz and Mrs. Anna Williamson, recent newlyweds.

The class presented them with a number of gifts.

Games were the chief diversion.

Pilmer Funeral Held Sunday.

Funeral services for George Pilmer, former C. & P. railroad conductor, were held yesterday afternoon in the family residence in Maple avenue, in charge of Rev. Thomas Berger, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church. Burial was made in Spring Hill cemetery.

ROLL CALL HERE SUCCESSFUL, LEADERS SAY

Four Boy Scout Troops Canvas Entire City.

CONTINUE WORK

Final Reports to be Made on Tuesday Night.

That the annual Red Cross roll call campaign, launched yesterday by four Wellsville Boy Scout troops, will be successful was the expectation of leaders of the movement here today following reports from the 120 or more youths who canvassed the city.

Definite figures on the results of the first day's solicitation were not available, campaign leaders announced, and there will probably be no check-up made until tomorrow night when the major part of the drive will have been completed.

The Scouts will turn their reports in to their troop leaders who, in turn, will submit them to Rev. R. W. Ustick, chairman of the Red Cross.

COTERIE MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

Members of the Calendar Coterie club of the Second Presbyterian church will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the church basement.

The hostesses will be Mrs. Mae Aughinbaugh, Mrs. Thomas Berger, Mrs. H. Bowers and Mrs. John Casselman.

Mrs. Robert Gibson will lead the devotionals.

Irondale Schools Will Show Coogan Film Tuesday Night

Pupils of the first grade of the Irondale schools staged a "Tom Thumb Wedding" in the school gym Friday evening. The school's share of the proceeds, amounting to approximately $35 will be used to purchase kindergarten chairs and other needed equipment.

"Peck's Bad Boy," featuring Jackie Coogan, will be the fourth of the school's series of pictures to be shown at the school gym on Tuesday evening. A government film, "Play Safe," will also be shown and music will be furnished by Black's orchestra.

The local schools will dismiss on Wednesday afternoon for the Thanksgiving vacation. Sessions will resume the following Monday.

EAGLES OPEN MEMBER DRIVE

Hear Address by Lodge Official at Sunday Meet.

Officers of Columbiana Aerie, No. 772, Fraternal Order of Eagles, today announced the completion of plans for a membership drive which will be launched in the near future.

Arrangements were discussed at a special meeting of the lodgemen yesterday afternoon in the rooms in upper Main street.

M. A. Farley, of Kansas City, an official of the order, addressed the lodge.

Special dispensation, it was announced, has been granted the Wellsville aerie to open the charter for a period of two weeks.

The regular meeting of the lodge, scheduled for Thursday night, has been advanced to Wednesday.

EAST END P. T. A. TO BE FORMED

Mrs. R. F. Burlingame's first grade pupils will entertain with a game. Third grade pupils will sing "November."

Three recitations are also on the program, including "The Mice of Thanksgiving," by Earl Shope; "Little Paul's Thanksgiving," by David Hoover; and "A Boy's Thanksgiving," by John Joseph.

Fourth grade pupils will render a dialogue, "The Pilgrims."

Woman Sees Purse Picked Up; Too Late To Get it Back

Too late to stop the getaway of a man in an automobile who picked up a purse dropped by a woman boarding a street car, Chief of Police John Fultz today announced that the identity of the man is known to police, as well as the automobile number, and that if the purse is not returned to its owner by 6 o'clock tomorrow night, warrent for an arrest will be issued.

The purse, containing $32 in money, a bank book, and her name and address, was dropped by Mrs. Cuti, of Sixteenth and Main street, as she got on an eastbound street car at Fifteenth and Main streets this morning at 9:30 o'clock.

In the car Mrs. Cuti discovered her loss. She notified the motorman and he stopped at the next square. On her way back to the point where she had boarded the car, Mrs. Cuti met Chief Fultz, walking, and notified him of her loss. Both, it is said, saw a small closed car stop at the street intersection. A man got out, picked up the purse and then drove away.

LINE WORKER ELECTROCUTED AT STRATTON

Body Comes in Contact With High Tension Current.

30,000 VOLT WIRE

Knocked to Ground, 15 Feet Below by Shock.

Walter Cook, 23, of Fourth and Logan streets, Steubenville, was killed at 7 o'clock Sunday evening when he accidentally came in contact with a high tension wire at the Stratton plant of the Ohio Valley Electric and Power company.

Cook was at work on a tower and was about to throw a switch when his body brushed a line carrying 30,000 volts. He was knocked to the ground 15 feet below and was dead when picked up a moment later.

He came to Steubenville several months ago from New Cumberland. He is survived by a wife and a three weeks old baby. According to witnesses Cook was engaged in regular work when the tragedy occurred. A coroner's verdict of death by accident is expected today.

Look Your Best
By Edna Wallace Hopper

I have proved that beauty can be multiplied, youth can be extended. For 40 years I have searched the ways, largely through the scientists of France. They made me a famous beauty, gained me a glorious career. And they have kept my youth. At a grandmother's age, thousands see me daily on the stage looking like a girl.

I am placing the best helps I have found at every woman's call. All toilet counters supply them. Each one combines a number of the best helps known.

One is my White Youth Clay. I have seen it bring to countless girls multiplied beauty in one-half hour. And many women, in 30 minutes, seem to drop ten years. I want all to learn what White Youth Clay can do for them, and quickly.

Another is my Youth Cream. It combines in one cream a dozen of the best helps I have found. It fosters, feeds and protects the skin like nothing else I know. Night or day, I never go an hour without it. Nor should you.

Another is my Face Powder—the finest powder we have found in Moviedom and Stagedom. I used to pay $5 per box to obtain it. Now the makers supply it to you, in my name, at very little prices.

If you want the utmost in beauty, at any age, I urge you to try them

Special: See Miss Hopper in person Nov. 22, 23, 24 at Ceramic Theartre, East Liverpool, Matinee For Women Only Wednesday, 1:30 P. M.

Hardships of Miners In Great Coal Strike Are Now Felt Keenly

CARDIFF—The terrible hardships endured by miners' families in the long-drawn-out coal strike are now coming to light.

In the little sunless, blackened town of South Wales straggling on mountain sides and sunk in gloomy valleys with tortuous streets, and unbelievable houses the sufferings of men, women and children are now plainly to be seen.

It needs a race touched with fanaticism to undergo the privations that these Welsh miners and their families have endured. This has not been a case of a few individuals being struck with poverty. It is that of whole districts who have lost absolutely everything that belonged to them. The strike has left everyone penniless—lawyers, doctors, mine operators down to the humblest mine worker.

There are tradesmen who, six months ago, were comparatively prosperous, having a turnover of $500 per week. Many of these are now dependent on parish relief. Nobody has any money wherewith to buy. The big suppliers have cut off the usual quota of goods.

Despite poor business conditions in Spain, railways are more profitable than last year.

Panama soon is to have its first shoe factory.

Don't Risk Pneumonia By Neglecting a Cold

If you have a cough or cold, don't neglect it during this pneumonia weather. A cough or cold paves the way for pneumonia because it irritates the linings of throat, chest and bronchial tubes, often the lungs themselves, if neglected too long. And it is in these inflamed linings—when a neglected cold has broken down your resistance—that dreaded pneumonia is quickest to start—often proving fatal in a few days.

Don't just dread pneumonia! Take measures to prevent it, by getting rid of a threatening cough or cold immediately—before pneumonia starts to develop.

By its powerful double action, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral quickly breaks up coughs and colds. With the very first swallow you feel its comforting, healing warmth. Quickly and unfailingly it goes straight to the seat of danger, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes. The soothing, healing powers of this hospital-tested medicine are absorbed by the linings of throat, chest and bronchial tubes just as ink is absorbed by a blotter. This is why Ayer's Cherry Pectoral so quickly stops the cough, drives out the cold and brings sure, lasting relief.

If "pneumonia" has developed call your doctor at once. If it has not developed, but you have a threatening cough or cold, take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! Keep your throat, bronchial tubes and lungs healthy and strong. At all druggists, 60c, twice as much $1.00. sp24c

JAMES DRAGO IS FINED $408 BY MAYOR FOGO

Chief Fultz Leads Squad to Rear of Fruit Store.

LIQUID FOUND

Merchant Spends Several Hours Behind Jail Bars.

Confiscating one of the largest stills seized here in recent years, police Saturday arrested James Drago, Third street fruit dealer, on a charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor, and at a subsequent hearing before Mayor Fogo, Drago paid a fine of $408.

The raiding squad, comprising Chief of Police John Fultz, Patrolman Pugh, Officer Duncan and Patrol Drivers Hickman and Alcock, entered Drago's place Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

When a warrant was served on Drago, the latter, it is said, accerted that he had nothing in his place. A search revealed the still, which police say, had been in operation only a short time before, in a room in the rear of the fruit stand.

The still was estimated to be of 75-gallon capacity. The still, together with accessory equipment, such as burners, hose, etc., was taken to the city hall. In addition police confiscated 16 barrels of liquid, strained from the mash, which was ready for conversion into the finished product, and 120 one-gallon jugs, all empty.

Drago was taken to the city hall and remained in jail several hours before friends raised sufficient money to meet his fine.

Evangelist H. A. Frye Launches Revivals at Evangelical Church

Says He's "Old Fashioned Enough to Believe That God Made Man, and That We Did Not Spring From Apes or Monkeys."

Evangelist H. A. Frye Sunday launched annual revival services in the First Evangelical church here, discussing, at the morning services, the need of such revival. He chose, as his text, Psalm 85, verse six, "Wilt Thou Not Revive Us Again, That Thy People May Rejoice in Thee?"

He described how a revival affects the church and how it affects the world.

He referred to Babson as saying that the only thing that will save America, is an old fashioned revival.

Evangelist Frye said that people who turn the church down or neglect the church and its duties, in reality turn God down. "There are only two kinds of people in Wellsville who have a right to God's throne," he said, "and they are those who are right with God and those of penitent souls."

Evening services were well attended. The evangelist took as his text, "God's Program,' from Chronicles 7-14: "If my people which are called by my name shall humble themselves and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from Heaven and will forgive their sin and will heal their land."

He emphasized that the Hebrew children's prosperity depended on meeting certain conditions and that God works by a plan as is proven in creation. The evangelist also pointed out that he was "old fashioned enough to believe that God made man, and that we did not spring from apes or monkeys.'

"Furthermore," he asserted, "God's plans for salvation have never changed nor never will be changed.

"The church," the evangelist said, "has, to a large extent, lost its prestige among the men and women on the outside world."

The text, he pointed out, lays down four conditions, all of which must be met: "Humble yourselves; that my people pray; seek my face; and turn from your wicked ways."

The revivals will continue throughout the week, open to the public, according to announcement by Rev. E. L. Zachman, pastor.

Local D. of A. Plans Thanksgiving Fete In Parish House

Queen of Ohio council, No. 141, Daughters of America, will hold a Thanksgiving party on Friday evening in the Church of Ascension parish house in Eleventh and Center streets. The party will start at 8 o'clock.

HIGH TO HOLD 'PEP' MEETING

Tuesday Session Sponsored by Kiwanis Club.

Wellsville High school students and alumni will hold a "pep" meeting tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the high school auditorium with members of the high school football team as chief guests, as a preparatory event to the Thanksgiving football clash with East Liverpool.

The affair will be sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

The program will include speeches by players, alumni, school and Kiwanis club officials, Coach Earl Klinck and others; yells, singing and orchestra music.

Following the "pep" meeting, alumni will convene for the purpose of discussing plans for the annual mid-winter banquet and meeting.

Farmhand Held for Double Slaying in Jefferson County

William Bowser, farmhand, charged with the murder of Nellie Hernon and her brother on a farm near Steubenville last March 2, arrested in the Union Mission at Canton Sunday morning by Canton police, has been turned over to authorities of Jefferson county and was taken back to that jurisdiction last night.

Bowser, charged by detectives with committing the crimes, denied his guilt.

"I didn't do it," he repeated monotonously to every question put to him concerning the slayings.

Bowser is charged with having killed Miss Hernon and then criminally assaulted the body after death and with having hung the body to a rafter. He is charged, also, with having killed her brother with a mattox, striking him down from behind. The bodies were found two days after the killings.

Bowser told Canton detectives he had cashed his pay check at a butcher shop in Randal, near the scene of the murders and then, having bought a suit of underwear at a store, of changing his underclothing on the outskirts of the village. The discarded underwear was found, covered with blood, by Jefferson county authorities.

The prisoner said he had worked on various farms in Ohio and Indiana since March. He recently worked on a farm near Dalton, about 12 miles west of this city and came into Canton Saturday night. He had little money and sought cheap lodgings at the Union Mission.

Canton police had a tip he was in the city and three policemen were sent to arrest him Sunday morning.

GLEANERS' END MEMBER CONTEST

Gleaners' Sunday school class of the Second Presbyterian church met recently in the church basement, the event marking the [illegible] membership contest.

The winners, captained by Isabel Runyon, were guests of the losers, headed by Dora Lewis, at a supper prepared by the latter.

Honor guests were Mrs. Helen Metz and Mrs. Anna Williamson, recent newlyweds.

The class presented them with a number of gifts.

Games were the chief diversion.

ROLL CALL HERE SUCCESSFUL, LEADERS SAY

Four Boy Scout Troops Canvas Entire City.

CONTINUE WORK

Final Reports to be Made on Tuesday Night.

That the annual Red Cross roll call campaign, launched yesterday by four Wellsville Boy Scout troops, will be successful was the expectation of leaders of the movement here today following reports from the 120 or more youths who canvassed the city.

Definite figures on the results of the first day's solicitation were not available, campaign leaders announced, and there will probably be no check-up made until tomorrow night when the major part of the drive will have been completed.

The Scouts will turn their reports in to their troop leaders who, in turn, will submit them to Rev. R. W. Ustick, chairman of the Red Cross.

COTERIE MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

Members of the Calendar Coterie club of the Second Presbyterian church will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the church basement.

The hostesses will be Mrs. Mae Aughinbaugh, Mrs. Thomas Berger, Mrs. H. Bowers and Mrs. John Casselman.

Mrs. Robert Gibson will lead the devotionals.

Irondale Schools Will Show Coogan Film Tuesday Night

Pupils of the first grade of the Irondale schools staged a "Tom Tumb Wedding" in the school gym Friday evening. The school's share of the proceeds, amounting to approximately $35 will be used to purchase kindergarten chairs and other needed equipment.

"Peck's Bad Boy," featuring Jackie Coogan, will be the fourth of the school's series of pictures to be shown at the school gym on Tuesday evening. A government film, "Play Safe," will also be shown and music will be furnished by Black's orchestra.

The local schools will dismiss on Wednesday afternoon for the Thanksgiving vacation. Sessions will resume the following Monday.

EAGLES OPEN MEMBER DRIVE

Hear Address by Lodge Official at Sunday Meet.

Officers of Columbiana Aerie, No. 772, Fraternal Order of Eagles, today announced the completion of plans for a membership drive which will be launched in the near future.

Arrangements were discussed at a special meeting of the lodgemen yesterday afternoon in the rooms in upper Main street.

M. A. Farley, of Kansas City, an official of the order, addressed the lodge.

Special dispensation, it was announced, has been granted the Wellsville aerie to open the charter for a period of two weeks.

The regular meeting of the lodge, scheduled for Thursday night, has been advanced to Wednesday.

Miss Freda Furrer, principal will preside. The chief address will be delivered by F. L. Wells, who will discuss "Thrift."

Mrs. R. F. Burlingame's first grade pupils will entertain with a game. Third grade pupils will sing "November."

Three recitations are also on the program, including "The Mice of Thanksgiving," by Earl Shope; "Little Paul's Thanksgiving," by David Hoover; and "A Boy's Thanksgiving," by John Joseph.

Fourth grade pupils will render a dialogue, "The Pilgrims."

Woman Sees Purse Picked Up; Too Late To Get it Back

Too late to stop the getaway of a man in an automobile who picked up a purse dropped by a woman boarding a street car, Chief of Police John Fultz today announced that the identity of the man is known to police, as well as the automobile number, and that if the purse is not returned to its owner by 6 o'clock tomorrow night, warrent for an arrest will be issued.

The purse, containing $32 in money, a bank book, and her name and address, was dropped by Mrs. Cuti, of Sixteenth and Main street, as she got on an eastbound street car at Fifteenth and Main streets this morning at 9:30 o'clock.

In the car Mrs. Cuti discovered her loss. She notified the motorman and he stopped at the next square. On her way back to the point where she had boarded the car, Mrs. Cuti met Chief Fultz, walking, and notified him of her loss. Both, it is said, saw a small closed car stop at the street intersection. A man got out, picked up the purse and then drove away.

LINE WORKER ELECTROCUTED AT STRATTON

Body Comes in Contact With High Tension Current.

30,000 VOLT WIRE

Knocked to Ground, 15 Feet Below by Shock.

Walter Cook, 23, of Fourth and Logan streets, Steubenville, was killed at 7 o'clock Sunday evening when he accidentally came in contact with a high tension wire at the Stratton plant of the Ohio Valley Electric and Power company.

Cook was at work on a tower and was about to throw a switch when his body brushed a line carrying 30,000 volts. He was knocked to the ground 15 feet below and was dead when picked up a moment later.

He came to Steubenville several months ago from New Cumberland. He is survived by a wife and a three weeks old baby. According to witnesses Cook was engaged in regular work when the tragedy occurred. A coroner's verdict of death by accident is expected today.

MRS. HALL'S BROTHER SUPPORTS ALIBI DEFENSE

HENRY STEVENS' COOK CALLED AT SOMERVILLE

Says She Prepared Supper on Night of Killings.

FISHING STORY

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

COURTHOUSE SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 22.—Alibi witnesses for Henry Stevens, who with his brother and sister, is accused of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills came to the witness stand one after another at Hall-Mills trial today and testified they saw Stevens fishing on the beach at Lavallette, N. J., on the night of the crime.

All of the alibi witnesses were subjected to a severe cross-examination by Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson, but they stuck to their stories.

Stevens himself had taken the stand on Saturday and testified he was in Lavallette fishing on the night of September 14, 1922, the night the murders were committed in De Russey's lane near New Brunswick, 50 miles away.

COURTHOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Anna Evanson, who was cook in the home of Henry Stevens at Lavalette, N. J., was called to the stand as the first witness when the Hall-Mills murder trial was resumed today.

She testified that on the evening of Thursday, Sept. 14, 1922, the night the murders occurred she got supper for Henry Stevens. Mrs. Stevens was away in New York.

"Was Henry Stevens present?" she was asked.

"He was," she said.

Stevens, on the stand in his own defense Saturday had testified that he was in Lavalette, 50 miles from the scene of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills on the night of Sept. 14, 1922.

"What time did you cook supper for asked.

"About 6 o'clock."

"What time did you leave Mr. Stevens' home?"

"About 7 o'clock."

"Was he still there?"

"He was."

Washed Fishing Clothes.

Mrs. Evanson was asked what Stevens did after supper.

"He went fishing," she replied.

"On Friday morning, when did you get there"?

"About 9:30.

"Did you wash his fishing clothes?"

"I did."

She said she got his lunch and his supper on Friday.

Mrs. Evanson said she was over at Stevens' home on Saturday too.

Prosecutor Alexander Simpson then took the witness over for cross examination.

"Did anybody talk to you about this case before you took the stand?"

"No."

Simpson walked up close to the witness and shouted:

"You mean to say that although Henry Stevens is charged with murder no one mentioned it to you?"

"Yes," she replied.

Simpson asked her to tell him what she gave Henry Stevens to eat at that 6 o'clock supper.

She couldn't remember.

Simpson Prods Witness.

The prosecutor asked her what time she saw Stevens Friday morning.

"About 9 o'clock — he was in his room."

Mrs. Marie Demarest, a witness for the state, has testified Stevens was in New Brunswick this particular Friday morning.

Simpson, over vigorous objections of the defense, tried to puzzle the witness regarding dates. She couldn't remember whether or not Stevens was home on the Thursday before September 14, 1922. She could not remember if it had rained on Thursday, Sept. 14, 1922.

Simpson asked Mrs. Evanson if she had been in hiding "since August, this year." The witness said she didn't know anything about that but she was away sick for two weeks.

"Have the Stevens family in any way aided in educating and caring for you since Sept. 14, 1922?"

"No," the elderly woman replied.

Mrs. Evanson shrank under Simpson's volley of questions. She had to be prodded an answer some of the questions.

Mrs. Evanson was excused.

Howard Price Called.

Howard Price was called. He was in the paint business in Philadelphia, and had a summer home in Lavallette.

Price testified that on the night of Sept. 14th, 1922, he saw Henry Stevens on the beach at Lavallette at 9:55 p. m.

Price testified he remembered this because Henry's name was connected with the crime in the week following.

"You say you saw Henry Stevens at 9:55 that night—now give me the rame of anyone else you saw on the beach that night," Simpson demanded on cross-examination.

"I don't remember any one."

Simpson asked him why it was he didn't recognize any one else. The witness said they were too far away—50 or 60 feet.

Simpson asked Price if he spoke to Stevens that night on the beach. The witness said no. Did he know Stevens? Quite well.

Price admitted about a week before Stevens was arrested he went to him and told him he remembered seeing him in Lavallette the night of the murder.

"That's all," snapped Simpson.

Fisherman's Wife on Stand.

Mrs. Arthur Applegate, wife of a fisherman of Lavallette, was then called.

She testified that "on the night of Sept. 22, 1922, Henry Stevens went fishing with her husband about 7 in the evening."

"I saw Henry Stevens at 7 o'clock that same night," she added.

Mrs. Applegate said Henry Stevens was fishing on the beach at 7 o'clock when she and her husband went down we came back at 10 o'clock or later. I remember we said good night to Mr. Stevens."

"How do you fix the time, Mrs. Applegate?" Case asked.

"When we went in the house my husband said 'its 25 minutes to eleven."

"What took place on the beach that you remember?"

"My husband caught a blue fish and Mr. Stevens weighed it for him. It was dark and we had to have a light."

Five Corroborate Story.

Five witnesses already have testified that Stevens told the truth when he said he was fishing in Lavalette on the night Sept. 14, 1922, and the eight who are to testify today are ready to back them up.

Other Defendants to Testify.

The defense declined to reveal which of the other two defendants, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and Willie Stevens, will take the stand first. Both however will testify.

So will Felix di Martini, the private detective employed by Mrs. Hall four years ago. It was intimated by Prosecutor Alexander Simpson if Di Martini appears he will serve a warrant on him charging the detective with being an accessory to the murder Di Martini is alleged by the state to have tried to influence witnesses.

The defense has subpoenaed Fred Bloodgood, secretary to Governor Moore of New Jersey, to testify in regard to the alleged disappearance of a letter written at the direction of Mrs. Hall to Governor Edwards four years ago in which it is claimed, a request was made for a rigid investigation of the murder.

Will Hit State Accusation.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 22.—Defense attorneys in the Hall-Mills case were understood to be preparing today to launch a vigorous counter attack on the state's accusation by inferential questions that colored blood flows in the veins of Willie Stevens, one of the defendants.

The inferential charge was made by Prosecutor Alexander Simpson on Saturday when he was cross-examining Henry Stevens who had taken the stand in his own defense.

Attorneys for the defense today made no secret of the fact that they were indignant over the suggestion contained in Simpson's questions. They produced the Stevens family Bible to refute the insinuation, and may introduce the Bible as a defense exhibit. It reveals that William Carpender Stevens was the second child of Francis Kirby Stevens and Mary Noel Carpender, his wife and that he was born in Aiken, S. C., March 13, 1872.

That would make Willie 54 years old, Henry, the Bible showed, is 57, he having been born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 20, 1869. Mrs. Hall is 52. She was born in Aiken on January 13, 1874.

What? Pains in Your Side, Back and Head?

"Three years ago I had a bad spell of feminine weakness," said Mrs. L. R. Edwards of 128 W. 8th St., Cincinnati, Ohio. "I could hardly get up when I sat down. I had pains in back and side and my head would ache until I would have to go to bed and stay until it went away. But Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did wonders for me. I took six bottles and am glad to tell every woman that before I had taken four bottles my pains had entirely left me. It is a wonderful tonic for women."

Why is it necessary to urge a woman to take care of her health? Isn't it her most valuable asset?

Obtain this famous "Prescription" now, in tablets or liquid, from your druggist. Write Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.

FIRE DAMAGES SHAFFER HOME

Township Blaze Causes $1,500 Loss—Truck Ditched.

Fire, originating it is believed from a defective flue, caused $1,500 damage to the home of Joseph Shaffer, 706 Price street, Oakland, at 9:30 o'clock last night. The blaze started while members of the family were absent.

Firemen from the East End and Central stations, who responded to the alarm, were forced to run a line about 450 feet to the nearest fire plug. The house was located in the township just outside the corporate line.

The roof and up-stairs bedrooms in the two-story structure were badly damaged. No insurance was carried on the building, members of the fire department were told.

While returning from the fire, the Studebaker truck, housed in the East End station, skidded into a ditch on Price street. After one of the trucks from the Central station failed to extricate the machine, the McElravy wrecker was called.

The department was called to the No. 1 plant of the Hall China company, Fourth and Walnut streets, at 11:30 o'clock this morning to extinguish a blaze, which started it is claimed, when one of the employees used a lighted match in a search for a gas leak.

The roof in the kiln shed was charred, firemen extinguishing the blaze with water and chemicals. The sprinkling system was in operation when the firemen arrived.

Fall-Doheny Trial

Teapot Dome Inquiry Outgrowth.

Today's trial is an outgrowth of the investigation launched three years ago by Senator Walsh, (D) of Montana, into the Teapot Dome oil lease. Walsh brought out that Doheny had made an unsecured "loan" of $100,000 to Fall shortly before the signing of the Elk Hills leases, this money having been conveyed to the ex-cabinet officer by Doheny's son in cash. The [illegible] was torn his wife the signature. On the strength of this evidence, the government sued for cancellation of the leases, won its case before the U. S. court of appeals at San Francisco, and the matter is now pending before the U. S. supreme court.

Combating the conspiracy charge, the defense will allege that the $100,000 loan was not a bribe, but was, in fact, a personal transaction between two life-long friends. Fall and Doheny prospected together in their youth. Also, they will state that the lease and contracts in question actually were made by the secretary of navy in conformance with plans made by the general board, and that the interior department's only connection was in an advisory capacity under presidential order.

The $100,000, it will be explained, was used to purchase a ranch above that owned by Fall at Three Rivers, New Mexico, procurement of which was essential if Fall's water rights were to be protected. Doheny volunteered the loan, it will be said, because of friendship and a desire to prevent Fall from losing his home.

Separate Defenses.

Fall and Doheny will maintain separate defense. Thus, it is pointed out, two opening and two closing arguments may be presented.

In keeping with the times, a "million-dollar" defense will be on display. Heading Fall's counsel is Wilton J. Lambert, of Washington, with a reputation of never having lost an important case in District of Columbia criminal courts. He will be assisted by Henry A. Wise, formerly U. S. district attorney for New York; Levi Cook, of Washington, and Mark B. Thompson, of New Mexico.

Doheny's legal talent is comprised of Frank J. Hogan of Washington; Frederick J. Kellogg, of New York; Joseph J. Cotter and Harold Walker, of Washington.

Against this imposing array, the government will send in former Senator Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio, and Owen J. Roberts, of Philadelphia, appointed by President Coolidge as special oil counsel; District Attorney Peyton Gordon and all of his assistants; George G. Chandler, of Philadelphia; Frank Harrison, of Cleveland; Ulric J. Mengert, of Philadelphia; W. L. Combs of Philadelphia, and Lowell Turrentine and John B. Dempsey, of Cleveland.

King's Condition

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 22.—"Neat diplomacy," was the manner in which city officials today expressed their reactions to the visit yesterday of Prince Nicholas, of Roumania.

The youthful son of Queen Marie spent the day here and everybody, including the faction which had threatened to uncork an embarrassing demonstration for Queen Marie on her scheduled visit, seemed satisfied.

Nicholas visited a young men's organization and then spoke before a Roumanian organization. He left at 8 p. m. for New York to rejoin the queen.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Industrial stocks were buoyant at the beginning of trading today, as the result of the improvement in the New York money situation evidenced by the $24,000,000 gain in the reserves of the banks here. The motor stocks, the steel and equipment stocks, the textiles and a few of the specialties were again the ladders in the forward movement.

A brisk advance of Baldwin Locomotive to 150 in the first period completing a gain of 33 points on the move, has again raised the question in Wall street of a possible "corner" in the stock.

No headache, bad cold, sour stomach or costive bowels by morning

Get a 10-cent box now.

You're bilious! You have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you; and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet, and your head clear for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

"KING" PURNELL CELIBATE 33 YEARS, HE SAYS

House of David Leader Answers Grave Charges.

PLOT, HE CLAIMS

Denies That He Has Hidden at Benton Harbor.

(Editor's Note:—From his bed in the administration building of the House of David, "King" Benjamin Purnell, the head of the Israelites dictated the following exclusive statement to the International News Service and the Detroit Times.)

BY BENJAMIN PURNELL.

(Copyright, 1926, by I. N. S. and the Detroit Times.)

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Nov. 22.—I have lived the life of a celibate ever since I received this most holy faith, which was approximately 33 years ago. Since that time I have followed religiously teh tenets of the faith of which I am the head, and not once in that time have I known a single woman, not even my own beloved wife, Mary Purnell.

The stories of these disgruntled ex-members that I attacked them under the guise of a faithful religious rite are falsehoods. Money, the root of all evil, is behind these charges. It is blackmail pure an simple.

Takes Fling at Prosecutor.

The plot was hatched within the colony years ago by certain parties Thwarted in their ambitions to assume a position of power in the House of David they gathered a few of the weak-minded nit-wits of the colony about them and sowed the seeds of this diabolical plot in their minds.

The result the world now knows.

The remainder of these cohorts swooped down on me with their suits and false, ugly charges, and such a hue and cry was raised in the press of the nation that I knew I could not secure a fair trial then, so I filed four years ago.

The charge I have hidden here in the colony all these four years is untrue. I have been numerous places, the exact locations of which I do not care to reveal now.

Prosecutor George Bookwalter declares that I dare not face Bessie Woodworth in court; that I will exercise all possible legal subterfuges to evade this criminal trial and finally will jump my bonds of $125,000.

This otherwise brilliant young man, who has gone berserk on this one subject, is wrong. I shall demand speedy justice. I shall face Bessie and all my accusers in court as quickly as possible and I certainly shall not fail by bondsmen, respected, prominent business men, whose dealings with me have convinced them of the assininity of these charges.

The allegations that I despoiled these former girl members of the colony by telling them it was a holy, religious rite whereby I gained more strength and they gained an added star in their crown is bosh.

My faith, based on the Holy Scriptures, opposes even a man and wife living together until after they have reached a stage where they are spiritually above the temptations of the flesh.

I have followed this tenent religiously. Since the day my wife, Mary, and I received the vision, we have lived together as a brother and sister. As God is my judge I have known no woman since.

It is written in the Bible that we shall be visited by such persecutions as I am now suffering, just before the judgment day when all but the faithful-elect shall die, and I have been expecting this for years, but I shall be vindicated.

Canton Underworld Figure Appears at Federal Quiz

RUM INQUIRY

Serving Term as Disorderly House Operator.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 22. — Carl Studer, former Canton underworld character who is serving a term in the Ohio state penitentiary as the operator of a disorderly house was scheduled to arrive here at 1:30 p. m. today, and appear immediately before the federal grand jury, in connection with an investigation of the Canton liquor traffic, Federal District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen announced.

Studer was subpoenaed last week, when testimony elicited from other witnesses in the rum probe indicated he might have valuable information for the federal probers.

The bootleg ring which is under investigation is said to include in its roster Studer, Ben Nadel and Dan Pfaff, and numerous others of Canton and Cleveland. The last two named were arrested here on information divulged during an investigation of the concealment of Pat McDermott, under indictment in the Mellett murder case, in Cleveland for several months while police all over the nation sought him.

Just what information Studer is expected to have was not divulged by Bernsteen in anticipation of the returning of indictments by the grand jury.

The ENTERTAINING ANGEL

By SAMUEL MERWIN

SYNOPSIS.

Julian Reed is wandering southern California in his little roadster. He is aimless and amiable. At luncheon in a small restaurant he meets, by chance, a charming, rather wistful young woman. She has missed connections with a troupe of vagabonding actors and he offers, in suite of his natural bashfulness, to drive her to the troupe's next stopping place, La Jolla. She accepts his offer. He tries to "explain" himself. He has money, but is suffering from a bad case of "dual personality.' He is obviously greatly bothered about something, some conflict' within himself. She, like Julian, is from the East. They overtake and pass the trucks bearing the rest of the troupe. As they stop for dinner, the others come in. Julian meets Watt, the chief of the "Wayside Theatre;" Sadie, an ex-chorus girl trouper, and the rest of the cast. Julian comes to the rescue of the troupe financially. Sadie attaches herself to him, frankly captivated by his addness and quaint charm. Sadies tells him of Hester, how she risked everything to try for the leading role in a movie of a play written by one "Robert Johns," failed and joined the troupe as a last resort. Julian and Hester out in the little car after the nights performance find themselves alone on a road by the sea. He tells her how much he liked her acting and how to him she is the embodiment of youth. She tells him of her failures and of how she feels she is now too old to succeed. At the last he kisses her.

CHAPTER SEVEN.

He was awakened by the stage hands. They were cooking their breakfast on a portable stove. It was after eight. When he lifted his head, they smiled at him and offered a cheerful, good morning. The stage manager asked if he wouldn't share their bacon and eggs and coffee. It was pleasant to be accepted as one of the troupe. They treated him with a rather surprising deference.

The fat man was waiting out in front of one of the folding chairs. It seemed unnecessary to waken Mr. Watt, who was always slow to rouse, the stage manager said. Accordingly Reed drove into San Diego without him and paid off the balance due on the car. The man gave him a receipt. When he returned, the others of the troupe had finished breakfast and were packing up. All who saw him greeted him with marked cordiality. All but Hester. So saw her striking her cot behind the woman's tent, and thought she saw him . . certainly she looked in his direction . . . . but she didn't return his shy smile. She looked tired, he thought. Had he dreamed that glowing episode of the silent hour by the sea? It almost seemed so.

He was wiping off his car when Sadie came over.

"Seems to me you and Hester were out pretty late," she remarked, with a sly smile.

She sat on the ground and watched him.

"The beans are spilled," she remarked, after a silence.

He looked down at her puzzled.

"Eevrybody knows this morning."

Still he failed to catch her meaning. His wits were wandering by a vast dim ocean.

"About the money. Hester knows."

"Oh!"

Sadie nodded emphatically. "You see the position it puts her in."

"Why . . . . no. Not exactly."

"Everybody else does. I'm afraid she's pretty mad."

He considered this. It was difficult for him to get down to earth. He had gone through the transaction at the bank while dwelling in an uncertain but golden haze of memory.

"I told you she was funny."

A slow day passed before the truth finally penetrated. When he tried to approach Hester she smiled vaguely, mournfully even, but walked away. Always she was with one or another group. Sadie and the actor named Lester rode into San Diego with him. They and the others made much of him. Mr. Watt sought him out during the afternoon and talked with a lingering and splendid relish of the good old days when there was an art of the theater.

By the next day it was plain even to his unsuspecting mind that Hester had turned flatly against him. In the afternoon Sadie rode alone with him around the rim of the splendid harbor and past the city of cottages and camps to Coronado Beach. He didn't know quite how it worked out that way. Certainly he didn't ask her. But there she was, at leaving time, by his car. He wasn't sorry, however, to have her along. His own thoughts were difficult company. And Sadie's almost boyish sympathy warmed his heart. She snuggled by his side and chattered along like the friendly little gamin she was.

They had nearly reached the hotel when she broke out with:

"Has she spoken to you at all, Julian?"

Mournfully he shook his head.

"Hmm! That's what the boys were saying."

"You don't mean to say that they . . . . ."

"Oh, they talk. They would. No harm in that. Everybody's wondering what happened on that ride."

He was silent.

"I can't make her out myself. I told you she was funny. Even if you have fallen for her pretty hard, you've been so wonderful about things . . . . Listen, has Murry Watt given you that note?"

He shook his head again. "But that's all right."

"All right? My God, do you know how much that man owes?"

"No, but . . . ."

"Say, doesn't money mean ANYTHING to you?"

"Why, of course, but . . . you see, money isn't . . . ."

"Stop the car here. I want to look at the ocean. Wonderful, isn't it! See all the girls on the beach. One thing, don't worry about one-piece bathing suits out here. All the crowd will be going in before dinner. Want to come along?"

"I don't think so. I rather think I'll go away for a few days."

"Oh, I wouldn't do that.'

"Well, I've been working out a plan. There may be something I can do that'll help a little."

"Help? My God!"

"I don't think you understand. If I've done the wrong thing, at least I can . . . ."

"Listen!" she said, sliding her arm through his. "This thing hit you pretty quick, didn't it?"

INSIST UPON KEMP'S BALSAM for that COUGH!

Conquers Bad Breadth and is Popular Again

"The day I started taking Carter's Little Liver Pills," says Mr. John A. Perry of New York City, "my habitual bad breath and bad stomach stopped. I strongly recommend them to all those afflicted with these nasty troubles I assure you that my own case was a bad one, causing me untold embarrassment, and Carter's helped me right from the start."

Bad breath comes from sour stomach and can usually be relieved quickly by Carter's Little Liver Pills.

They are wonderful for constipation, sick-headache and indigestion and they physic the system in a mild and gentle manner, no bad after effects.

Recommended and for sale by all drug stores.

ALWAYS DEAD TIRED?

How sad! Sallow complexion, coated tongue, poor appetite, bad breath, pimply skin and always tired. What's wrong? You are poisoned. The bowels are clogged and liver inactive. Take this famous prescription used constantly in place of calomel by men and women for 20 years—Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They are harmless yet very effective. A compound of vegetable ingredients and olive oil. They act easily upon the bowels, free the system of poison caused by faulty elimination and tone up liver.

Be beautiful. Have rosy cheeks, clear eyes and youthful energy that make a success of life. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, nightly. Know them by their olive color. 15c., 30c. and 60c.

"GREEN HAT" HOLIDAY SHOW

Ceramic Theatre Books Arlen's Popular Dramatization.

"The Green Hat," Michael Arlen's dramatization of his own sensational novel, will be presented at the Ceramic theatre Thanksgiving Day, matinee and night.

The play progresses through four episodes—from that Deauville morning soon after Boy Fenwick has killed himself rather than face his honeymoon, on ten years later to the night of Gerald March's death and the sweeping of Napier Harpenden and Iris into each other's arms, on through the day nine months later in the nursing home in which Iris has gone close to death in her futile desire for motherhood, and on to the time, still four months later, when on the eve of her going away with Napier she sees her dream of happiness fade and drives her roaring yellow car at 70 miles an hour into the old trysting tree at the turn of the road.

So the wistful and wondering Iris takes her leave of love and of life, and puts an end to seeking and to giving. She trailed the world like a flame, and burnt nothing but her own heart. A great character, this brave and piteous creature, much more alive in the theatre than ever she was in the novel. Four times you glimpse her—forever to remember.

"The Green Hat" has to do with those vagrant creatures which traverse the world, having nowhere to lay their heads save in uneasiness, no paths to tread save to walk on thorns, no ties to hold them save those which chafe the wrists they bind. These are the creatures who make the play, and these are the creatures who make the mystery and much of the enchantment of the world.

"The Green Hat" gives gorgeous opportunity for resplendent acting, and is one thrill after another even when the lights are out, and the hynotized audience gasping with curiosity and anticipation.

You can tell a married man if he's had three drinks. He acts so much more like a single man than a bachelor does.—Youngstown Vindicator.

POMONA GRANGE HOLDS SESSION

New Officers Elected at Meeting Held in Salem Grange Hall.

New officers were elected at the meeting of Pomona Grange held at Salem Grange hall, Saturday afternoon. Six resolutions as presented by the committee on resolutions were adopted, and arrangements were made to have the next meeting at Perry grange hall Saturday, February 19.

The following resolutions were approved:

A dog license law sufficiently large in collection that will insure adequate compensation for all damage done to stock and persons each calander year; and no part of this fund to be paid out for other purposes until a balance has been accumulated approximately to the extent of the value of annual damages. That claims shall be paid within 30 days after adjustment.

Have proper authorities appropriate a fund under the present law from which shall be paid 25-cents per head bounty for all crows killed.

Endorse stand of State Grange in regard to the 2.65 tax levy for school purposes.

Oppose present system of granting divorces for trivial reasons.

Favoring appointment of home demonstration agent.

The meeting was attended by about 200 men and women. The address of welcome was delivered by Frank Vincent, master of Salem grange. Mr. Bactel head of the soils department of the Ohio Experimental Station was the principal speaker during the afternoon session. Circuit Judge L. T. Farr was to have addressed the meeting, but on account of the press of court work was unable to be present. A program of vocal and instrumental music was followed.

UNION SERVICES HERE WEDNESDAY

Lisbon churches will join in a union Thanksgiving service at the Lisbon Methodist Episcopal church next Wednesday evening. The music will be furnished by a massed choir from the Methodist and Christian churches. Special music will be given by the male quartet of the Christian church.

At the Methodist church "Win My Chum Week," will be observed. Ministers from other parts of this and Jefferson county will speak during this series of meetings. The gospel team from Mt. Union college will feature the Friday evening service.

MORRIS HEADS ELKRUN GRANGE

W. L. Morris, former lecturer of the county Pomona grange was elected Master of Elkrun grange at the meeting held last Friday evening.

Other officers elected are: Lecturer, Mrs Iva L. Morris; secretary, Mary Alice Davis; overseerer, Marion Newhouse; chaplain, Adda Hutchinson; treasurer, Ira Neville; pianist, Ola Apple; steward, Will Culler; assistant steward, Glenn Thomas; lady assistant steward, Beth Blair; gate keeper, John Barton; Ceres, Idalene Neville; Flora, Evelyn Armstrong; Pomona, Mary Thomas.

CARS CRASH ON LEETONIA ROAD

Enroute from Sewickley, Pa., to Minerva to visit friends Saturday, Mrs. B. W. Sommerville, residing at Elmhurst Inn., Sewickley, attempted to run around another automobile ahead of her while driving on the brick section of the Lisbon-Leetonia road, and crashed into a car containing two children of Steve Davner, of Fairfield township.

The car in which Mrs. Sommerville and two companions were riding was badly damaged, while the other car was also wrecked, and Anna Davner badly cut about the face.

The Essex car was towed to the Overland-Nold garage at Lisbon, and the occupants continued their journey to Minerva by bus. None of the occupants of the Essex car were injured.

THREE MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED

A marriage license has been issued to George D. Mechlin, of Salem, and Miss Lois Olive Osborne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Osborne.

Jonas Peppel, of Leetonia, and Rose Thoman, residing at Leetonia, but a native of New Castle, Pa., have been granted a marriage license. They were married by the Rev. Beaver of the Reformed church.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 1000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent and then decided it should be sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from C. G. Anderson today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and will do the same for you.

REAL ALL-AMERICAN TEAM

COME ON, FANS! NAME 'EM--- ELEVEN GREATEST STARS

The accompanying telegram speaks for itself, fans. Read it.

Sporting Editor The East Liverpool Review-Tribune:

Am asking you as sporting editor of an enterprising newspaper, to help me choose a real All-American football eleven by joining sporting editors of 500 other papers receiving Central Press service in obtaining from their readers a consensus of popular opinion as to whom should be named on such an eleven. My only part will be to compile the results sent me by each sporting editor at the close of the poll in his territory. Will you and your readers assist me?

NORMAN E. BROWN, Sporting Editor,
Central Press Association.

WANTS TO PRESENT REAL TEAM

In other words, ye intrepid sporting editor, with you help, is going to assist Norman Brown in making the first earnest effort to draft a mythical All-American eleven that will be truly representative of the sentiment of the entire country—not that of an individual or a small group of men.

What do you think of the idea?

Well, the best way to let us know is to burst right out with your opinion by writing down the names of your favorite players in the ballot printed elsewhere on this page and mailing it in to the sporting editor himself.

You have been following the leading players of every section of the country—of Brown, U. of Southern California, Alabama, Northwestern and those of other teams.

From the galaxy of stars developed at all these colleges which men would you name for All-American honors? Which men do you think lead all their rivals at their positions?

All right. Write down their names. And be sure to mail in your selections so that they will reach the Review-Tribune sporting editor's desk by Saturday, Dec. 4.

Here is the way the ballots will be recorded.

Each player will be given a credit of two points for each time his name appears as a first team selection. He will receive one point each time he is mentioned as a second team selection. The points credited to each player mentioned will be totalled at the close of the polls Saturday, Dec. 4, and the sporting editor will use this consensus of opinion in making out the Review-Tribune's All-American eleven. This team will be representative of the sentiment in this section of the country. It will be printed in the Review-Tribune.

The ends receiving the greatest number of points will be placed on the first team. Those rated next in the second team choices, and so on for each position.

WILL CARRY OUT POINT SYSTEM

This representative eleven (or first and second elevens) will then be forwarded to Norman E. Brown. Using each one of these sectional choices as an individual ballot Brown will compile the points scored by each man on the same basis (two points for each time named on the first team and one for each time mentioned as second team choice). The men receiving the greatest number of points in this final tabulation will then be placed on the REAL ALL-AMERICAN eleven and the second team listed opposite it.

There will be no hearsay or guess work in making these selections. There can be no personal bias. The team will be your team—that of the readers of the nation.

Come on with your vote.

And then watch for the announcement of the Review-Tribune's All-American, compiled from your votes and later the Real All-American! TOUCHDOWN, READERS!

Blue Seconds Punch Line and Run Wings For Four Counters

Penalties Amounting to 145 Yards, Coupled With Frequent Changes in Lineup, as Coaches Look Over 1927 Prospects, Keep Score Down.

As was generally expected, East Liverpool high gridders found the going fairly easy at Leetonia Saturday and Coaches Kidder and Cox used practically every reserve man on the roster in running up a 26 to 12 victory.

The game was played at Kelley's park and the weather was unseasonably cold.

Feit and Wildblood, a couple of "comers," started on the wings for the Blue with Allison and Clark at tackles and Wucherer and Walt Smith at guards. Boyd undertook center duties. Skidmore, Mackall, Deidrick and Kirkham formed the backfield quartet.

This outfit punched over the first touchdown of the game in the first period and registered another in the second quarter. At that time Coach Kidder began to make frequent changes in his lineup, with a number of the boys needing quarters for their letters, and the Leetonians managed to sneak over a couple of touchdowns, a forward pass from the 21 to the 11 yard line, a five-yard penalty and a series of line bucks accounting for the first one. The locals were assessed three 15-yard penalties after that one and with the lineup changed about as it was, they gave the home eleven its second score.

In the third period the regulars were back in long enough to start another touchdown march and the Blue tacked on another in the final quarter.

The Blue ran the ends and smashed the Leetonia line almost at will but frequent changes as the local coaches experimented with various plays, formations and players, together with the frequency with which officials penalized the team, kept the score down.

Feit was scathed. Nick Allison, guard, sustained a fractured rib and Todd, center, twisted a knee. Neither will likely be used in the Wellsville game.

Against Leetonia the locals punched the line for 106 yards with Leetonia making 33 by the same method. East Liverpool's end runs netted a total of 139 yards while the Blue wingmen prevented the home eleven from making a single yard with the same tactics.

The locals completed seven out of 14 passes, Leetonia, four out of 13.

They also held the lead in the matter of penalties. The Potters were penalized 11 times for a total distance of 145 yards as compared with Leetonia's 15.

Totals show gains of 523 yards for the Blue and White as against 69 by Leetonia, outside of penalties.

RESUME PLAY IN DUCKPIN LOOP

Hostilities will be resumed tonight in the Business Men's Duckpin league at the Liberty Alleys.

One change marks the circuit as the second week opens. The squad heretofore rolling under the name of the Liberty five will be known from now one as the Chryslers.

Smith News and the Roselawns clash tonight with Turk-Nash, meeting the Bankers tomorrow.

The Chryslers are matched with the Altman Clothiers for Friday.

Laughlin Chinas And Salineville To Battle Again

In the third of a three-game series for gridiron supremacy, the Laughlin Chinas and the Salineville Independents will clash on Thursday afternoon, Thanksgiving day, at Salineville.

Each team has a game to its credit victory Saturday afternoon at Newell.

Chap Finley and Staats were the big guns in the Laughlin offensive, Finley accounting for both touchdowns as well as a brilliant performance in scrimmage throughout the contest.

"Hunk" Dill put up a good exhibition as a member of the visiting eleven.

The Laughlins will practice tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday at their lot near the "gas station." Players are ordered to report tonight at 6 o'clock.

LAFAYETTE BACK LEADS IN EAST

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Mike Wilson, of Lafayette, apparently has won the individual scoring honors in eastern football with 120 points. Williams, of the Connecticut Aggies, is second with 90 and Harry Wilson, of the Army, is third with 80.

Other league leaders: Lane, Dartmouth, 75; Weston, Boston college, 72; Strong, N. Y. U., 66; Madden, Columbia, 64; Carr, Syracuse, 59; Shaughnessy, Colgate, 59, and Connor, N. Y. U., 58.

JOESTING LEADS BIG TEN SCORERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Herb Joesting, Minnesota's slashing fullback, was found at the top of the pack of Big Ten scoring faces when the final curtainof the 1926 conference season was rung down.

Joesting scored 13 touchdowns for a total of 78 points. Marty Karow, of Ohio State, was runner-up with 11 touchdowns and a total-point score of 66.

The ten high score men finished as follows:

Joesting, Minnesota	13	0	0	78
Karow, Ohio State	11	0	0	66
Nydahl, Minnesota	8	0	11	59
Gustafson, Northwest'n	9	0	1	55

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Making good approach shots is, I should say, by far the most difficult part of golf to master. The difference between good golfers and bad ones is invariably a difference between expert approaching and lack of approaching ability. The common saying that golf games are won or lost on the putting greens does not square with the facts, in my opinion. I think they are won or lost by approaching, since most good players are good putters. This is the department of the game on which the player should spend time, energy and thought in perfecting himself — approaching. There are various approaching strokes with which the player should be familiar. They make the finest kind of practice, too, for the off season, as well as providing interesting exercise. articles.

ARMY'S FUMBLES BIGGEST FAULT

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Coach Biff Jones today said that all the Army team needed in preparation for the Navy game in Chicago next Saturday was a brisk workout. The eleven got just that in its game with Ursinus last Saturday, so everybody's pleased, and today the final few days of practice got under way.

One thing the cadets must learn this week before meeting the midshipmen, and that is to hold onto the ball a little more tightly. In last Saturday's game there probably would have been two more touchdowns against Ursinus if it hadn't been for the Army's tendency to fumble. Once Murrell lost the ball on the five yard line, and another time Hewitt fumbled with a score in sight.

That's a fault that must be corrected if the Army is to win, and Coach Jones started on his corrective process today when the squad went out for practice.

SEVEN IN RACE FOR GRID TITLE

Four Stand Out Because of Superior Opposition.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—If you hail from South Bend, you are convinced today that Notre Dame is entitled to national honors in college football. If Palo Alto collects your taxes, Stanford, winner of the coast title without a defeat, gets your vote. If dear old Tuscaloosa harbors the old homestead, you won't be able to see how Alabama can go wrong and, if it be Annapolis, Providence, Easton or Boston, you will nominate respectively the Navy, Brown, Lafayette and Boston college.

Anyhow, as the field straightened out today for the run through the stretch, these seven outfits remained unbeaten in the national sweepstakes.

Off-hand, the writer would say that possibly four of them are entitled to preferred consideration because of the fact that they have done something of a competitive steeplechase while the others have been running on the flat. It may be that this though will prompt Brown, Lafayette and Boston college to believe that I have a frayed cuff in the family closet but, so far as I know, I was not dropped on my head at an early age, or any other, by a careless nurse maid.

New York Loses First.

As far as that goes, the seven of them may harbor full many a fallen arch, in which case it might be equally possible that one of the obscure teams—St. Mary's, of California, and Loyola, of New Orleans—or one of the big timers who slipped once—Michigan and Northwestern, co-winners of the Big Ten title, or possibly Southern California, Ohio State or Nebraska—is actually the superior eleven of the day and hour.

Nebrasko dropped New York University on Saturday from the list of the undefeated, 15 to 7, a fumble saving N. Y. U. from a shutout. Holy Cross fell for the first time, too, and while it was about the matter, it was thorough. It lost to Boston University, [illegible] the latter's second victory in eight starts.

Meantime, the Navy was beating Loyola, of Baltimore, 35 to 13, after the latter had scored all of its points in the first period against the Middie substitutes; Lafayette was winning a 35 to 0 decision over Lehigh, Boston College was beating Gettysburg, 39 to 0. Brown was running over New Hampshire, 40 to 12, the dove-tailing Notre Dame varsities were beating Drake, 21 to 0, after being held to six points for three periods, and Stanford was making human hamburger of California, 41 to 6. Alabama did not play, which undoubtedly was somebody's good luck.

Stiff Opposition.

So much for the big seven. Having taken a wild swing at their particular situation, the writer will follow it up with a straight left, to wit: Notre Dame has played and beaten Minnesota, Penn State, Northwestern, Georgia Tech, Indiana, the Army and Drake, for a loss of only seven points. The Navy has beaten Purdue, Princeton, Colgate, Michigan and Georgetown. Alabama has won from the best in its section, including Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech, Sewanee, Louisiana State, Kentucky and Florida. Stanford's victims are Nevada, Oregon, Southern California, Santa Clara, Washington and California.

Contrast that kind of opposition with the Boston college schedule, which includes Catholic University, Fordham, St. Louis, West Virginia Wesleyan, Villanova, Gettysburg and Haskel. The Indians were the best of a poor lot and got a 21-21 tie.

Hail Lafayette.

Some of the boys in the back room are hailing Lafayette as the team of the season. Maybe it is but the point I make is that it didn't have to prove it against such as Muhlenberg, Schylkill, Dickinson, Albright and Rutgers. The only good ones, Pittsburgh and W. and J., are not the hottest on record, either.

Brown has built its reputation on the fact that it beat Yale, Dartmouth and Harvard. This may be hard to do but, somehow or other, I can't seem to realize it. However, if Brown beats Colgate, there will be nothing for it but to rally right around and cheer the boys to the well known echo. This will be the show-down game for Brown.

The defeats of Michigan and Northwestern by the Navy and Notre Dame, respectively, depreciate the Big Ten's right to name a national contender. It hasn't even a definite champion. Michigan, winning its second in a row by the margin of exactly one point and one fumble each, beat Minnesota, 7 to 6, and finished in a tie with Northwestern, which encountered unexpected opposition from Iowa but won, 13 to 6. Ohio State clinched third place by a one-point decision over Illinois, 7 to 6, while Chicago lost to Wisconsin, 14 to 7, and failed to win a conference game, which may or may not be a Maroon record.

South Gets "Breather."

The south drew something of a sectional "breather" but the valley conference was quite active. In spite of the fact that Nebraska and Oklahoma were occupied elsewhere, Missouri and Kansas Aggies winning from Kansas and Iowa State respectively.

Fitting closely over the face, a rubber mask that can be filled with water is intended to overcome pain from neuralgia.

NAVY TOUCHES UP FOR CADET JOUST

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 22.—The Navy football team today began the final touching up for the annual service classic next Saturday, when they meet the Army team in Chicago.

Coach Bill Ingram announced that at the moment it looked as if Schuber would start in the backfield instead of Goudge, who played quarterback against Michigan successfully and who had first call on the place until he was injured in the Georgetown game.

This, with the placing of Osburn at centre instead of Hoener, are so far the only changes from the line up which faced Michigan.

BIRTHDAY PARTY AFTER GRID GAME

Ralph Springer, fullback of the Chester Junior high school team, was honor guest at a banquet held by the team and a number of its followers Saturday night in the Parkersburg "Y" following the contest. Springer Saturday celebrated his 16th birthday and helped eat the big cake that had been baked especially for the party.

Among those who attended the party were Mrs. Edith Geon and daughter, Beth; Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Rembert; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jackson and daughter, Bessie Jane; Miss Etta Wedgewood, Miss Maxine Bloore, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, Earl Milby, Knowles Hobbs, and Misses Mildred Young and Ruth Hobbs, students at Ohio U., at Athens, who made the trip to Parkersburg to see the game.

Acmes Meet Tuesday.

The following Acme basketball players are requested to meet at the home of Martin Dyer, Edgewood avenue, Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock for a reorganization: Mackey, Manypenny, Kinney, Carey, Dyer, Todd, Canne and William Bowers.

Salem Wins Another.

Salem high school gridders kept their season's record clean Saturday by trouncing East Palestine, 19 to 0, at East Palestine.

JUNIOR ELEVEN IS BEATEN, 14-0

Chester Kids Put Up Game Fight at Parkersburg.

Outweighed at a rate of approximately 30 to 40 pounds to the man Chester's Junior High school football team went down to defeat in a game fight Saturday afternoon at Parkersburg, 13 to 0. The Hancock countians partially overcame the weight advantage by a smarter brand of football that won comment from home fans and coaches alike, but were unable to score.

The Parkersburg eleven scored their first touchdown in the early part of the second period when, in a series of line plays, they advanced the ball to the Chester five-yard line and Fullback Bosley crashed over the goal line.

The second counter came in the third period when, after another advance from mid-field by line plunges, Benedum pushed the ball to the Chester two yard line, where he took it over by a quarterback sneak. Grow kicked for extra point. Several times the Chester eleven advanced the ball to within striking distance, by means of forward passing and offtackle plays, but at the critical time were stopped by the fighting Junior high's.

Johnson and Brown on the Chester terminals and Springer, captain and fullback, were outstanding stars for the visiting eleven, both on defense and offense. Their teammates showed splendid teamwork, and fought to the end, trying to turn defeat into victory, having not lost a game in three years. This was the first time they were scored on during the present season.

Bosley and Benedum of the Juniors carried the bulk of the offense, while they were also exceptionally good on defense work.

The visiting eleven, with their small band of rooters won the respect of local fans by their splendid exhibition. Parkersburg made advances at will through the Chester line, experiencing no difficulty at any stage.

He inclined his head.

"Well," she mused, "I don't know why not. It's as natural as the slow way. I can't help wondering where you've been all this while, though. Living in a vacuum tube?"

"Why, yes. Just about that, I'm afraid.'

"But if you go away now . . . you see, there's one thing you have certainly done. You've stirred her up. I don't believe anybody else had done that to her for years. You don't know Hester. She never runs around at night. You could have knocked me down with a hare's foot the other night when I realized she was staying out with you. It's the first time she's done such a thing since she's been with this troupe. Why, she doesn't even join in when we dance. Just sits alone and writes letters to her folks and reads books. I tell you, she's a funny one. Now, you listen to Auntie! The thing for you to do is to stick around. She's upset now. And she's moody, awful moody. Give her a little time, but be sure you're on hand when she comes around. She will, believe me. She knows well enough . . . as she will when she comes to her senses . . That you're no John."

He didn't know what a "John" was. "I'll be back,' he said, and she felt determination in him, "but I've got to make the effort." And he added forlornly, "if it's only to square up for what I did."

"Seems to me you're taking it too seriously, Julian. Let me tell you something you don't seem to know. Girls don't like lame puppies around. Not too much of that sort of thing. They like to be managed. There's a little bit of truth in this sheik and cave man stuff. Oh, there is! Tell me, have you really tried to get at her and make her see straight?"

"I dont know that I have. How could I? The way she looks at me and dodges away."

"Oh, slush!" observed Sadies, thoughtfully.

"No, I'm going tonight."

"Where to?"

"Well . . . Hollywood. But I don't want these people to know."

" I won't tell 'em. You know people in Hollywood?"

"Why, no. That is, not exactly. In a way. At least I've thought of something I might be able to do. If it doesn't work, at least I shall have tried."

"Well, if you won't take my advice and work right on the ground . . ."

"I tell you I can't . . ."

"What are you going to do? Drive all night?"

He nodded. "Might as well. I can't sleep."

"Hmm!" She was thinking. "You'd be easier to manage if you had a little knowledge of women."

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches rub on good old Musterole.

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister

First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

How to Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days

If You Don't Do It, Get Your Money Back.

Ask any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

It's the new pleasant way to take nasty Cod Liver Oil and will not upset the most delicate stomach.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good, healthy, solid flesh, and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often taken on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact Mathews Med. Store and all druggists are authorized to return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days.

One thin woman gained 15 pounds in six weeks.

Insist on McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets— 60 cents.

EAST END

C. E. SOCIETY MEMBERS MEET

Harold W. King, of Warren, state Christian Endeavor society worker, spoke yesterday afternoon at a conference for young people in the Second Presbyterian church. He also had charge of the young people's meeting in the evening.

Church orchestra under the direction of J. S. Noah gave selections at the night services.

MIDLAND CHURCH MEET PLANNED

Union services in observance of Thanksgiving day will be held Wednesday evening in the Midland Presbyterian church. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. W. J. Law, pastor of the Midland Methodist Episcopal church.

Special musical program has been arranged including selections by a quartet.

Midland High Wins.

Midland high school football team defeated Beaver high Saturday in a game at Midland. The Steel City gridders had little trouble in downing the county seat aggregation.

Dr. Burnside Speaks Here.

Dr. R. W. Burnside, secretary of the board on ministerial relief, filled the pulpit of the Second United Presbyterian church. Mrs. J. O Sands of Pittsburgh, spoke at the thank offering services of the missionary societies at the morning services.

Lodge Meeting Listed.

Members of Eureka circle No. 86, Protected Home Circle, will meet tomorrow night in the Hill building, Mulberry street. Routine business will be transacted.

Quarterly Conference Held.

Dr. J. S. Powell, of Steubenville, district superintendent, conducted quarterly conference and spoke yesterday morning in the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church.

recruited with youths who, full of liquor or dope, look upon killing as a mere incident. They go in primarily for automatics, but in many instances they use machine guns. Liquor wars, in particular, have developed the use of the last mentioned arm.

Armored cars and bullet-proof vests are of the up-to-date equipment of policemen.

Then, too, the police are interested in various new devices that are used in directing or controlling traffic: Automatic lights of which there are a dozen varieties; metal markers to be driven into the pavement that will last for years; new paints for traffic signs on pavements that will survive weeks of heavy travel before it si necessary to repaint them; whistles, sirens, and what not.

TWO SERVICES CLOSE BAPTIST CHURCH MEET

Rev. Mel Morris Concludes Four-week Campaign.

WILL REST HERE

Delegation Will Hear United Presbyterian Evangelist.

Amid enthusiasm at results accomplished and blessings received though with marked regret at the necessity of its conclusion the First Baptist church revival, following a duration of four weeks, was ended last evening. During it many persons experienced conversion and many more reconsecrated themselves to Christian activity.

Rev. Mel Morris, of Greensboro, Md., delivered two outstanding sermons during the day. "The Unpardonable Sin," his evening theme, was heard by a crowd that filled the auditorium and overflow sections of the building. In the morning he spoke on the subject, "Simon Lifted By Satan."

Though he has been physically below par for several days Rev. Mr. Morris did not spare himself in his final message to his hearers. With appealing clarity he indicated the nature of sin that has passed the pale of pardon. Utilizing illustration and logic he held his audience and developed marked conviction that sent several fordward in contrition for prayer.

Because of his inability to travel for a few days the evangelist announced that he would remain in East Liverpool for a brief period resting ere returning to his home to reduce a fractured nose of unknown cause. According, and because advices last week indicated the resignation of the pastor of a Newport, N. J., church, where he had previously agreed to go for the remainder of the year, he postponed the engagement and will devote much of this interim in getting into condition for a series of meetings that he is to begin at the First Baptist church in New Castle, Pa., early next year.

During his stay here Rev. Mr. Morris has been accompanied by Mrs. Morris, who assisted in the personal work of the revival. She will accompany her husband home.

"I appreciate every effort taken in this campaign as well as that earlier in the year when I was here," declared the evangelist at the outset of his Sunday night discourse. Especially do I appreciate the hospitality of Pastor and Mrs. O'Brien and the other members of the congregation, all of whom have done all they can by regular attendance and otherwise in contributing to the success of this series of meetings. I have learned to love you all and shall always remember you in my prayers."

Rev. Mr. Morris spoke glowingly of his appreciation of the East Liverpool Review-Tribune for its accounts of the revival. "Through it I have managed to speak to a larger audience than could be possibly be accommodated in this building," he said. "It serves to convince any skeptic that newspapers do and will co-operate in the dispensation of religious news."

Preceding the night service two adults were administered the rite of baptism by immersion.

The invocations at both services were made by Rev. Mr. O'Brien, who also announced that following the prayer meeting on next Wednesday evening those in attendance would go in a body to the First United Presbyterian church to hear Rev. Dr. Newland, an evangelist, who has just begun a series of meetings for that congregation. "I know Dr. Newland personally," asserted the pastor "and can attest to his ability for the special work that he has undertaken in our neighbor church."

Directed by Harry Chilton, who had charge of the music during the day the choir on Sunday evening sang, "Lead Me Gently Home" with Mrs. Chilton he also sang "Who Can It Be But Jesus."

Called to the platform by Rev. Mr. O'Brien Mrs. Morris was waved a parting salute by the congregation whereupon she was presented a huge chrysanthemum from a large bouquet on the pulpit by the pastor, who also gave similar ones to Mrs. O Brien, Miss Ruth Aley, church and revival organist, "Grandmother" Woods, Mrs. Harry Chilton, Mrs. James Matheny for her husband who is ill and to others who are for the moment in the City hospital.

"All who have appreciated Rev. Mr. Morris and will pray for him raise your hands" shouted Rev. Mr. O'Brien in final action of the revival. Hands everywhere were lifted. "And want him to come back sometime?" he continued. An avalanche of 'Amens' chorused affirmatively.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the Kiln Hands and the women of the D. E. McNicol Pottery plant for floral offerings, also the Rev. Caulk who officiated in our recent sad bereavement.

NEW WAR FILM AT AMERICAN

Tender Love Story in Picture, "Forever After."

They are showing a new type of war picture at the American theatre today, tomorrow and Wednesday, a war picture that isn't all guns and shooting and dying and fighting, a war picture that really traces the drama of a single soul in the march through the peaceful days before the world went wild and his subsequent mad dash into conflict as an escape from the far more dreaded events of peacetime.

It's the sort of a story that's been itching to be filmed for years and First National has done a superb job with it.

"Forever After" is the name of the picture.

This piece is real drama, drama that tears at your heart strings and then kids you into a subtle smile; drama that makes you want to weep and then dries up your tears with a side-splitting laugh.

The story of a young boy in a New England town who loves a girl far too wealthy for him to wed. Through their adolescent school days, extremely well done in the film, and on into the gay adventures of college, they take it for granted they are meant for one another. The boy becomes the hero of his school after a thrilling football game (filmed by the crack University of Southern California eleven) and then graduated, starts to claim his childhood mate.

Here the utter pathos of real life enters when social differences and family ambitions step in to thwart the course of the youngsters' tender love.

Gripping Climax.

Rebuffed, bitter, not with the hokum melodrama that marks so many other war pictures, the boy seeks solace and perhaps an escape from his broken heart in the World war.

From then on the action in "Forever After" rushes through an intriguing plot to a sensational denouement.

Mary Astor is perfectly heavenly in her pale beauty in this picture. Lloyd Hugghes is as convincing a hero as we have seen on the screen in many a month, and the supporting cast boasts of some fine acting from Enlalie Jensen, John S. Polls, Hal Cooley and those lovable character actors, David Torrence and Alec Francis. F. Harmon Weight directed this film version of the stage success by Owen Davis.

Home-made Remedy Stops Cough Quickly

Finest cough medicine you ever used. Family supply easily made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, famous for healing the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Trade Goes Where the Light Glows

YOU can't conduct a prosperous business in a dingy, poorly lighted store. Not in this day of electricity!

The old fashioned merchant who substituted an electric lamp hanging from the ceiling for the kerosene lamp he formerly used, is no further behind the times than the storekeeper who is giving his customers just half enough light.

An abundance of light inspires confidence in your clerks and your goods—it makes buying a pleasure.

Christmas shoppers enjoy buying at a well lighted store.

Store Lighting Experts

This company employs trained store lighting engineers who are ready to advise any merchant who wishes to modernize his store with attractive lighting. This cooperation is available in every city, town and village we serve.
